NOTE

Prev. doc.:	11533/11 PI 68 COUR 32
Subject:	Draft agreement on a Unified Patent Court and draft Statute - Revised Presidency text

Following the discussions with Member States, the Polish Presidency has prepared a first set of amendments to the Draft Agreement on a Unified Patent Court and draft Statute¹ (herein referred to as the Draft Agreement) covering up to Article 14d. The aim of this note is to explain the suggested changes and the envisaged way ahead.

On 14 June 2011, the Hungarian Presidency presented to the Mertens Group a modified Draft Agreement which confers exclusive jurisdiction upon a court common to the Member States in the field of European Patent and European Patent with unitary effect. This modified Draft Agreement was based on the previous draft agreement on the European and Community Patent Court and necessary amendments have been made to ensure compliance with the EU Treaties in response to the opinion 1/09 of the Court of Justice of the European Union (CJEU). It also included adaptations to the text in light of the December 2009 Council conclusions².

The main changes, which were proposed to ensure compliance with the EU Treaties as set out in the opinion of the CJEU were the limitation of participation in the draft agreement to EU Member States (thus excluding the participation of third states as well as the EU) and the strengthening of the obligation of the Unified Patent Court to comply with EU law and request preliminary rulings, if necessary, including through the introduction of sanctions. The removal from the draft of the EU and non-EU states as possible contracting parties fundamentally changed the nature of the Draft Agreement, the aim of which is to establish not just an international court, but a court common to the Member States. This will represent a new patent jurisdiction which will be an inherent part of the judicial systems of those Member States which are party to the agreement.

This approach had been suggested by the Commission in its non-paper on Creating a Unified Patent Litigation System - Orientation debate¹ of 26 May 2011, which had found wide support at the Competitiveness Council on 30 May 2011. The conformity with the Treaties of the general approach to create a common court of the Member States was also generally confirmed by the Council Legal Service, at the meeting of the Friends of the Presidency Group on the 18 July 2011, with the qualification that the text needs some further changes to ensure full compliance with secondary Union law.

The Polish Presidency organised two Friends of the Presidency Group meetings on 11 and 18 of July – both of them focused on the Draft Agreement. The Presidency presented its preliminary assessment of the questions on the compatibility of the chosen option with the Treaties and the opinion from the CJEU and attempted to group and categorise the questions raised by the delegations so far. The concerns raised by the Member States have been summed up and divided into three types of issues, as follows:

- a) The compatibility of the chosen option with the Treaties in the light of the opinion of the CJEU. The questions posed by Member States concerned two aspects: first, whether the Unified Patent Court is a court common to the Member States and whether the possibility to request preliminary rulings is ensured. Second aspect concerned questions on the liability of Member States for damages incurred due to the infringement of Union law by the Unified Patent Court and the possibility for the Commission to launch infringement proceedings against Member States;
- b) The compatibility of the draft agreement with the existing acquis, in particular the Brussels I Regulation ,
- c) Comments on the agreement as such, i.e. the individual articles and their drafting, e.g. the entry into force clause, the financing of the Unified Patent Court, questions on technical judges etc.

On 20 July, the Polish Presidency reported to COREPER about the progress made up to that date. Taking into consideration the fact that the Commission stated in its non-paper that amendments to the acquis may be necessary - in particular to the Brussels I Regulation - the Presidency and the Member States strongly welcomed assurances by the Commission that an assessment of the aforementioned impact would be made available as soon as possible.

As indicated above, the purpose of this Note is to present the first changes to the draft agreement and to address the questions raised by the Member States. Taking into account the weight attributed to the different issues by the Member States, the changes introduced in the draft try to address the first type of concerns (set out above), in particular the nature of the Unified Patent Court and its place in the European Union's judicial order.

The Unified Patent Court will be a court common to the Contracting Member States and thus part of their judicial systems, with exclusive jurisdiction in respect of European patents with unitary effect and European patents designating one or more Contracting Member States, as detailed in Article 15 of the Draft Agreement with national courts remaining competent for all other actions (Article 15 (2) of the Draft Agreement). The Draft Agreement also states in Article 6 that legally qualified judges who are nationals of the Contracting Member States will comprise the judicial panels at both local and regional divisions of the Court.

It is recalled in the Preamble to the Draft Agreement that the Contracting Member States are operating under the principle of sincere cooperation as set out in Article 4(3) of the TEU and that in fulfilling that obligation they undertake to ensure through the creation of a common court the full application and respect for Union law in their respective territories and the judicial protection of an individual's right under that law. Therefore, just as any national court, the Unified Patent Court must in particular cooperate with the CJEU by relying on the jurisprudence of the CJEU and by requesting preliminary rulings in accordance with Article 267 of the TFEU.

