³ Position of the European Parliament of 7 July 2026 (not yet published in the Official Journal) and decision of the Council of ...

Whereas:

- (1) A modernised system of social security coordination started to apply from 1 May 2010, on the basis of Regulations (EC) No 883/2004⁴ and (EC) No 987/2009⁵ of the European Parliament and of the Council.
- (2) Regulations (EC) No 883/2004 and (EC) No 987/2009 were amended by Regulation (EU) No 465/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁶, in particular in the field of the determination of the applicable legislation and unemployment benefits, and to make technical adaptations to the references to national legislation in the Annexes to Regulation (EC) No 883/2004.

- (3) It has emerged from evaluations and discussions within the Administrative Commission for the Coordination of Social Security Systems (the ‘Administrative Commission’) that in the areas of long-term care benefits, unemployment benefits and family benefits, the modernisation process should continue in order to make the rules relating to those benefits fairer, clearer and easier to apply, by means of exchanges of experience and exchanges of best administrative practices. To facilitate such exchanges, the use of new technologies should also be promoted.
- (4) It remains essential that the coordination rules keep pace with the evolving legal and societal context in which they operate, by further facilitating the exercise of citizens’ rights while ensuring legal clarity, a fair and equitable distribution of the financial burden among the institutions of the Member States involved, administrative simplicity and enforceability of the rules.
- (5) Long-term care benefits have so far not been included explicitly within the material scope of Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 but have, in principle, been coordinated in line with the rules applicable to sickness benefits, leading to legal uncertainty both for institutions and persons claiming long-term care benefits. There is a need to develop a stable legal framework appropriate to long-term care benefits within that Regulation, continuing coordination as sickness benefits as a general rule and including a clear definition and a list of such benefits.

- (6) In the area of unemployment benefits, the rules on the aggregation of periods of insurance should be applied uniformly by all Member States.
- (7) In order to ensure a real link between the unemployed person and the labour market of the Member State providing unemployment benefits, the rules on the aggregation of periods for the purpose of conferring an entitlement to unemployment benefits should, with the exception of wholly unemployed cross-border workers as referred to in Article 65(2), (3) and (5) of Regulation (EC) No 883/2004, be subject to the condition that the insured person has most recently completed an uninterrupted period of at least one month of insurance, employment or self-employment in that Member State, and has thereby contributed to the financing of the unemployment benefit scheme of that Member State over a predefined period. Where no such period has been completed in the Member State of most recent insurance, employment or self-employment, the previous Member State in which that person completed a period of insurance, employment or self-employment should become competent, provided that the person completed an uninterrupted period of at least one month in that Member State. Registration with the employment services of the Member State of most recent insurance should have the same effect as registration with the employment services of the Member State in which the unemployed person had been previously insured. Where the person did not complete the required period in either of those Member States, the Member State of most recent insurance, employment or self-employment should become competent.

- (8) In order to improve the opportunities for unemployed persons moving to another Member State to look for work and their chances for reintegration into the labour market and to address skills mismatches across borders, Member States should be able to decide to exercise the possibility to extend the period of export of unemployment benefits until the end of the person's entitlement to benefits.

- (9) Unemployed persons who during their most recent activity resided in a Member State other than the competent Member State and who continue to reside in that other Member State or return there should receive benefits in accordance with the legislation of the competent Member State, provided that they have, in the Member State of their most recent activity, completed uninterrupted periods of insurance, employment or self-employment of at least 22 weeks ('affiliation period'). Only uninterrupted periods of insurance, employment or self-employment completed under the legislation of the competent Member State should be taken into account for the purpose of calculating the affiliation period. Subject to completion of the affiliation period, it is for the competent Member State to assess whether the person meets the conditions for entitlement to unemployment benefits laid down in its national legislation, as if the person were residing in that Member State. The person should comply with the obligations laid down in the applicable legislation of the competent Member State. If the person decides to make him or herself available to the employment services of another Member State in order to seek work there, he or she should comply with the conditions laid down in the legislation of, and be subject to the control procedure organised in, that other Member State. The institution in the Member State to which the unemployed person has gone should provide the competent Member State, on a monthly basis, with relevant information concerning the follow-up to the unemployed person's situation, in particular whether he or she is still registered with the employment services and is complying with organised checking, and activation or job placement procedures.

- (10) Within the framework of the implementation of Regulations (EC) No 883/2004 and (EC) No 987/2009, and in accordance with the duty of mutual information and cooperation, Member States' institutions should, inter alia, exchange data necessary to detect changes in circumstances relevant for the rights and obligations of the persons concerned under Regulation (EC) No 883/2004. Member States could decide to make further use of electronic means to enhance the fulfilment of the duty of mutual information and cooperation.

- (11) The labour market in Luxembourg is characterised by a number of specific features. Frontier workers make up a very significant proportion of the total working population in Luxembourg, which greatly exceeds the proportion of frontier workers in the working population of other Member States. The introduction of the new rules relating to frontier and cross-border workers is expected to place a very high administrative burden on the Luxembourg public employment authority, due to a significant increase in the number of frontier workers for whom it would become the competent institution. It is therefore appropriate to grant Luxembourg an additional phasing-in period, during which Articles 65 and 86 of Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 and Articles 56 and 70 of, and Annex 5 to, Regulation (EC) No 987/2009, in the version in force before ... [date of entry into force of the amending Regulation], continue to apply, in order to allow the time required to take all necessary preparatory steps for a smooth transition from the current regulatory framework to the new rules and to adjust the social security system. During that phasing-in period, Article 56a of Regulation (EC) No 987/2009, which is introduced by this Regulation, should not apply to Luxembourg.
- (12) In light of the judgment of the Court of Justice of the European Union in Case C-347/12, *Wiering*⁷, for the purpose of the calculation of the differential supplement, there are two categories of family benefits of the same kind, namely, family benefits in cash that are primarily intended to replace income that is not earned due to child-raising periods, and all other family benefits.

