Proposal for a

COUNCIL DIRECTIVE

laying down the general arrangements for excise duty (recast)

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

1. CONTEXT OF THE PROPOSAL

• Reasons for and objectives of the proposal

Council Directive 2008/118/EC sets out general arrangements for goods subject to excise duty, with particular emphasis on the production, storage and movement of excise goods between Member States. Council Directive 2008/118/EC has replaced Council Directive 92/12/EEC¹. The main objective of the Directive is to allow the free movement of goods while at the same time ensuring that the correct tax debt is ultimately collected by the Member States,

A REFIT initiative was announced in Annex II of the Commission Work Programme for 2017² at the same time as a REFIT initiative for Directive 92/83/EEC. Therefore a proposal to amend Directive 92/83/EEC will also be presented to the Council along with this proposal.

The Commission carried out an evaluation of Directive 2008/118/EC in the framework of the Commission's REFIT programme and submitted a report to the Council and the European Parliament on the implementation and evaluation of Council Directive 2008/118/EC on 21.4.2017³. The results of the evaluation were largely echoed by Council Conclusions, which were adopted on 5.12.2017⁴.

The Commission report and the Council conclusions reflected a general satisfaction with the functioning of the Excise Movement and Control System (EMCS). However, certain areas of improvement were identified. The main areas highlighted concerned the improvement of the alignment between excise and customs procedures and the partial or full automation of intra-EU movements of excise goods that have been released for consumption.

An external study was carried out in 2017 to prepare for an impact assessment for this proposal. The study and the impact assessment focussed on the same main areas mentioned in the Commission report and the Council conclusions: customs and excise interaction and the automation of intra-EU movements of excise goods released for consumption.

The following additional areas are addressed in the proposal:

- with regard to consignors who carry out an independent economic activity and who wish to dispatch excise goods, released for consumption in one Member State, to persons, in another Member State, not carrying out any independent economic activity: the introduction of the possibility for the consignor to use a tax representative and the deletion of the possibility for the competent authority of the Member State of destination to require a tax representative;
- a common solution for natural partial losses during a movement;
- automation of the exemption certificate and its handling for movements of excise products to consignees exempted from the payment of excise duties;
- a guarantee waiver for energy products moved by pipelines;

² COM(2016) 710 final.

⁴ FISC 271 ECOFIN 957.

The following areas identified in the Commission report or the Council conclusions or in both are not addressed in this proposal:

- The Commission report underlined a need to create a simplified system for the movement of excise goods of low fiscal risk. This was not taken further as there was no consensus between Member States concerning what constituted a low risk movement. The Council conclusions reiterated this concern.
- The Commission report and the Council conclusions highlighted that distance selling of excise products could be improved. This is why a proposal to improve distance selling was held back until the One Stop Shop for VAT for distance selling had been established. It is important that excise arrangements for distance selling should be compatible with VAT arrangements. To this end, later in 2018 the Commission will be studying options for new arrangements for the distance selling of excise goods.
- The Council suggested a further examination of possible distortions of competition caused by variations in the minimum standard requirements or conditions for guarantees of payment of the excise duty required for the authorisation of tax warehouses⁵. These issues were not considered further as there were no clear conclusions from the Council about possible ways forward. The Evaluation of the Directive of 2015 contains a recommendation for Member States to set guarantees at a level which is adequate to cover the excise risk.
- The Council called on the Commission to explore the possibilities for revising the provisions on guidelevels for intended own use of alcohol and tobacco, ensuring that they remain fit for purpose to balance the objectives of public revenues and health protection. The Commission will launch a separate study on the guidelevels.
- The Council mentioned the possibility to create common direct delivery definitions and the working towards a better functioning of provisions on boats and aircrafts. These areas were not raised as a problem by stakeholders during the evaluation studies, or in the open public consultation.

The Directive has been substantially amended several times and further amendments are to be made. The Directive also contains several references to outdated legislation which should be updated at the same time. Consequently the Commission has decided to recast Directive 2008/118/EC in the interest of clarity.

- Consistency with existing policy provisions in the policy area

The proposal follows the existing objectives of Directive 2008/118/EC to ensure the smooth functioning of the internal market and the need to ensure effective taxation.

The proposal is consistent with the other legal acts that define the EU system for harmonised excise duties, i.e. energy products and electricity covered by Directive 2003/96/EC, alcohol and alcoholic beverages covered by Directives 92/83/EEC and 92/84/EEC and manufactured tobacco covered by Directive 2011/64/EU. A proposal to amend Directive 92/83/EC will also be presented to the European Parliament and Council along with this proposal.

⁵ A tax warehouse is a location where excise goods can be manufactured, processed and stored without paying excise duty until the goods are removed from the location.

