I. INTRODUCTION

The two Co-Rapporteurs, Mrs Evelyn REGNER (S&D, AT), and Mr Hugues BAYET (S&D, BE), presented a report consisting of 58 amendments (amendments 1-58) to the proposal for a Directive, which was adopted jointly by the Committee on Legal Affairs and the Committee on Economic and Monetary Affairs.

Furthermore, for the vote in the plenary the political groups tabled the following amendments: EFDD eight amendments (amendments 59-61 rev, 62-65, 68), EUL/NGL seven amendments (amendments 71-73, 75-77, 81), S&D five amendments (amendments 82-86) and EPP two amendments (amendments 69 rev, 70 rev).
II. DEBATE

The debate, which took place on 4 July 2017, indicate that MEPs have two differing interpretations of the proposal, seeing it either as a means of fighting tax evasion and avoidance, or simply as the public disclosure of information. Views were divided on the impact of the proposal on fair competition. Published reports by the Enquiry Committees TAXE1 & TAXE2, and the PANA report expected in the near future, clearly influenced the debate.

Mr DOMBROVSKIS, Vice-President of the Commission, stressed that fair taxation was a priority and that the proposal represented an unprecedented move. He called for an agreement on the Directive as soon as possible.

The Co-Rapporteur for the ECON Committee, Mr Hugues BAYET (S&D, BE), considered the vote crucial, as it would lead to introducing country-by-country reporting and allow for individual Member States to decide on the applicable sanctions. He also stressed that the conditions for obtaining derogations from the obligation to publish information were strict. He strongly opposed the idea that the proposal would lead to EU multinationals being put at a disadvantage, as the scope of the measure encompasses multinationals worldwide.

The Co-Rapporteur for the JURI Committee, Mrs Evelyn REGNER (S&D, AT) stressed that the proposal was about both ensuring fair competition, and the right for citizens to know where taxes were paid, thus requiring worldwide reporting.

On behalf of the DEVE Committee, Mrs Elly SCHLEIN (S&D, IT) spoke against any restrictions (the safeguard clause) and considered that even retroactive publication was not enough.

On behalf of the EPP group, Mr Dariusz ROSATI (EPP, PL) supported the Commission proposal, but considered that EU legislation should be consistent with international standards.

Speakers of the S&D, the ALDE and the EFDD political groups, Mrs Pervenche BERÈS (S&D, FR), Mr Ramon TREMOSA I BALCELLS (ALDE, ES) and Mrs Laura FERRARA (EFDD, IT) strongly supported the report and welcomed the country-by-country reporting.
On behalf of the EUL/NGL group, Mr Miguel VIEGAS (EUL/NGL, PT) opposed the threshold of 750 million EUR, preferring 40 million EUR instead.

On behalf of the Greens/EFA group, Mr Ernest URTASUN (Greens/EFA, ES) opposed the safeguard clause and called upon the adoption of AMD 84-86 to limit its effects.

On behalf of the ENF group, Mr Bernard MONOT (ENF, FR) welcomed the proposal and the country-by-country reporting, but considered that it led to asymmetry for EU businesses and that therefore, publication should be limited.

On behalf of the NI, Mr Lampros FOUNTOULIS (NI, GR) considered that what was needed was a fair tax system; too much pressure is put on SMEs.

III. VOTE

When it voted on 4 July 2017, the Parliament adopted the following amendments, the text of which is annexed to this note: amendments 1-7, 8 (1st part), 9-44, 47-48, 50-58, 65, 69 rev, 70 rev, 82, 83.

Amongst the amendments adopted is amendment 65 (374 votes in favour and 320 against) which foresees the inclusion of "details of public subsidies received and any donations made to politicians, political organisations or political foundations". The amendments 69 rev and 70 rev on the derogations from disclosure were accepted with a solid majority (346 in favour and 211 against). By contrast, the part of the Report proclaiming a failure of the OECD Action Plan on Base Erosion and Profit Shifting (amendment 8) was rejected (326 in favour, 367 against).

At the end of the vote, the proposal was referred back to the Committees, pursuant to Rule 59(4)(4) of the European Parliament's Rules of Procedure, thereby not bringing the Parliament's first reading to a close and opening the negotiations with the Council.