⁷ Judgment of the Court of Justice of 13 June 2014, Wiering, C-347/12, ECLI:EU:C:2014:300.

- (13) Family benefits in cash that are primarily intended to replace income not earned, in whole or in part, or income that the person cannot earn due to child-raising periods are designed to meet the individual or personal needs of the parent subject to the legislation of the competent Member State and are therefore distinguishable from other family benefits as they are intended to compensate a parent for loss of income or salary during time spent raising a child rather than to solely meet general family expenses.
- (14) In order to enable timely amendments to Regulations (EC) No 883/2004 and (EC) No 987/2009 to incorporate developments at the national level, the power to adopt acts in accordance with Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union should be delegated to the Commission in respect of amending the Annexes to Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 and to Regulation (EC) No 987/2009. It is of particular importance that the Commission carry out appropriate consultations during its preparatory work, including at expert level and that those consultations be conducted in accordance with the principles laid down in the Interinstitutional Agreement on Better Law-Making of 13 April 2016⁸. In particular, to ensure equal participation in the preparation of delegated acts, the European Parliament and Council receive all documents at the same time as Member States' experts, and their experts systematically have access to meetings of Commission expert groups dealing with the preparation of delegated acts.

- (15) With a view to supporting Member States in their efforts to combat fraud and error in the application of the coordination rules, it is necessary to establish a further legal basis for the processing of the personal data of persons to whom Regulations (EC) No 883/2004 and (EC) No 987/2009 apply, in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁹. This would enable a Member State to compare data held by its competent institutions against those held by another Member State, in order to identify errors or inconsistencies that require further investigation.
- (16) With a view to expediting the procedure for the verification and withdrawal of documents in cases of fraud or error, it is necessary to strengthen the collaboration and the exchange of information between the issuing institution and the institution requesting a withdrawal. Where there is doubt about the validity of a document or about the correctness of supporting evidence, it is in the interest of the Member States and the persons concerned that the institutions concerned reach an agreement within a reasonable period of time.
- (17) There should be a detailed procedure for cooperation in the case of doubt as to the validity of documents concerning the social security legislation applicable to the holder of those documents. It is also necessary to lay down further rules on retroactivity where a document is withdrawn or rectified. This includes situations in which the Member States concerned should consider concluding an agreement on the basis of Article 16 of Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 for part or all of the periods covered by the document.

⁹ Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and the Council of 27 April 2016 on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data, and repealing Directive 95/46/EC (General Data Protection Regulation) (OJ L 119, 4.5.2016, p. 1, ELI: <http://data.europa.eu/eli/reg/2016/679/oj>).

- (18) To ensure the effective and efficient operation of the coordination rules, it is necessary to clarify the rules for determining the legislation applicable to employees who pursue their economic activity in two or more Member States, in order to provide a greater parity with the conditions that apply to persons who are sent to pursue an economic activity in a single Member State.
- (19) The link with the social security system of the Member State of origin of employed persons sent to another Member State should be reinforced by providing for a minimum period of prior affiliation.
- (20) Implementing powers should be conferred on the Commission in order to ensure uniform conditions for the implementation of Articles 12 and 13 of Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 and of the rules on recovery provided for in Regulation (EC) No 987/2009. Those powers should be exercised in accordance with Regulation (EU) No 182/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council¹⁰.

- (21) If a Member State is unable to notify the annual average cost per person in each age group for a reference year within the required deadline, the Member State should be able to submit claims for that year based on the annual average costs for the immediately preceding year published in the Official Journal of the European Union. The reimbursement of the expenditure on benefits in kind on the basis of fixed amounts should be as close as possible to the actual expenditure. A derogation from the notification obligation should be subject to the authorisation of the Administrative Commission and should not be granted in two consecutive years.
- (22) The offsetting procedure that applies in situations where the legislation of a Member State was applied provisionally in accordance with Article 6 of Regulation (EC) No 987/2009 should be extended to cases where an institution was not competent to grant benefits or receive contributions. In addition, in that context, it is necessary to disapply divergent limitation provisions in national law to ensure that a retroactive settlement between the institutions is not impeded by any incompatible time-limits laid down in national legislation while at the same time establishing a uniform limitation period of three years, counting backwards from the commencement of the dialogue procedure referred to under Article 5(3) and (4) and Article 6(3) of that Regulation to ensure that the procedure for resolving disputes is not frustrated.

- (23) Effective recovery is a means of preventing and tackling fraud and abuse and ensuring the smooth functioning of social security schemes. The recovery procedures provided for in Chapter III of Title IV of Regulation (EC) No 987/2009 are based on the procedures and rules provided for in Council Directive 2008/55/EC¹¹. That Directive has been superseded by Council Directive 2010/24/EU¹², which introduced a uniform instrument to be used for enforcement measures as well as a standard form for the notification of instruments and measures relating to claims. In a review by the Administrative Commission, most Member States found it advantageous to use a uniform instrument for enforcement similar to that provided for by Directive 2010/24/EU. It is therefore necessary that the rules for mutual assistance in recovery of social security claims reflect the new measures in Directive 2010/24/EU, in order to ensure more effective recovery and a smooth functioning of the coordination rules.