Due to the extension of the EMCS to the movements of excise goods to other Member States after their release for consumption by this proposal, changes are to be made in other legal acts:

- Decision n° 1152/1993/EC on computerising the movement and surveillance of excisable products needs to include intra-EU movements of excise goods released for consumption. This decision currently only allows for the computerisation of movements during which the excise duties are suspended. A recast of the Decision is proposed due to the great number of modifications.
- The new procedures for intra-EU movements of excise goods released for consumption require the registration of consignors and consignees making use of these procedures in the central and national registers of economic operators. Registration currently only applies to economic operators who make use of the arrangements in Chapters III and IV of Directive 2008/118/EC. This proposal requires an amendment of Council Regulation (EU) n° 389/2012 on administrative cooperation.
- Consistency with other Union policies

The proposal is linked to Regulation (EU) n° 952/2013 on the Union Customs Code and its delegated act (Regulations (EU) n° 2446/2015) in order to ensure the synchronisation of customs and excise provisions. The proposal replaces obsolete references to customs legal provisions and terminology with the current terms from Regulation (EU) no 952/2013.

Article 189 of Regulation (EU) n° 2446/2015, as amended by Regulation (EU) N° XXX⁶, will enable excise goods, which have Union status, to be placed under the external transit procedure, thereby allowing for the use of external transit for the supervision of excise goods being taken out of the territory of the EU.

2. LEGAL BASIS, SUBSIDIARITY AND PROPORTIONALITY

• Legal basis

The proposal is based on Article 113 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU). This article provides for the Council, acting unanimously in accordance with a special legislative procedure and after consulting the European Parliament and the Economic and Social Committee, to adopt provisions for the harmonisation of Member States' rules in the area of indirect taxation.

• Subsidiarity (for non-exclusive competence)

The objectives of the proposal cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States for the following reasons:

Only a common legal framework providing for synchronisation between excise and customs legislation can secure a potential excise debt and can improve the handling of excise goods at import and export. In the absence of action at EU level Member States will continue to use different rules, which creates confusion to economic operators and increases their costs.

Automation of procedures applied to intra-EU movements of excise goods released for consumption cannot be improved without EU-wide coordination because of the need to share common data and to use common interoperability standards.

This proposal will lead to a uniform application, transparency and simplification for the following exceptional situations:

- Natural losses (e.g. evaporation) during a movement should be treated uniformly in the Member States;
- a common electronic exemption certificate facilitates the use of the certificate;
- a common guarantee waiver for movements of energy products by pipelines facilitates the treatment of such movements throughout the Union, at no additional risk.
- Proportionality

The initiative seeks to keep a balance between the need to facilitate legitimate cross-border trade and the need to ensure that effective controls and monitoring are in place so that the excise debt is collected.

Most of the actions in this initiative aim to reduce regulatory costs for both Member States and economic operators by automation of current paper-based procedures and by defining common rules or by synchronising better excise and customs procedures.

This initiative aims to reduce fraud by a more efficient monitoring of movements of excise goods by automation and by data cross-checks between excise and customs business domains.

- Choice of the instrument

The proposal is a Directive.

3. RESULTS OF EX-POST EVALUATIONS, STAKEHOLDER CONSULTATIONS AND IMPACT ASSESSMENTS

- Ex-post evaluations/fitness checks of existing legislation

A REFIT initiative was announced in Annex II of the Commission Work Programme for 2017⁷. The Commission carried out an evaluation of Directive 2008/118/EC in the framework of the Commission's REFIT programme and submitted a report to the Council and the European Parliament "on the implementation and evaluation of Council Directive 2008/118/EC of 16 December 2008 concerning the general arrangements for excise duty" from 21/04/2017 (COM(2017) 184 final). This report was based on two external studies. The first study, on Chapter V of the Directive (i.e. intra-EU movement for excise goods released for consumption) was published in 2015⁸. The second study, which concentrated on Chapters III and IV of the Directive (i.e. provisions on tax warehousing and electronic control system, for duty suspension procedures), was published in 2016⁹. The results of the evaluation show that Member States' authorities and economic operators are generally satisfied with the functioning of the Directive, but show as well that there are areas for improvement. The results of the evaluation were largely echoed by Council Conclusions, which were adopted on 5.12.2017. The "Study contributing to an Impact Assessment on Council Directive 2008/118/EC concerning the general arrangements for excise duty", which took the results of the evaluation into account, was completed in 2017.

- Stakeholder consultations

The consultation strategy has focused on three main groups of stakeholders: Member States' administrations, economic operators and citizens. The in-depth consultation programme was intended to gain a better understanding of the overall functioning of the mechanisms established by the Directive, the logic underlying the intervention, details of the issues at stake, the number and type of stakeholders involved and their roles, and the Directive's connection to other relevant EU policies. In addition, the objective of the consultation activities was to gather the views of the main stakeholders on a set of possible options for the revision of Directive 200/118/EC.

The main consultation activities that were carried out were:

- An open public consultation conducted to gather the views of citizens, non-government organisations, economic operators and other stakeholders on a set of possible options for the revision of the Directive;
- An economic operators' consultation including a series of interviews, as well as a detailed questionnaire sent to the most relevant stakeholders (e.g. EU customs' trade contact group, Excise Contact Group).
- A written questionnaire for all Member States authorities complemented by a series of interviews to selected Member State, taking into account geography and volume of excise trade. More specifically, this consultation targeted customs, excise and health national authorities.