Accordingly, Article 14a titled "Primacy and respect of Union law" provides that Unified Patent Court shall apply the body of Union law in its entirety and respect its primacy. Article 14b of the Draft Agreement refers to Article 267 TFEU as the basis for preliminary rulings requests by the Unified Patent Court in order to ensure the proper application and uniform interpretation of Union law.

It seems crucial to the Presidency to point out that, contrary to the Draft Agreement submitted to the CJEU the legal basis for requesting preliminary rulings is not based directly on the provisions of the agreement, but on Article 267 TFEU. The changes made to the Draft Agreement are aimed at ensuring that the Unified Patent Court will be considered as competent to ask preliminary questions on the basis of Article 267 TFEU. The removal of non-EU States from the Draft Agreement and placement of the Unified Patent Court as a court common only to the Member States brings the Unified Patent Court in line with the CJEU reasoning in the C-337/95 Dior case "...there is no good reason why such a court common to a number of member states, should not be able to submit questions to this Court in the same way as courts or tribunals of those member states."¹

The CJEU also stated the need to ensure judicial protection of an individual's rights under the Union law).¹ In line with that, whenever a national court infringes the obligation of reference falling upon it under art. 267 TFEU an appeal for omission may be filed against the Member State concerned (art.258 and 260 TFEU) and the MS may be held extra-contractually liable (as established in C-224/01 Köbler²). With that in mind and in line with the conditions referred in the above paragraphs the Draft Agreement in Article 14c clearly states that Contracting Member States are jointly and severally liable for damages resulting from an infringement of Union law by the Court of Appeal, in accordance with the Union law concerning non-contractual liability of Member States for damage caused by their national courts breaching Union law. It is further specified that any action seeking compensation for such damage shall be brought against the Contracting Member State where the claimant is domiciled before the competent court of that Contracting Member State. Where the claimant is not domiciled in a Contracting Member State, it may bring such an action against the Contracting Member State where the Court of Appeal has its seat, before the competent court of that Contracting Member State. Where the action is successful, the claimant is entitled to obtain the entire amount of damages from the Member State against which the action was brought. This solution provides the Unified Patent Court with an additional important link with the national judicial system, as it will be the national court of the Contracting Member State deciding on the issue. The proposed changes therefore remove the lacuna that the CJEU found in its opinion 1/09 with regard to the previous solution.³ If the Unified Patent Court were to be in breach of the Union law, that decision could be the subject of infringement proceedings and it could give rise to financial liability on the part of one or more Member States.

Finally, with regard to the responsibility of the Contracting Member States Article 14d of the Draft Agreement has been clarified to indicate that the actions of the Court are directly attributable to each Contracting Member State individually, including for the purposes of Articles 258, 259 and 260 TFEU, and to all Contracting Member States collectively.

² CJEU judgment of 30 September 2003 in the C-224/01 Gerhard Köbler v Republik Österreich, ECR 2003, I-10239

³ CJEU Opinion 1/09, par. 88

Following close consultation with the Council Legal Service and the Commission the Presidency has presented this explanation to the changes which have been introduced in the Draft Agreement with the aim of assuring further compliance with CJEU Opinion 1/09. In particular, the Presidency wants to assure that in setting up a common court the Contracting Member States create a body that is going to make up an inherent part of their judicial orders and thus, as any national court, will be capable of directing requests for preliminary rulings to the CJEU. The Presidency hopes that the presented changes will meet with the Member States' acceptance.

The objective of the Presidency is to find an agreement on these amendments, which are necessary to ensure compliance with the Treaties as interpreted by the CJEU in its opinion as soon as possible. The compatibility of the Draft Agreement with the existing acquis will be addressed once the Commission has given its assessment on this issue. The third type of questions (set out above), i.e. the comments made in respect of policy choices in the Draft Agreement will be dealt with subsequently. The aim is to agree on a consolidated text of the draft agreement as a basis for a political agreement by the end of this year.

DRAFT AGREEMENT ON A UNIFIED PATENT COURT

(10) CONSIDERING that, as any national court, the Unified Patent Court must respect and apply Union law and in collaboration with the Court of Justice of the European Union as guardian of the Union law ensure the correct application and uniform interpretation of Union law; the Unified Patent Court must in particular cooperate with the Court of Justice of the European Union through the proper interpretation of Union law by relying on the jurisprudence of the Court of Justice of the European Union and through requesting preliminary rulings in accordance with Article 267 of the TFEU,

(11) CONSIDERING that the Contracting Member States should, in line with the case law of the Court of Justice of the European Union on non-contractual liability, be liable for damages caused by infringements of Union law by the Unified Patent Court, including omissions to request preliminary rulings from the Court of Justice of the European Union,

(12) CONSIDERING that infringements of Union law by the Unified Patent Court, including the omission to request preliminary rulings from the Court of Justice of the European Union, are directly attributable to the Contracting Member States and therefore, in case of an infringement of Union law by the Unified Patent Court, infringement proceedings shall be available on the basis of Article 258, 259 and 260 of the TFEU against any Contracting Member State [...] to ensure the respect of the primacy and proper application of Union law,

(15) CONSIDERING that this Agreement shall enter into force on [date] or, if earlier, on the first day of the [...] month of the [...]th deposit, provided that the Contracting Member States who will have deposited their instruments of ratification include the three States in which the highest number of European patents was in force in the year preceding the year in which the Diplomatic Conference for the signature of the Agreement takes place, in the territories of those Contracting Member States who deposited the instrument of ratification.