¹² Council Directive 2010/24/EU of 16 March 2010 concerning mutual assistance for the recovery of claims relating to taxes, duties and other measures (OJ L 84, 31.3.2010, p. 1, ELI: <http://data.europa.eu/eli/dir/2010/24/oj>).

- (24) To take account of legal changes in certain Member States and in the United Kingdom¹³ and to guarantee legal certainty for stakeholders, the Annexes to Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 and to Regulation(EC) No 987/2009 should be amended.
- (25) The European Data Protection Supervisor was consulted in accordance with Article 28(2) of Regulation (EC) No 45/2001 of the European Parliament and of the Council¹⁴ and delivered an opinion on 8 May 2017.
- (26) While a number of provisions of this Regulation can be applied immediately because they do not require implementation, it is appropriate to provide for a later date of application for certain provisions of this Regulation to allow Member States sufficient time for their implementation,

HAVE ADOPTED THIS REGULATION:

¹³ The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland ceased to be a Member State on 31 January 2020. Pursuant to the Agreement on the Withdrawal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland from the European Union and the European Atomic Energy Community, Regulations (EC) No 883/2004 and (EC) No 987/2009 continue to apply to and in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland in respect of persons referred to in Articles 30, 32 and 33 of that Agreement.

¹⁴ Regulation (EC) No 45/2001 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 18 December 2000 on the protection of individuals with regard to the processing of personal data by the Community institutions and bodies and on the free movement of such data (OJ L 8, 12.1.2001, p. 1, ELI: <http://data.europa.eu/eli/reg/2001/45/oj>).

Article 1

Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 is amended as follows:

(1) the following recital is inserted:

‘(2a) Articles 45 and 48 of the Treaty of the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU) ensure free movement of workers entailing the abolition of any discrimination based on nationality and provide for the adoption of the necessary measures in the field of social security to secure that freedom. In addition, under Article 21 TFEU, every Union citizen has the right to move and reside freely within the territory of the Member States, subject to the limitations and conditions laid down in the Treaties and by the measures adopted to give them effect.’;

(2) recital 5 is replaced by the following:

‘(5) It is necessary, within the framework of such coordination, to guarantee within the Union equality of treatment under the different national legislations for the persons concerned.

(5a) In applying the principle of equal treatment provided for in this Regulation, the case-law of the Court of Justice is to be respected. The Court of Justice has interpreted that principle and the relationship between this Regulation and, inter alia, Directive 2004/38/EC, in its judgments in Cases C-140/12, Brey^{*}, C-333/13, Dano^{}, C-67/14 Alimanovic^{}, C-299/14, Garcia-Nieto^{*} and C-308/14, Commission v the United Kingdom^{**}.

- (5b) Member States should ensure that mobile, economically inactive Union citizens are not prevented from satisfying the condition of having comprehensive sickness insurance cover in the host Member State, as laid down in Directive 2004/38/EC. They should be allowed, in accordance with national law and practice, to contribute in a proportionate manner to a scheme for comprehensive sickness insurance cover if they are not otherwise able to fulfil the relevant criteria for access to comprehensive sickness insurance cover in the Member State in which they habitually reside.

 Judgment of the Court of Justice of 14 June 2016, C-308/14, Commission v UK, ECLI:EU:C:2016:436.’;

(3) recital 18b is replaced by the following:

‘(18b) In Annex III, Subpart FTL to Commission Regulation (EU) No 965/2012*, the concept of “home base” for flight crew and cabin crew members is defined as the location, assigned by the operator to the crew member, from where the crew member normally starts and ends a duty period or a series of duty periods and where, under normal circumstances, the operator is not responsible for the accommodation of the crew member concerned.

* Commission Regulation (EU) No 965/2012 of 5 October 2012 laying down technical requirements and administrative procedures related to air operations pursuant to Regulation (EC) No 216/2008 of the European Parliament and of the Council (OJ L 296, 25.10.2012, p. 1, ELI: <http://data.europa.eu/eli/reg/2012/965/oj>).’;

(4) recital 24 is replaced by the following:

‘(24) In line with the case-law of the Court of Justice, long-term care benefits for insured persons and members of their families should, in principle, continue to be coordinated in line with the rules applicable to sickness benefits. However, those rules should take into account the specific nature of long-term care benefits. It is also necessary to provide for specific provisions in the case of overlapping long-term care benefits in kind and in cash.

(24a) Long-term care benefits refer only to benefits which have the primary purpose of addressing the care needs of a person who, on account of an impairment due, for example, to old age, disability or illness, requires considerable assistance from others to carry out essential activities of daily living for an extended period of time. Moreover, long-term care benefits refer only to benefits which can be considered to be social security benefits within the meaning of this Regulation. In line with the case-law of the Court of Justice, for example in Case C-433/13, Commission v Slovak Republic^{*}, social security benefits are benefits granted without any individual and discretionary assessment of the personal needs of the beneficiaries, on the basis of a legally defined position. Long-term care benefits should therefore be interpreted accordingly. In particular, long-term care benefits should not include social or medical assistance. Benefits granted on a discretionary basis, after an individual assessment of the claimant's personal needs, are not considered to be long-term care benefits for the purposes of this Regulation.