All consultation activities took place between April and July 2017¹⁰. Further details on the consultations can be found in Annex 2 'Synopsis report' of the impact assessment accompanying this proposal.

- Collection and use of expertise

The results of a study on intra-EU movement for excise goods released for consumption and the results of a study on movements during which the excise duty is suspended were considered in the study contributing to the impact assessment. This study gathered and analysed evidence on costs and benefits to determine the scale of the problems identified in the Commission report to the Council and the European Parliament on the implementation and evaluation of Directive 2008/118/EC. The results of the consultations, carried out in the framework of the study contributing to the impact assessment, were taken up in the study contributing to the impact assessment. Due to the potential impact on public health (but also on tax loss and fraud), some health related questions with regard to the guidelevels used for cross-border purchases of alcohol and tobacco were as well included in the consultation, but in an advanced stage of the external study for the impact assessment. These questions will be examined in a separate study.

- Impact assessment

The impact assessment for the proposal was considered by the Regulatory Scrutiny Board on 24 January 2018. The Board gave a positive opinion to the proposal with recommendations that have been taken on board. The opinion of the Board, the recommendations and an explanation of how they were taken into account are included in Annex 1 of the Staff Working Document accompanying this proposal.

- Regulatory fitness and simplification

Summary of costs and benefits

With the proposed simplifications, mainly via automation or harmonisation of procedures, the following yearly benefits are expected:

- EUR 14.55 million of administrative cost savings for Member States
- EUR 32.27 million of regulatory cost savings for Economic Operators

Some simplifications (e.g. automation of procedures for the intra-EU movement of excise goods released for consumption) are also expected to have a positive impact on the fight against fraud and on SMEs.

The preferred options incur some regulatory costs, mostly due to the evolutions of IT systems and to the registration of Economic Operators for to-be-automated procedures:

- EUR 17.63 million initial one-off costs and EUR 3.89 million yearly recurrent costs for Member States
- EUR 14.5 million initial one-off costs and EUR 4.35 million yearly recurrent costs Economic Operators

4. BUDGETARY IMPLICATIONS

The proposal does not entail any implications for the Union budget.

The budgetary impact of the central development and operation of EMCS will be covered by the FISCALIS budget within the appropriations already foreseen in the official financial programming. No additional resources will be required from the EU budget. Moreover, this initiative does not intend to prejudge the Commission's proposal on the next Multiannual Financial Framework.

5. OTHER ELEMENTS

- Implementation plans and monitoring, evaluation and reporting arrangements

The Committee on Excise Duty, an advisory committee on excise issues in which representatives of all Member States participate, chaired by the Commission, is responsible for the monitoring of the implementation of the computerised system following the Master and Management Plans referred to in Decision [...] /EU¹¹. Council Regulation (EU) No 389/2012 provides for the automatic extraction of data from the computerised system for the generation of reports. Every five years the Commission will prepare a report on the implementation of the Directive

- Explanatory documents (for directives)

No explanatory documents on the transposition of the provisions of this proposal are considered necessary.

Simplification

The recast of Directive 2008/118 EC provides for better alignment of legislation with business needs, while simplifying administrative procedures for public authorities (EU and national) and for economic operators.

¹¹ COM(2018) 341

Repeal of existing legislation

Directive 2008/118/EC will be repealed.

• Explanation of the proposal

The proposed Recast Directive contains improvements as suggested in the report to the Council and the European Parliament and in the conclusions of the Council on the implementation and evaluation of Directive 2008/118/EC.

At the same time it aligns provisions of Directive 2008/118/EC with the evolution of customs and other relevant legislation and to procedural requirements resulting from the Treaty of Lisbon.

The overall structure of the Directive and the elements that are not covered by the following explanation remain the same.

The modifications envisaged can be classified as follows:

3.1. Excise and customs interaction

- Export: a new obligation for the declarant¹², as defined in Article 5(15) of Regulation (EU) n° 952/2013, to provide the competent authorities with the unique administrative reference number (ARC) when the export declaration is lodged. This ensures that an electronic administrative document for excise goods under duty suspension, which presented for export, has been validated and that therefore there is an excise guarantee available for the movement of the goods.
- A new obligation for the competent authorities to ensure consistency between the electronic administrative document and the customs declaration provides significant benefits to the fight against fraud and in securing the excise debt at a relatively low cost for Member States and economic operators.
- Given the high administrative benefits and negligible regulatory costs highlighted by all stakeholders, a common list of documents is proposed, which must be taken into account as evidence of exit for excise goods.
- Allowing the use of the external transit procedure after the export procedure for excise goods: The objective of legal clarity and provision of sufficient guarantees for all exports of excise goods would be fully achieved by allowing external transit after the end of the export procedure for excise goods. These goods lose their Union status when placed under the external transit procedure and will therefore be under customs supervision until the goods are taken out of the customs territory of the Union. This has clear benefits for trade and presents negligible additional enforcement costs. The proposal contains a provision allowing the external transit procedure to take over monitoring and supervision from the computerised system. The fiscal obligations are taken over by the transit principal.
- Import: A new obligation for the declarant to provide the unique excise number¹³ of the consignor and the consignee referred to in Article 19(2) (a) of Regulation (EU) n° 389/2012 to the competent authorities in the Member State of importation responsible for release for free circulation. This should enable the competent authorities to ensure that the evidence for claims for exemption from paying excise duty on import are consistent with the details submitted via the computerised system, when moving excise goods from a place of importation under excise duty. A proof that imported goods will be dispatched from the Member State of importation to another Member State under excise duty suspension should be provided to the competent authorities in the Member State of dispatch, such as the administrative reference code of the electronic administrative document. Given that the details of the alignment between customs and excise procedures at import is a national matter it is proposed that Member States may decide that this information only needs to be submitted on request.

3.2. Intra-EU movements of excise goods released for consumption.

In order to computerise procedures applied to intra-EU movements of excise goods released for consumption that are to be delivered for commercial purposes and in order to do this by extending the existing computerised system the following changes will be made to the Directive:

- determining when excise duty on the goods is chargeable and who is liable to pay the excise duty;
- creating two new economic operator roles, the certified consignor and the certified consignee, to allow for the identification in the computerised system of the economic operators using these procedures;
- aligning the arrangements for guarantees with those under duty suspension;
- allowing authorised warehousekeepers and registered consignors to act as a certified consignors. Authorised warehousekeepers and the registered consignees should be able to act as a certified consignee;
- determining the general rules governing the automated procedure;
- replacing the reference to the paper document accompanying the excise goods released for consumption in one Member State and which are moved to another Member State by a reference to the new electronic simplified administrative accompanying document.
- in order to ensure the proper functioning of the procedures and the computerised system supervising the procedures, the power to adopt delegated and implementing acts in accordance with Articles 290 and 291 TFEU, should be delegated to the Commission in respect of the rules under Article 34.

3.3. Other

To improve the handling of allowable losses under Article 7 common thresholds will be introduced below which no irregularity should be assumed. An empowerment for a delegated act for this purpose will be proposed.

In order to improve the handling of exemption certificates under Article 13 the conferral of an implementing power is proposed to cover the form of the exemption certificate.

Some Member States allow for a guarantee waiver for the movement of energy products by fixed pipelines. Since this type of movement presents a very low fiscal risk and with a view to harmonise the procedures a common guarantee waiver is introduced in the Directive.

In order to assess the costs and benefits of the computerised system a common obligation for Member States to provide information for the preparation of statistics and reports for stakeholders should be introduced.

Detailed explanation of the specific provisions of the proposal

Chapter I: General Provisions

Article 3 – Application of the Union Customs Code to excise goods - provides that the formalities relating to importation or exportation also applies in case where the excise goods are entering or leaving those parts of the territory of Union where this Directive applies from or to an area which is defined as the Customs territory, but where this Directive does not apply. Paragraph 4 is modified by deletions of reference to the "customs suspensive procedure" as this term no longer exists and Articles 15 to 47 do not apply to non-Union goods because they are under custom supervision.

Article 4 – Definitions - provides a number of definitions. First of all, since the term "customs suspensive procedure" no longer exists, the definition is removed. As a consequence in order to align with the customs legislation a definition of "importation" also has to be updated. Moreover two new definitions are introduced: a definition of "certified consignor" and a definition of "certified consignee" in the framework of the computerisation of intra-EU movements of excise goods released for consumption. "Certified consignor" refers to a consignor of excise goods released for consumption in one Member State and moved to another Member State in order to be delivered for commercial purposes. "Certified consignee" refers to a consignee of excise goods released already for consumption in another Member State. The definition of "Member State of destination" is shifted from Article 36 to Article 4 in order to address this term for the whole Directive.

Chapter II: Chargeability, Irregularities during a movement under Duty Suspension, Reimbursement and Remission, Exemption

Section 1: Chargeability, Irregularities during a movement under Duty Suspension

Article 7 – Time and place of chargeability, destruction and irretrievable losses – stipulates the time and the place where excise duty becomes chargeable, at the same time clarifying the meaning of release for consumption. A new paragraph 5 clarifies that partial loss due to the nature of the goods that occurs under duty suspension arrangements will not be considered as a release for consumption where the amount of loss falls below the common partial loss threshold for excise goods. In order to ensure uniform treatment for partial losses throughout the Union the Commission will be empowered to adopt delegated acts concerning the common partial loss thresholds.

Section 3: Exemptions

Article 13 – Exemption certificate – stipulates the content of the exemption certificate used for movements of excise goods under a suspension arrangement to consignees listed in Article 12. Paragraph 2 explains that the exemption certificate provided in this Article may be used by Member States to cover other fields of indirect taxation. In paragraph 3 in order to ensure uniform conditions regarding the form of an exemption certificate and procedures for its use implementing powers are conferred on the Commission.