Amendment

(-1) Equality of tax treatment for all, and in particular for all undertakings, is a sine qua non for the single market. A coordinated and harmonised approach to the implementation of national tax systems is vital for the proper functioning of the single market, and would contribute to preventing tax avoidance and profit shifting.

Amendment

(-1a) Tax avoidance and tax evasion, along with profit-shifting schemes, have deprived governments and populations of the resources necessary to, among other things, ensure that there is universal free access to public education and health services and state social services, and have deprived states of the possibility of ensuring a supply of affordable housing and public transport, and of building infrastructure that is essential in order to achieve social development and economic growth. In short, such schemes have been a factor of injustice, inequality and economic, social and territorial divergences.

Amendment 4

Recital 1

Text proposed by the Commission

(1) In recent years, the challenge posed by corporate income tax avoidance has increased considerably and has become a major focus of concern within the Union and globally. The European Council in its conclusions of 18 December 2014 acknowledged the urgent need to advance efforts in the fight against tax avoidance both at global and Union level. The Commission in its communications entitled ‘Commission Work Programme 2016 - No time for business as usual’ and ‘Commission Work Programme 2015 - A New Start’ identified as a priority the need to move to a system whereby the country in which profits are generated is also the country of taxation. The Commission also identified as a priority the need to respond to our societies’ call for fairness and tax transparency. The country in which profits are generated is also the country of taxation. The Commission also identified as a priority the need to respond to European citizens’ call for transparency and the need to act as a reference model for other countries. It is essential that transparency takes into account reciprocity between competitors.

(2) The European Parliament in its resolution of 16 December 2015 on bringing transparency, coordination and convergence to corporate tax policies in the Union acknowledged that increased transparency in the area of corporate taxation can improve tax collection, make the work of tax authorities more efficient and ensure increased public trust and confidence in tax systems and governments.

Amendment

(2) The European Parliament in its resolution of 16 December 2015 on bringing transparency, coordination and convergence to corporate tax policies in the Union acknowledged that increased transparency, cooperation and convergence in the area of corporate taxation policy in the Union can improve tax collection, make the work of tax authorities more efficient, support policy-makers in assessing the current taxation system to develop future legislation, ensure increased public trust and confidence in tax systems and governments and improve investment decision-making based on more accurate risk profiles of companies.

Recital 2 a (new)
Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(2a) Public country-by-country reporting is an efficient and appropriate tool to increase transparency in relation to the activities of multinational enterprises, and to enable the public to assess the impact of those activities on the real economy. It will also improve shareholders’ ability to properly evaluate the risks taken by companies, lead to investment strategies based on accurate information and enhance the ability of decision-makers to assess the efficiency and the impact of national legislations.

Amendment 7

Recital 2 b (new)

Amendment

(2b) Country-by-country reporting will also have a positive impact on employees' rights to information and consultation as provided for in Directive 2002/14/EC and, by increasing knowledge on companies’ activities, on the quality of engaged dialogue within companies.

Amendment 8
Proposal for a directive
Recital 4

Amendment

(4) Calling for a globally fair and modern international tax system in November 2015, the G20 endorsed the OECD ‘Action Plan on Base Erosion and Profit Shifting’ (BEPS) which aimed at providing governments with clear international solutions to address the gaps and mismatches in existing rules which allow corporate profits to shift to locations of no or low taxation, where no real value creation may take place. In particular, BEPS Action 13 introduces a country-by-country reporting by certain multinational undertakings to national tax authorities on a confidential basis. On 27 January 2016, the Commission adopted the ‘Anti-Tax Avoidance Package’. One of the objectives of that package is to transpose into Union law, the BEPS Action 13 by amending Council Directive 2011/16/EU\(^\text{20}\). However, taxing profits where the value is created requires a more comprehensive approach to country-by-country reporting that is based on public reporting.

Amendment

(4d) Since the fight against tax evasion, tax avoidance and aggressive tax planning can only be successful with joint action on international level, it is imperative that the Union, while continuing to be a global leader in this struggle, coordinate its actions with international actors, for instance within the OECD framework. Unilateral actions, even if very ambitious, do not have a real chance of being successful, and, in addition, such actions put at risk the competitiveness of European companies and harm the Union’s investment climate.