^{*} Judgment of the Court of 16 September 2015, Commission v Slovak Republic, C-433/13, ECLI:EU:C:2015:602.’;

(5) the following recitals are inserted:

‘(32a) It is for the Member States to decide whether to extend the period of six months provided for in Article 64(1), point (c), of this Regulation, in accordance with Union law, including the judgment of the Court of Justice in Case C-551/16, *Klein Schiphorst.

(32b) Article 45 TFEU guarantees the freedom of movement for workers within the Union and prohibits any discrimination based on nationality between workers of the Member States as regards, inter alia, employment. Pursuant to Regulation (EU) No 492/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council, frontier workers, are also to enjoy such fundamental rights without discrimination. Article 5 of that Regulation provides that a national of a Member State who seeks employment in the territory of another Member State is to receive the same assistance there as that afforded by its employment offices to its own nationals seeking employment.

(32c) Decision 573/2014/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council^{} establishes a Union-wide network of Public Employment Services (PES) aiming to encourage cooperation between Member States in the field of employment within the areas of PES responsibility, including by supporting increased voluntary geographical and occupational mobility on a fair basis to meet specific labour market needs.

 Regulation (EU) No 492/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 5 April 2011 on freedom of movement for workers within the Union (OJ L 141, 27.5.2011, p. 1, ELI: <http://data.europa.eu/eli/reg/2011/492/oj>).

 Decision No 573/2014/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 15 May 2014 on enhanced cooperation between Public Employment Services (PES) (OJ L 159, 28.5.2014, p. 32, ELI: http://data.europa.eu/eli/dec/2014/573\(2\)/oj/oj)); ‘(35a)For the purpose of calculating the differential supplement, this Regulation takes into account the judgment of the Court of Justice in Case C-347/12, Wiering^{*}, while providing for necessary clarifications and simplifications. Taking into account the particular nature of the various family benefits of the Member States, two categories of family benefits should be distinguished on the basis of their main purpose, their objectives and the basis on which they are granted.

(6) the following recitals are inserted:

(35b) Family benefits in cash that are primarily intended to replace income not earned, in whole or in part, or income that the person cannot earn, due to child-raising, can be distinguished from other family benefits intended to meet family expenses. Because such benefits could be considered to be individual rights which are personal to the parent subject to the legislation of the competent Member State, it should be possible to reserve them exclusively to the parent concerned. Such individual benefits are listed in Annex XIII, Part I, to this Regulation. The Member State with secondary competence should be able not to apply the rules of priority in the case of overlapping rights to family benefits under the legislation of the competent Member State and under the legislation of the Member State of residence of members of the family to such benefits. Where a Member State does not apply the priority rules, it must do so consistently in respect of all entitled persons in an analogous situation and be listed in Annex XIII, Part II.

(35c) This Regulation takes account of Council Regulation No 4/2009 where relevant.

* Judgment of the Court of Justice of 13 June 2014, Wiering, C-347/12, ECLI:EU:C:2014:300.

 Council Regulation (EC) No 4/2009 of 18 December 2008 on jurisdiction, applicable law, recognition and enforcement of decisions and cooperation in matters relating to maintenance obligations (OJ L 7, 10.1.2009, p. 1, ELI: http://data.europa.eu/eli/reg/2009/4\(1\)/oj/oj)).’;

(7) the following recital is inserted:

‘(39a)The relevant Union data protection acquis, in particular Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council*, applies to the processing of personal data pursuant to this Regulation.

* Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 April 2016 on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data, and repealing Directive 95/46/EC (General Data Protection Regulation) (OJ L 119, 4.5.2016, p. 1, ELI: <http://data.europa.eu/eli/reg/2016/679/oj>).’;

(8) the following recitals are inserted:

‘(40a)In accordance with the principles laid down in Article 6 of Regulation (EU) 2018/1724 of the European Parliament and of the Council*, Member States are to ensure that employers or the persons concerned can, subject to the establishment of the relevant procedures, access and complete a request for the determination of applicable social security legislation fully online. A fully online procedure includes an automatic acknowledgement of receipt, unless the output of the procedure is delivered immediately. The procedure should be user friendly. This Regulation requires Member States to progressively enhance their use of new technologies for the exchange of, access to and processing of the data required to apply the social security coordination rules. Those rules include the procedures referred to in Articles 15, 16 and 19 of Regulation (EC) No 987/2009.

(40b) In light of the objective of the social security coordination legislation in the Union, while Member States have a responsibility to uphold obligations arising from Union law in the areas covered by this Regulation and by Regulation (EC) No 987/2009, potential measures against infringements of those obligations should not impede the exercise of free movement within the Union. In particular, measures to address a failure to comply with the obligations specified in Article 15(1) of Regulation (EC) No 987/2009, which require the notification to the competent institution of the Member State whose legislation is applicable before the start of an activity in another Member State and the request for the attestation referred to in Article 19(2) of Regulation (EC) No 987/2009, are not to result in unjustified and disproportionate restrictions of the exercise of free movement by the persons concerned. Failure to comply with those obligations does not automatically result in a change of the applicable national legislation, which should be determined in accordance with Title II of this Regulation. Furthermore, those obligations should be interpreted and enforced consistently with the established case-law of the Court of Justice concerning the attestation on the applicable legislation, which is usually issued by means of a certificate known as Portable Document A1 (PDA1), and its predecessor, the E-101 certificate.