Article 14 – Excise duty payment exemptions for passengers traveling to third countries – current paragraph 4 is deleted. A transitional period provided in this provision during which Member States were authorised to continue to exempt from excise duty goods supplied by existing tax-free shops situated at their land border with a third country has expired.

Chapter IV: Movement of excise goods under suspension of excise duty

Section 1: General provisions

Article 17 – General provisions for the place of dispatch and of destination of the movement – defines a concept called the 'duty suspension arrangement', and defines the valid starting points for a movement under duty suspension.

In paragraph 1 subparagraph a) a new point (v) is introduced in order to allow the use of the external transit procedure following the export procedure continuing until the exit of the excise goods from the territory of the Union. Therefore the customs office of exit becomes a possible excise destination, where the goods are taken over under the external transit procedure. The customs office of exit will be at the same time the customs office of departure for the external transit procedure.

A new paragraph 2 is introduced to improve alignment between excise and customs import procedures. In order to enable the competent authorities to ensure consistency between the electronic administrative document and the customs declaration at importation, information on the consignor and the consignee and evidence that imported goods will be dispatched from the Member State of importation to another Member State will be provided to the competent authorities in the Member State of dispatch. Member State will have the possibility to require the evidence mentioned above only upon request.

Article 18: Guarantee – provides rules for a guarantee required for the movement under suspension of excise duty. The modification of this Article waives the guarantee for movements of energy products by fixed pipelines in all Member States. Currently already several Member States allow a guarantee waiver for the movement of energy products by fixed pipelines because this type of movement presents a very low fiscal risk.

Article 20 – Beginning and end of movements of excise goods under duty suspension – in paragraph 2 a new letter (iii) is introduced in order to establish the end of the movement where the export procedure is followed by the external transit procedure in accordance with Article 189 of Regulation (EU) 2015/2446.

Section 2: Procedure to be followed for movements of excise goods under suspension of excise duty

Article 21 – Electronic administrative document – Paragraph 5 is moved to the new Article 22 which will cover the handling of the electronic administrative document for goods being exported. Paragraphs 6 will become paragraph 5 with its wording slightly updated in order to clarify that in cases where there is nobody physically accompanying the excise goods (for example, a container being moved by rail or by sea), the consignor will need to provide the unique administrative code (ARC) to the transporter or carrier. The consignor will have the possibility to decide how the ARC will be provided.

Article 22 – Handling of the electronic administrative document for goods being exported – this is a new article which stipulates the rules to be followed when excise goods are to be exported or taken out of the territory of the Union. Paragraph 1 contains the wording of the old Article 21 (5). Paragraph 2 introduces the obligation on the declarant to inform the competent authorities in the Member State of export of the unique administrative reference code which should ensure consistency between the electronic administrative document and the customs declaration at export. Paragraph 3 stipulates that before the release for export of the goods, the competent authorities of the Member State of export should verify whether the data contained in electronic administrative document corresponds to the data from the customs declaration. In case of incoherencies, the information should be passed from the competent authorities of Member State of export to the competent authorities in the Member State of dispatch (paragraph 4). Paragraph 5 specifies that in order to enable the Member State of dispatch to take appropriate action, the competent authority in the Member State of export should inform the competent authority in the Member State of dispatch immediately if the goods are no longer to be taken out of the territory of the Union. At the same time the Member State of dispatch should inform the consignor that the goods are no longer taken out of the territory of the Union.

Article 23 – Special arrangements for movements of energy products – a new paragraph 3 has been introduced in order to exclude export of energy products from the special arrangement for movements of those excise goods.

Article 26 – Formalities at the end of a movement of goods being exported – the modification concerns formalities in the situation where the export procedure is followed by external transit procedure providing that a 'report of export', a proof that the excise movement has ended correctly, has to be completed by the competent authorities of Member State of export on the basis of information received from the customs office of exit which is at the same time the customs office of departure for the external transit procedure.

Article 27 – Unavailability of the computerised system - lays down the procedures to be used when the computerised system is not available in the Member State of dispatch. A new paragraph 6 lays down the rules in the cases of the normal export procedure and in cases where the export procedure is followed by the external transit procedure.

Article 28 – Fallback documents at destination or in cases of export – in paragraph 2 the notification that the goods will no longer be taken out of the Union has been introduced.

Article 29 – Alternative proofs of receipt and evidence of exit – stipulates that alternative proof of the correct ending of a movement must be provided in the absence of the report of receipt or the report of export. In order to align with customs procedures and in order to simplify the recognition of alternative evidence of exit, a new paragraph 4 sets a standard minimum list for alternative evidence of exit which should be taken into account by the Member State of dispatch to determine that the goods have been taken out of the territory of the Union.