- (1) Where a party has presented reasonably available evidence sufficient to support its claims and has, in substantiating those claims, specified evidence which lies in the control of the opposing party or a third party, the Court may order that party to produce such evidence. - (2) Such measures may include the detailed description, with or without the taking of samples, or the physical seizure of the infringing goods, and, in appropriate cases, the materials and implements used in the production and/or distribution of these goods and the documents relating thereto.
- (2a) The inspection of the premises shall be conducted by a person appointed by the Court in accordance with the Rules of Procedure.

- (4) The measures shall be taken, if necessary without the other party having been heard, in particular where any delay is likely to cause irreparable harm to the proprietor of the patent, or where there is a demonstrable risk of evidence being destroyed.
- (5) Where measures to preserve evidence are adopted without the other party having been heard, the parties affected shall be given notice, without delay and at the latest immediately after the execution of the measures. A review, including a right to be heard, shall take place upon request of the parties affected with a view to deciding, within a reasonable period after the notification of the measures, whether the measures shall be modified, revoked or confirmed.
- (6) The Court shall ensure that the measures to preserve evidence are revoked or otherwise cease to have effect, upon request of the defendant, without prejudice to the damages which may be claimed, if the applicant does not initiate, within a period not exceeding 31 calendar days, proceedings leading to a decision on the merits of the case before the Court.
- (7) Where the measures to preserve evidence are revoked, or where they lapse due to any act or omission by the applicant, or where it is subsequently found that there has been no infringement or threat of infringement of the patent right, the Court may order the applicant, upon request of the defendant, to provide the defendant appropriate compensation for any injury caused by those measures.

- (4) The Court may, in respect of the measures referred to in paragraphs 1 and 3, require the applicant to provide any reasonable evidence in order to satisfy itself with a sufficient degree of certainty that the applicant is the right-holder and that the applicant's right is being infringed, or that such infringement is imminent.

- (1) Without prejudice to any damages due to the injured party by reason of the infringement, and without compensation of any sort, the Court may order, at the request of the applicant, that appropriate measures be taken with regard to goods found to be infringing patent rights and, in appropriate cases, with regard to materials and implements principally used in the creation or manufacture of those goods.
- (2) Such measures shall include:
 - (a) declaration of the fact of infringement;
 - (b) recall from the channels of commerce;

- (c) depriving the product from its infringing property;
 - (d) definitive removal from the channels of commerce; or
 - (e) destruction.
- (3) The Court shall order that those measures be carried out at the expense of the infringer, unless particular reasons are invoked for not doing so.
- (4) In considering a request for corrective measures, the need for proportionality between the seriousness of the infringement and the remedies ordered, the willingness of the party concerned to convert the materials into a non-infringing state, as well as the interests of third parties shall be taken into account.

- (4) To the extent that a patent has been revoked it shall be deemed not to have had, from the outset, in the case of a European patent or a European Patent with unitary effect, the effects specified in Articles 64 and 67 of the European Patent Convention.
- (5) Where the Court, in a final decision, has revoked a patent, either entirely or partly, it shall send a copy of the decision to the European Patent Office and, with respect to a European patent, to the national patent office of any Contracting Member State concerned.

Article 39

Power to order the communication of information

- (1) The Court may, in response to a justified and proportionate request of the plaintiff and in accordance with the Rules of Procedure, order an alleged infringer to inform the plaintiff of:

- (2) The injured party shall, to the extent possible, be restored in the position it would have been in if no infringement had taken place. The infringer shall not benefit from the infringement. However, damages shall not be punitive.
- (3) When the Court sets the damages:
 - (a) it shall take into account all appropriate aspects, such as the negative economic consequences, including lost profits, which the injured party has suffered, any unfair profits made by the infringer and, in appropriate cases, elements other than economic factors, such as the moral prejudice caused to the injured party by the infringement; or
 - (b) as an alternative to (a), it may, in appropriate cases, set the damages as a lump sum on the basis of elements such as at least the amount of the royalties or fees which would have been due if the infringer had requested authorisation to use the patent in question.
- (4) Where the infringer did not knowingly or with reasonable grounds to know engage in infringing activity, the Court may order the recovery of profits or the payment of compensation.

Article 42

Legal costs

- (1) Reasonable and proportionate legal costs and other expenses incurred by the successful party shall, as a general rule, be borne by the unsuccessful party, unless equity requires otherwise.