(40c) To ensure that social security coordination rules remain fit for purpose, it is important to take into account the technological progress and benefits of digitalisation, in particular in streamlining and simplifying the exchange of information between the competent institutions. Technological advances in social security coordination, such as a fully implemented and operational European Electronic Exchange of Social Security Information system, can contribute to simplifying the process and the compliance with Article 15 of Regulation (EC) No 987/2009. Digitalising the process of requesting and receiving social security attestations, including that regarding the applicable legislation, will be another important step towards a solution that enables the real-time verification of those attestations across borders, allowing for swift confirmation of their validity. The Commission and Member States are closely collaborating to advance the digitalisation of such interactions between individuals and public bodies, such as through the European Social Security Pass initiative. European Digital Identity Wallets, established by Regulation (EU) 2024/1183 of the European Parliament and of the Council^{}, have the potential to become a digital system facilitating user-friendly and secure identification and verification across borders.

- (40d) Member States should continue investing in the digitalisation of their social security systems, as appropriate, inter alia with a view to ensuring a seamless digital experience for mobile citizens and businesses. To that end, they could use available Union funding instruments. Where applicable, such funding could be leveraged to support relevant reforms at national level that are necessary to promote the proper enforcement of this Regulation and of Regulation (EC) No 987/2009, and to combat fraud and error, including by improving data collection and reporting.
- (40e) The purpose of the European Labour Authority (ELA) is, inter alia, to assist Member States and the Commission in the effective application and enforcement of Union law related to labour mobility across the Union and the coordination of social security systems within the Union, thereby contributing within its mandate to ensuring fair labour mobility across the Union. Pursuant to Regulation (EU) 2019/1149 of the European Parliament and of the Council^{}, the ELA facilitates and enhances cooperation between Member States, including by facilitating concerted and joint inspections, which could also concern compliance with the notification obligation and the detection of abuses with regard to exemptions from that obligation, and by facilitating the cooperation and acceleration of the exchange of information between Member States. The ELA promotes the potential use of electronic exchange mechanisms and databases between the Member States, to facilitate access to data in real time and to detect fraud, and may suggest possible improvements in the use of those mechanisms and databases.

- (40) the Annexes to Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 are amended in accordance with Annex I to this Regulation.

Article 2

Regulation (EC) No 987/2009 is amended as follows:

(1) the following recital is inserted:

‘(12a) For the purpose of identifying the registered office or place of business of an undertaking, where a person pursues activity in two or more Member States, a series of factors should be taken into account to determine where the essential decisions of the undertaking are adopted and where the functions of the central administration are carried out. Examples of such factors are the turnover, the places where its general meetings are held, and the habitual nature of the activity pursued. The list of example factors is non-exhaustive and other factors may be relevant for determining the location of the registered office or place of business of an undertaking, in the framework of an overall assessment, giving due weight to each relevant factor according to the circumstances of the case.’;

(2) the following recitals are inserted:

‘(13a)Where an employed or self-employed person pursues his or her activity in a Member State other than the competent Member State pursuant to Article 12 of the basic Regulation, the competent institution of the Member State whose legislation is applicable should be informed thereof in advance and an attestation as referred to in Article 19(2) of this Regulation should be requested. Provision of information prior to the pursuit of the activity enables competent institutions to assess the situation of the persons concerned in advance and to ensure, from the outset, the correct determination and application of the social security legislation applicable, pursuant to Title II of the basic Regulation, thereby facilitating the exercise of freedom of movement for workers and of freedom to provide services, and increasing legal certainty as regards the social security coverage of the person concerned. It also allows for better coordination between national authorities, including the planning of controls. Where justified on the basis of the nature or length of the activity, it is appropriate to provide that the provision of such prior information and, in particular, the obligation to request such an attestation, should not apply to business trips or activities with a total duration of no more than three consecutive days of work within a period of 30 consecutive days.

(13b) Activities in the construction sector exhibit specific characteristics, such as to distinguish them from activities in other economic sectors. The high number of posted workers in the construction sector account for a high share of PDA1s issued under Article 12 of the basic Regulation and available analyses indicate that fraud, irregularities or abusive practices are often detected in relation to those activities. Available data also indicate that both the number of accidents at work, including fatal accidents, and the incidence rate of accidents at work are particularly high in the construction sector. The combination of those characteristics means that exempting activities in the construction sector from the obligation to inform the competent institution and to request the attestation concerning the applicable legislation, in advance, in the case of activities of up to three days' duration could jeopardise the attainment of the objectives pursued by the basic Regulation and by this Regulation. Furthermore, maintaining that obligation for activities in the construction sector contributes to the enforcement work of national labour inspectorates or other competent authorities, which will benefit from the data generated for the purpose of carrying out risk assessments and effectively detecting fraudulent or abusive practices.