Article 30 – Delegation of power and conferral of implementing powers with respect to the documents to be exchanged under duty suspension arrangement – the wording of the provision is modified – in order to ensure that the documents used in the context of the movement of excise goods under a duty suspension arrangement are understandable in all Member States and can be processed by the computerised system, the power to adopt delegated acts should be conferred on the Commission in respect of laying down the structure and content of the electronic administrative documents exchanged through the computerised system and of the paper documents used under Articles 27 and 28 for goods moved under the duty suspension arrangement. In order to ensure uniform conditions for the completion, presentation and submission of documents used for movements of excise goods under a duty suspension arrangement, including when the computerised system is not available, implementing powers should be conferred on the Commission.

Chapter V: Movement and taxation of excise goods after release for consumption

Section 2 Procedures to be followed for movements of excise goods which have been released for consumption in the territory of one Member State and are moved to the territory of another Member State in order to be delivered there for commercial purposes.

Article 34 – General – provides some modifications to the current rules for excise goods which have already been released for consumption in one Member State and are moved for commercial purposes to the territory of another Member State. For the purpose of this Article and in order to avoid uncertainty in interpretation of "holding for commercial purposes" the definition of "holding for commercial purposes" is replaced by the definition of "delivered for commercial purposes". Paragraphs 3 and 4 define when a movement of excise goods to be delivered for commercial purposes shall be deemed to begin and end.

Article 35 – Chargeable event – defines the person responsible for payment of the excise duty and the moment when the excise duty needs to be paid.

Article 36 – Conditions for a movement of excise goods under this Section – a partially new Article provides a base for the use of the computerised system for movements of excise goods that have been released for consumption in one Member State and are moved for commercial purposes to another Member State. It stipulates responsibilities of the economic operators involved in such movements. Aligning with the existing suspension procedures in Chapter IV, paragraph 3 introduces clear rules for a guarantee required for the movement under this Section, the person who has to provide a guarantee and where it is valid. Paragraph 6 and 7 gives a possibility to authorised warehousekeepers or registered consignors to act as certified consignors and authorised warehousekeepers or registered consignees a possibility to act as certified consignees.

Article 37 – Electronic simplified administrative document – provides for rules concerning the submission of an electronic simplified document using the computerised system developed under Decision No 1152/2003/EC. In particular, the Articles provide for the assignment of a unique simplified administrative reference code (SARC) which must be available throughout the movement. Paragraph 5 lays down specific provisions concerning the possibility to change the destination of the movement.

Article 38 – Report of receipt – provides for the use of an electronic 'report of receipt' as proof that the movement has ended correctly and describes the subsequent document flow. The last paragraph allows a remission or reimbursement of excise duty paid in the Member State of dispatch on the basis of a report of receipt.

Article 39 – Fallback and recovery at dispatch – lays down the procedures to be used when the computerised system is not available in the Member State of dispatch.

Article 40 – Fallback and recovery of data - report of receipt – lays down the procedures to be used when the computerised system is not available in the Member State of destination.

Article 41 – Alternative proofs of receipt - stipulates that alternative proof for the delivery of the excise goods in the absence of the report of receipt may be provided.

Article 42 – Derogation for certified consignors and certified consignees from the obligation to use the computerised system – provides the possibility for economic operators dispatching or receiving excise goods (released for consumption) occasionally to use a fallback form of the electronic simplified administrative document. Such permission may be limited to a specific quantity of excise goods, a single movement, a single consignor /consignee or a specific period of time.

Article 43 – Movement of goods released for consumption between two places in the territory of the same Member State via the territory of another Member State – paragraph 1(b) has been deleted due to the automation of movements of excise goods released for consumption. The electronic simplified administrative document will replace a declaration which the consignor currently has to send to the competent authorities of the place of departure.

Article 44 – Delegation of power and conferral of implementing power for the movement of goods to be delivered for commercial purposes – in order to ensure that the documents used in the context of the intra-EU movement of excise released for consumption are understandable in all Member States and can be processed by the computerised system, the power to adopt delegated acts should be conferred on the Commission in respect of laying down the structure and content of the electronic documents exchanged through the computerised system and of the fallback documents used under Articles 39, 40 and 42 for the intra-EU movement of excise goods released for consumption. In order to ensure uniform conditions for the completion, presentation and submission of documents used for intra-EU movements of excise goods released for consumption, including when the computerised system is not available, implementing powers should be conferred on the Commission.

Article 45 – Distance Selling – introduces the choice for the consignor to use a tax representative to comply with the requirements of the Member State where the consignor, who carries out an independent economic activity, wants to move excise goods released for consumption in one Member State to a person not carrying out any independent economic activity in another Member State. The possibility to require the use of a tax representative will be deleted.

Section 4 Destruction and loss

Article 46 – Destruction and loss – a new paragraph 2, in a same way as under duty suspensions, stipulates that in the case of the partial losses of goods resulting from their nature, excise duty should not be chargeable when the amount of loss falls within the common partial loss threshold for those excise goods.

Section 5 Irregularities during the movement of excise goods

Article 47 – Irregularities during the movement of excise goods – in paragraph 3 a joint and several liability for payment of excise duty is introduced.