Amendment 13
Proposal for a directive
Recital 4 e (new)
More transparency in financial disclosure results in a win-win situation as tax administrations will be more efficient, civil society more involved, employees better informed, and investors less risk-averse. In addition, undertakings will benefit from better relations with stakeholders, resulting in more stability, along with easier access to finance due to a clearer risk profile and an enhanced reputation.

Recital 5

(4e) More transparency in financial disclosure results in a win-win situation as tax administrations will be more efficient, civil society more involved, employees better informed, and investors less risk-averse. In addition, undertakings will benefit from better relations with stakeholders, resulting in more stability, along with easier access to finance due to a clearer risk profile and an enhanced reputation.

(5) Enhanced public scrutiny of corporate income taxes borne by multinational undertakings carrying out activities in the Union is an essential element to further foster corporate responsibility, to contribute to the welfare through taxes, to promote fairer tax competition within the Union through a better informed public debate and to restore public trust in the fairness of the national tax systems. Such public scrutiny can be achieved by means of a report on income tax information, irrespective of where the ultimate parent undertaking of the multinational group is established.

(5) In addition to the increased transparency created by country-by-country reporting to national tax authorities, enhanced public scrutiny of corporate income taxes borne by multinational undertakings carrying out activities in the Union is an essential element to promote corporate accountability, and to further foster corporate social responsibility, to contribute to the welfare through taxes, to promote fairer tax competition within the Union through a better informed public debate, and to restore public trust in the fairness of the national tax systems. Such public scrutiny can be achieved by means of a report on income tax information, irrespective of where the ultimate parent undertaking of the multinational group is established. Public scrutiny, however, has to be conducted without harming the investment climate in the Union or the competitiveness of Union companies, especially SMEs as defined in this Directive and mid-cap companies as defined in Regulation (EU) 2015/1017, which should be excluded from the reporting obligation established under this Directive.

Amendment 15
Proposal for a directive
Recital 5 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

(5a) The Commission has defined corporate social responsibility (CSR) as the responsibility of enterprises for their impact on society. CSR should be company led. Public authorities can play a supporting role through a smart mix of voluntary policy measures and, where necessary, complementary regulation. Companies can become socially responsible either by following the law or by integrating social, environmental, ethical, consumer or human rights concerns into their business strategy and operations, or both.

(6) The public should be able to scrutinise all the activities of a group when the group has certain establishments within and outside the Union. Groups with activities within the Union only through subsidiary undertakings or branches, subsidiaries and branches should publish and make accessible the report of the ultimate parent undertaking. However for reasons of proportionality and effectiveness, the obligation to publish and make accessible the report should be limited to medium-sized or large subsidiaries established in the Union, or branches of a comparable size opened in a Member State. The scope of Directive 2013/34/EU should therefore be extended accordingly to branches opened in a Member State by an undertaking which is established outside the Union.

establishments within the Union should comply with the Union principles of tax good governance. Multinational undertakings are operating worldwide and their corporate behaviour has a substantial impact on developing countries. Providing their citizens access to corporate country-by-country information would allow them and tax administrations in their countries to monitor, assess and hold those companies to account. By making the information public for each tax jurisdiction where the multinational undertaking is operating, the Union would increase its policy coherence for development and limit potential tax avoidance schemes in countries where domestic resources mobilization has been identified as a key component of the Union development policy.

This list should be drawn up on the basis of certain criteria, identified on the basis of Annex 1 of the Communication from the Commission to the European Parliament and Council on an External Strategy for Effective Taxation (COM(2016) 24 final). It is of particular importance that the Commission carry out appropriate consultations during its preparatory work, including at expert level, and that those consultations be conducted in accordance with the principles laid down in the Interinstitutional Agreement on Better Law-Making as approved by the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission and pending formal signature. In particular, to ensure equal participation in the preparation of delegated acts, the European Parliament and the Council receive all documents at the same time as Member States' experts, and their experts systematically have access to meetings of Commission expert groups dealing with the preparation of delegated acts.