- (13c) In order to ensure the proper application of this Regulation, it is of the utmost importance to ensure compliance with the obligation to inform the competent institution and to request the attestation concerning the applicable legislation, in advance. To that end, Member States may, in accordance with national law, resort to taking proportionate measures against the employer or, in the case of a person who does not pursue an activity as an employed person, against the person concerned, for failure to comply with those obligations.
- (13d) In order to support job seekers in their search for work, taking into account the realities of cross-border regions, Member States should encourage members and partners of the European network of employment services (EURES) to participate in specific cooperation and service structures, and ensure that job seekers who reside in a Member State other than the competent Member State have access to the support services provided in cross-border regions.
- (13e) Where an unemployed person receiving unemployment benefits decides to go to another Member State to seek work there, the Member State paying the benefits and the Member State where the person goes to seek work should inform the person concerned about the support services provided by EURES including through its portal, and the possibility to register with EURES to enhance his or her chances of finding work in the other Member State. The Member State paying the benefits may consider providing the person concerned with guidance to register with EURES.’;

(3) the following recital is inserted:

‘(18a) Certain specific rules and procedures are required for the reimbursement of the cost of benefits incurred by a Member State of residence where the persons concerned are insured in a different Member State. Member States that claim reimbursement of the cost of benefits in kind on the basis of fixed amounts should notify the annual average costs per person within a given deadline to allow reimbursement as promptly as possible.’;

(4) recital 19 is replaced by the following:

‘(19) Procedures between institutions for mutual assistance in the recovery of social security claims should be strengthened in order to ensure more effective recovery and smooth functioning of social security schemes. Effective recovery is also a means of preventing and tackling abuses and fraud and of ensuring the sustainability of social security schemes. This involves the adoption of new procedures, taking as a basis a number of existing provisions in Council Directive 2010/24/EU*, in particular through the adoption of a uniform instrument for enforcement and the adoption of standard procedures for requesting mutual assistance and notification of instruments and measures relating to the recovery of social security claims.

* Council Directive 2010/24/EU of 16 March 2010 concerning mutual assistance for the recovery of claims relating to taxes, duties and other measures (OJ L 84, 31.3.2010, p. 1, ELI: <http://data.europa.eu/eli/dir/2010/24/oj>);

(5) the following recitals are added:

- ‘(25) The action to combat fraud and error is part of the proper implementation of Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 and this Regulation. It is, therefore, in the interest of legal certainty that this Regulation contains a clear legal basis for permitting competent institutions to exchange personal data with relevant authorities in other Member States relating to persons whose rights and obligations under Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 and this Regulation have already been established or to whom those Regulations apply, in order to prevent or identify fraud and error as part of the ongoing proper implementation of those Regulations. It is also necessary to ensure that such exchanges are made in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council*. In addition, for the purpose of combating fraud and error and in order to provide accurate and efficient service for the mobile citizens, Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 and this Regulation need to provide a clear legal basis for the Member States to exchange information with each other, either at an individual level concerning individual cases or at a general level with data matching.
- (26) In order to protect the rights of the persons concerned, Member States should ensure that any data requests and responses are necessary for and proportionate to the proper implementation of Regulation (EC) No 883/2004 and this Regulation,

* Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 April 2016 on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data, and repealing Directive 95/46/EC (General Data Protection Regulation) (OJ L 119, 4.5.2016, p. 1, ELI: <http://data.europa.eu/eli/reg/2016/679/oj>).’;

(6) in Article 1(2), the following points are inserted:

‘(ea) “fraud” means any intentional act or any intentional omission to act, in order to obtain or receive social security benefits or to avoid paying social security contributions, contrary to the law of the Member State concerned, to the basic Regulation or to the implementing Regulation;

(eb) “business trip” means a temporary activity as an employed or self-employed person, which is limited in time and which is related to the business interests of the employer or, in the case of a self-employed person, the person concerned, excluding the provision of services or the delivery of goods, but including attending business meetings, cultural and scientific events, conferences and seminars, such as those related to academic research, or receiving training;’;

(7) Article 2 is amended as follows:

‘(a) the following paragraph is inserted:

‘2a. The institutions shall also exchange data necessary to detect changes in circumstances relevant to such rights and obligations of the persons to whom the basic Regulation applies, as well as to detect inaccuracies in the data on which those rights are based. Those data may be verified by comparing them with those of the institution of the other Member State concerned using electronic means of data exchange or access granted to the other institution’s database. Such verification may concern individual cases or may be used to compare the data on multiple persons simultaneously. Any request for information and any response to that request shall be necessary and proportionate.’;

(b) the following paragraphs are added:

‘5. The Administrative Commission shall draw up an indicative list of the types of data subject to the exchange of data under paragraph 2a. The Commission shall give that list the necessary publicity.

6. The data exchanges under paragraph 2a shall comply with Regulation (EU) 2016/679 in accordance with Article 77 of the basic Regulation. Where necessary, the Administrative Commission shall identify which entities are to be entitled to carry out such exchanges.

Any decision taken on the basis of the data emanating from such data exchanges shall be based on sufficient evidence and shall be subject to effective remedies.’;

(8) in Article 3, paragraph 3 is deleted;

(9) in Article 5, paragraphs 2, 3 and 4 are replaced by the following:

- ‘2. The institution of the Member State that receives the document shall, without delay, notify the issuing institution in the event that any mandatory information has not been provided. The issuing institution shall either rectify the document as soon as possible or confirm that the conditions for issuing the document are not fulfilled. Where the mandatory information missing is not provided within 30 working days, the institution of the Member State that receives the document may proceed as if the document had never been issued. In that event, that institution shall inform the issuing institution accordingly.

3. Without prejudice to Article 19a, where there is doubt about the validity of a document or the accuracy of the facts on which the document is based, the institution of the Member State that receives the document shall ask the issuing institution for the necessary clarification and, where appropriate, the withdrawal or rectification of that document. The issuing institution shall reconsider the grounds for issuing the document and, if necessary, withdraw or rectify it.
4. Where there is doubt about the information provided by the persons concerned, the validity of a document or supporting evidence or the accuracy of the facts on which the document is based, any institution concerned shall, insofar as this is possible, at the request of the competent institution, verify the information or document.
5. Where no agreement is reached between the institutions concerned, the matter may be brought before the Administrative Commission by the competent authorities no earlier than one month following the date on which the institution that received the document submitted its request. The Administrative Commission shall endeavour to reconcile the points of view within six months of the date on which the matter was brought before it.