Chapter VII: Exercise of the delegation and Committee Procedure

Article 52 – Exercise of the delegation – sets the general rules for the delegation of power.

Chapter VIII: Reporting and Transitional and Final provisions

Article 54 – Reporting on the implementation of this Directive – introduces a regular evaluation obligation on the Commission.

Article 55 – Transitional provisions – provides for transitional periods for the application of Articles 33-35 and 22(5).

Article 56 – Transposition – establishes the obligation concerning adoption, publications and communication by Member States of provisions necessary to comply with this Directive.

Article 57 – Repeal – As a consequence of the recast Directive 2008/118/EC is repealed.

Article 58 – Entry into force and application – The Directive enters into force on the twentieth day following that of its publication in the Official Journal. However there are different applications dates for provisions which have substantially changed and for provisions which have not substantially changed.

- (9) In addition to total destruction or irretrievable loss of goods, partial losses may occur due to the nature of the goods. No duty should be charged for those partial losses insofar as they do not exceed the pre-established common partial loss thresholds.
- (10) In order to ensure uniform treatment of partial losses throughout the Union, the power to adopt delegated acts in accordance with Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union should be delegated to the Commission in respect of determining the common partial loss thresholds. - (14) The rules and conditions for the deliveries which are exempt from the payment of excise duty should remain harmonised. For the exempted deliveries to organisations situated in other Member States, use should be made of an exemption certificate.

- (16) The situations in which tax-free sales to travellers leaving the territory of the ~~Community~~ ~~↔~~ Union ~~↔~~ are allowed should be clearly determined with a view to avoiding evasion and abuse. Since persons travelling over land can move more frequently and more freely as compared to persons travelling by boat or aircraft, the risk of non-respect of the duty and tax free import allowances by the traveller and consequently the control burden for the customs authorities is substantially higher in the case of travel over land. It is therefore appropriate to provide that excise duty-free sales at land borders should not be allowed, ~~as is already the case in most Member States. A transitional period should however be provided for during which Member States are authorised to continue to exempt from excise duty goods supplied by existing tax-free shops situated at their land border with a third country.~~

- (21) In order to allow the use of the external transit procedure following the export procedure, the customs office of exit should become a possible destination of a movement under excise duty suspension. The moment when the duty suspension arrangement ends in that case should be specified. It should be specified that the competent authorities in the Member State of export should complete the report of export on the basis of the confirmation of exit which the customs office of exit sends to the customs office of export at the start of the external transit procedure. In order to allow the external transit procedure to take over the responsibilities for the excise goods under this Directive, Article 189 of Regulation (EU) n° 2015/2446 has been amended by Regulation (EU) n° [...]. Consequently, Union excise goods should also be allowed to be placed under the external transit procedure.
- (22) In order to enable the competent authorities to ensure consistency between the electronic administrative document and the customs declaration at importation when excise goods released for free circulation are moved from the place of importation under duty suspension, information on the consignor and the consignee and a proof that imported goods will be dispatched from the Member State of importation to another Member State should be provided by the person who declares the excise goods for importation ('declarant') to the competent authorities in the Member State of importation.

↓ 2008/118/EC recital 19

- (23) In order to safeguard the payment of excise duty in a case of non-discharge of the excise movement, Member States should require a guarantee, which should be lodged

- (24) Several Member States already grant a guarantee waiver for the movement of energy products by fixed pipelines as that type of movement presents a very low fiscal risk. - (32) In order to enable the consignor to assign a new destination to the excise goods, the Member State of dispatch should inform the consignor that the goods are no longer to be taken out of the territory of the Union.
- (33) In order to improve the possibility to carry out controls during a movement of excise goods the person accompanying the excise goods, or where there is no accompanying person, the transporter or carrier, should be able to present the unique administrative reference code, in any form, to the competent authorities to allow them to retrieve details of the excise goods.

- (c) manufactured tobacco covered by Directives 2011/64/EU 95/59/EC, 92/79/EEC and 92/80/EEC.

2. Article 37

Electronic simplified administrative document

1. Where excise goods are to be moved under this Section, the certified consignor shall submit a draft electronic simplified administrative document to the competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch using the computerised system.

2. The competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch shall carry out an electronic verification of the data provided in the draft electronic simplified administrative document.

Where those data are not valid, the certified consignor shall be informed thereof without delay.

Where those data are valid, the competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch shall assign to the document a unique simplified administrative reference code and shall communicate it to the certified consignor.

3. The competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch shall forward the electronic simplified administrative document without delay to the competent authorities of the Member State of destination, which shall forward it to the certified consignee.

4. The certified consignor shall provide the person accompanying the excise goods, or where there is no person accompanying the goods, the transporter or carrier, with the unique simplified administrative reference code. The person accompanying the excise goods, the transporter or the carrier shall provide that code to the competent authorities upon request through the movement.

5. During a movement of excise goods under this Section, the certified consignor may, using the computerised system, change the destination to another place of delivery in the same Member State operated by the same certified consignee, or to the place of dispatch. For that purpose the certified consignee shall submit a draft electronic change of destination document to the competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch using the computerised system.

Article 38

Report of receipt

1. On receipt of the excise goods, the certified consignee shall, without delay and no later than five working days after the end of the movement, except in cases duly justified to the satisfaction of the competent authorities, submit a report of their receipt to the competent authorities of the Member State of destination, using the computerised system.

2. The competent authorities of the Member State of destination shall carry out an electronic verification of the data provided in the report of receipt.

Where those data are not valid the certified consignee shall be informed thereof without delay.

Where those data are valid, the competent authorities of the Member State of destination shall provide the certified consignee with a confirmation of the registration of the report of receipt and send it to the competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch.

The report of receipt shall be deemed to be sufficient proof that the certified consignee has fulfilled all of the necessary formalities and has made any payments of excise duty due to the Member State of destination.

3. The competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch shall forward the report of receipt to the certified consignor.

4. The excise duty paid in the Member State of dispatch shall be reimbursed, upon request and on the basis of the report of receipt referred to in paragraph 1.

Article 39

Fallback and recovery at dispatch

1. By way of derogation from Article 37, where the computerised system is unavailable in the Member State of dispatch, the certified consignor may start a movement of excise goods provided that:

- (a) the goods are accompanied by a fallback document containing the same data as the draft electronic simplified administrative document referred to in Article 36(1);
- (b) the certified consignor informs the competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch before the beginning of the movement.

The Member State of dispatch may require for the certified consignor a copy of the document referred to in point (a) of the first subparagraph, the verification by the Member State of dispatch of the data contained in that copy and, where the certified consignor is responsible for the unavailability of the computerised system, appropriate information on the reasons for that unavailability before the beginning of the movement.

2. As soon as the availability of the computerised system is restored, the certified consignor shall submit a draft electronic simplified administrative document in accordance with Article 37 (1).

As soon as the data in the draft electronic simplified administrative document have been verified in accordance with Article 37(2), if those data are valid, that document shall replace the fallback document referred to in paragraph 1(a) of this Article with that document. Article 37(3) and Article 38 shall apply mutatis mutandis.

3. A copy of the fallback document referred to in paragraph 1(a) shall be kept by the certified consignor in his or her records.

4. Where the computerised system is unavailable in the Member State of dispatch, the certified consignor may amend the destination of the goods as referred to in Article 37(5) and shall communicate that information to the competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch using alternative means of communication. The certified consignor shall inform the competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch before the change of destination is initiated. Paragraphs 2 to 3 of this Article shall apply mutatis mutandis.

Article 40

Fallback documents and recovery of data – report of receipt

Where excise goods are to be moved under this Section and the report of receipt cannot be submitted at the end of the movement of the excise goods in accordance with Article 38(1), either because the computerised system is unavailable in the Member State of destination or because the procedures referred to in Article 39(2) have not yet been carried out the certified consignee shall, except in duly justified cases, submit a fallback document containing the same data as the report of receipt and stating that the movement has ended to the competent authorities of the Member State of destination.

Except where the report of receipt can be submitted promptly by the certified consignee via the computerised system as provided for in Article 38(1), or except in duly justified cases, the competent authorities of the Member State of destination shall send a copy of the fallback document referred to in the first subparagraph to the competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch. The competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch shall forward the copy to the certified consignor or keep it available for the certified consignor.

As soon as availability of the computerised system is restored in the Member State of destination or the procedures referred to in Article 39(2) have been carried out, the certified consignee shall submit a report of receipt in accordance with Article 38(1). Paragraphs 2 and 3 of Article 38 shall apply mutatis mutandis.

Article 41

Alternative proofs of receipt

1. Notwithstanding Article 40, the report of receipt required by Article 38(1) shall constitute proof that the excise goods have been delivered to the certified consignee.

2. By way of derogation from paragraph 1, in the absence of the report of receipt for reasons other than those mentioned in Article 40, alternative proof of delivery of excise goods may be provided by means of an endorsement by the competent authorities of the Member State of destination, based on appropriate evidence, that the excise goods dispatched have reached their destination.

The fallback document referred to in the first paragraph of Article 40 shall constitute appropriate evidence for the purposes of the first subparagraph.

3. Where the endorsement by the competent authorities of the Member State of destination has been accepted by the competent authorities of the Member State of dispatch, it shall be deemed to be sufficient proof that the certified consignee has fulfilled all of the necessary formalities and has made any payments of excise duty due to the Member State of destination.

Article 42

Derogation for certified consignors and certified consignees from the obligation to use the computerised system

Member States may permit a movement of excise goods to take place under cover of a fallback document as referred to in Article 39(1)(a) if the certified consignor and certified consignee only occasionally move excise goods under this Section.

Member State may limit such permission to a specific quantity of excise goods, a single certified consignor and certified consignee, a specific period of time or to a single movement of excise goods.