In endeavouring to reconcile the different points of view, the Administrative Commission may, pursuant to Article 72, point (a), of the basic Regulation, adopt a decision on the interpretation of the relevant provisions of the basic Regulation or of the implementing Regulation. The competent authorities and institutions concerned shall take the necessary measures to apply such a decision, without prejudice to the right of the authorities, institutions and the persons concerned to have recourse to the procedures and tribunals provided for by the legislation of the Member States, by the implementing Regulation or by the Treaty on European Union and the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union.’;

(10) Article 14 is amended as follows:

(a) paragraph 1 is replaced by the following:

‘1. For the purposes of the application of Article 12(1) of the basic Regulation, a “person who pursues an activity as an employed person in a Member State on behalf of an employer which normally carries out its activities there and who is sent by that employer to another Member State” shall include a person who is recruited with a view to being sent to another Member State, provided that for a period of at least three months immediately before the start of his or her employment, the person concerned has already been subject to the legislation of the Member State in which the employer is established.’;

(b) the following paragraph is inserted:

‘1a. After a person has pursued an activity as an employed or self-employed person in another Member State pursuant to Article 12(1) or (2) of the basic Regulation for a total of 24 months, with interruptions of no longer than two months, Article 12(1) or (2) of the basic Regulation shall not apply to that person with regard to that Member State until at least two months have elapsed from the end of the previous period of activity there. In specific circumstances, a derogation may be granted pursuant to Article 16(1) of the basic Regulation.’;

(c) paragraph 3 is replaced by the following:

‘3. For the purposes of the application of Article 12(2) of the basic Regulation, the words “who normally pursues an activity as a self-employed person” shall refer to a person who habitually carries out substantial activities in the territory of the Member State in which he or she is established. In particular, that person must have already pursued his or her activity for a period of at least three months before the date on which he or she wishes to take advantage of the provisions of that Article and, during any period of temporary activity in another Member State, must continue to fulfil, in the Member State where he or she is established, the requirements for the pursuit of his or her activity in order to be able to pursue it on his or her return.’;

(d) paragraph 5a is replaced by the following:

‘5a. For the purpose of the application of Title II of the basic Regulation, “registered office or place of business” shall refer to the registered office or place of business where the essential decisions of the undertaking are adopted and where the functions of its central administration are carried out.

The identification of the registered office or place of business relevant for determining applicable legislation shall be carried out in the framework of an overall assessment, based on factors relevant to the case, due weight being given to each relevant factor depending on the circumstances of the case. The Administrative Commission shall lay down the detailed arrangements for the determination.’;

(e) paragraph 10 is replaced by the following:

‘10. The determination of the applicable legislation under Article 13 of the basic Regulation shall apply for a maximum of 24 months, taking into account the situation projected for the following 12 calendar months.

Once the period of 24 months has elapsed, the applicable legislation shall be reassessed in the light of the situation of the person concerned.’;

(f) the following paragraph is added:

‘12. For the purpose of applying Article 13 of the basic Regulation, in relation to a person who resides outside the territory of the Union and pursues his or her activities as an employed or self-employed person in two or more Member States, the provisions of the basic Regulation and of the implementing Regulation on the determination of the applicable legislation shall apply mutatis mutandis, provided that that person’s residence is deemed to be in the Member State where he or she pursues the major part of his or her activities in terms of working time within the territory of the Union.’;

1a. Upon receipt of the request referred to in paragraph 1, the competent institution shall issue an attestation of the legislation applicable to the person concerned. Where that attestation is not issued immediately, it shall issue an automatic acknowledgement of receipt of the request, which shall constitute evidence showing that the competent institution has been informed in accordance with paragraph 1. The competent institution shall, without delay, make available to the institution designated by the competent authority of the Member State in which the activity is pursued the relevant information concerning the legislation applicable to that person or, where that information is not yet available, information concerning the acknowledgment of receipt.

If that institution determines that the legislation of the Member State of residence applies, it shall inform the designated institutions of each Member State in which an activity is pursued or in which the employer is situated of its determination of the applicable legislation.

3. If the designated institution of the place of residence determines that the legislation of another Member State applies, the determination shall be provisional, and the institution shall, without delay, inform the designated institutions of each Member State in which an activity is pursued or in which the employer is situated of this provisional determination of the applicable legislation. The provisional determination shall become definitive two months after the institutions designated by the competent authorities of the Member States concerned being informed of it, unless at least one of those institutions informs the designated institution of the place of residence by the end of the two-month period that it cannot yet accept the provisional determination or that it takes a different view.’;

The requesting institution shall substantiate its request and provide the relevant supporting documentation that gave rise to the request.
2. When receiving such a request, the issuing institution shall reconsider the grounds for issuing the document and, where an error is detected, withdraw or rectify it within 30 working days of receipt of the request. The withdrawal or rectification shall have retroactive effect. However, where there is a risk of a disproportionate outcome, and in particular, of the loss of status as an insured person for the whole or part of the relevant period in all Member States concerned, the Member States shall consider whether to apply Article 16 of the basic Regulation. Where the issuing institution considers that, on the basis of the available evidence, there is no doubt that the applicant of the document has committed fraud, it shall withdraw or rectify the document without delay, with retroactive effect.

3. If the issuing institution, having reconsidered the grounds for issuing the document, is unable to detect any error, it shall forward to the requesting institution all available evidence within 30 working days of receipt of the request. In urgent cases, where the reasons for urgency have been clearly indicated and substantiated in the request, the evidence shall be forwarded within ten working days of receipt of the request, including where the issuing institution has not completed its deliberations pursuant to paragraph 2.
4. Where the requesting institution, after receiving the available evidence, continues to have doubts regarding the validity of a document, the accuracy of the facts on which the particulars contained therein are based, or the accuracy of the information upon which the document was issued, it may submit evidence to that effect and make a further request for clarification and, where appropriate, for the withdrawal or rectification of that document by the issuing institution in accordance with the procedure and timeframes set out in this Article.
5. If the doubts of the receiving institution persist and no agreement between the institutions concerned is reached, Article 5(5) shall apply.’;

For the purpose of the application of Title II of the basic Regulation, the institutions of the Member States shall, without prejudice to Article 19a of the implementing Regulation, respond to queries received from the institutions of the other Member States within 35 working days of receipt of the request.
4. Where a person pursues an activity as an employed or a self-employed person in another Member State without an attestation as referred to in Article 19(2) of the implementing Regulation, unless no attestation is required pursuant to Article 15 of the implementing Regulation, the relevant institution in that other Member State may request information concerning the legislation applicable to that person from the institution of the Member State whose legislation is prima facie applicable.

If the requested institution does not reply within 35 working days of receipt of the request, the requesting institution may proceed as if no attestation had been issued and shall inform the requested institution accordingly. If the attestation is subsequently issued by the requested institution, that attestation shall, where appropriate, have retroactive effect.’;

The benefits in kind referred to in Article 19(1) of the basic Regulation shall refer to the benefits in kind which are provided in the Member State of stay, in accordance with its legislation, and which become necessary on medical grounds or due to the need for long-term care with a view to preventing an insured person from being forced to return, before the end of the planned duration of stay, to the competent Member State to obtain the necessary treatment or long-term care benefits’;

(18) in Article 26, paragraph 4 is replaced by the following:

Where a person or a group of persons are exempted upon request from compulsory sickness or long-term care insurance and such persons are thus not covered by a sickness or long-term care insurance scheme to which the basic Regulation applies, the institution of another Member State shall not, solely because of that exemption, become responsible for bearing the costs of benefits in kind or in cash provided to such persons or to a member of their family under Title III, Chapter I, of the basic Regulation.’;

In the situation referred to in Article 61(2) of the basic Regulation, the unemployed person shall register as a person seeking work with the employment services of the Member State of the most recent period of insurance, employment or self-employment and shall submit a claim for benefits to the institution of that Member State. If the claim is submitted to the institution of the Member State referred to in Article 61(2) of the basic Regulation, that institution shall immediately forward the claim to the institution of the Member State of the most recent period of insurance, employment or self-employment for investigation. The date on which the initial claim was submitted shall apply to all institutions concerned.

2. Following the investigation of the claim by the institution of the Member State of the most recent period of insurance, employment or self-employment, if it is determined that the unemployed person does not satisfy the conditions for aggregation referred to in Article 61(1) of the basic Regulation, and it is evident from the information available to it that the unemployed person completed the necessary period to be entitled to receive benefits pursuant to Article 61(2) of the basic Regulation, it shall immediately send a document to the institution of the Member State referred to in that provision. If it is not evident that the unemployed person completed the period necessary to receive benefits pursuant to Article 61(2) of the basic Regulation, the institution of the Member State of the most recent period of insurance, employment or self-employment shall contact the institution of the Member State referred to in that provision prior to sending the document, in order to determine whether the period specified therein was completed in that Member State.

The requested party shall subsequently inform the applicant party of any such decision.

From the date on which the recovery request is received, the requested party shall charge interest for late payment in accordance with the laws, regulations and administrative provisions in force in the Member State of the requested party.

Article 81

Contestation concerning the claim or the instrument permitting enforcement of its recovery and contestation concerning enforcement measures

1. If, in the course of the recovery procedure, the claim, the initial instrument permitting enforcement in the Member State of the applicant party, the uniform instrument permitting enforcement in the Member State of the requested party or the validity of a notification made by an authority in the Member States of the applicant party are contested by an interested party, the action shall be brought by that interested party before the appropriate authorities of the Member State of the applicant party, in accordance with the laws in force in that Member State. The applicant party shall notify the requested party of this action without delay. The interested party may also inform the requested party of the action.

The requested party shall proceed with further recovery measures on the basis of the revised instrument.

Articles 79 and 81 shall apply in relation to the revised instrument.

3. If the request is amended for a reason other than one referred to in paragraph 2 and such an amendment includes a reduction in the amount of the claim, the requested party shall continue any recovery or precautionary measures already undertaken, which shall be limited to the amount of the claim still outstanding.

 - (b) to grant the assistance provided for in Articles 76 to 81 of the implementing Regulation, if the initial request under Article 76, 77 or 78 of the implementing Regulation applies to claims that are more than five years old, from the date on which the claim is due in the Member State of the applicant party to the date of the initial request for assistance.

Moreover, where a postponement of the deadline for payment or an instalment plan is accepted by the authorities of the Member State of the applicant party, the five-year period shall begin from the date on which the entire payment period has come to an end.
