Subject: Proposal for a Directive of the European Parliament and of the Council on combating corruption, replacing Council Framework Decision 2003/568/JHA and the Convention on the fight against corruption involving officials of the European Communities or officials of Member States of the European Union and amending Directive (EU) 2017/1371 of the European Parliament and of the Council
- General approach

I. BACKGROUND

1. On 3 May 2023, the Commission submitted to the Council and the European Parliament a proposal for a Directive of the European Parliament and of the Council on combating corruption, replacing Council Framework Decision 2003/568/JHA and the Convention on the fight against corruption involving officials of the European Communities or officials of Member States of the European Union and amending Directive (EU) 2017/1371 of the European Parliament and of the Council. The proposal of a Directive aims to update and harmonise EU rules on the definitions of and penalties for corruption offences, to better prevent and to improve enforcement. The proposal also aims to harmonise the definition of corruption by incorporating and going beyond the minimum standards set forth in the UN Convention against corruption (UNCAC).

2. The draft Directive is based on Articles 83(1), 83(2) and 82(1)(d) of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU) (ordinary legislative procedure).
3. Following the submission of the proposal, the Working Party on Judicial Cooperation in Criminal Matters (COPEN) and JHA Counsellors have examined the proposal under the Swedish, Spanish and Belgian Presidencies of the Council.
4. The most intense discussions under the Spanish and Belgian Presidencies focused on Article 2 (Definitions), Article 3 (Prevention of corruption), Article 4 (Specialised bodies), Article 8 (Bribery in the private sector), Article 9 (Misappropriation), Article 10 (Trading in influence), Article 11 (Abuse of functions) and Article 13 (Enrichment from corruption offences). Regarding the provisions on prevention (Article 3 and 4), adjustments were made to clarify the obligations of Member States and achieve an appropriate balance between the objective of ensuring an effective prevention of corruption and the safeguard of Member States' institutional and administrative autonomy. Regarding the provisions on offences of corruption, adjustments were made inter alia to clarify the scope of application of these offences. The text as currently set out in the Annex appears to be balanced, both ensuring the coherence of the text and taking account of the interests of all Member States.
5. Following the meeting of COPEN on 16 May 2024, there is an agreement on the text as set out in the Annex to this note at the level of the Working Party.

6. In the European Parliament, the Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs (LIBE) has the lead responsibility. Ramona Strugariu (RO, Renew) was appointed rapporteur. The report was tabled on 21 February 2024; the European Parliament adopted its negotiating mandate at the plenary session on 27 February 2024, and the proposal was referred to the Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs (LIBE) to start interinstitutional negotiations.

II. CONCLUSION

7. In light of the above, the Permanent Representatives Committee is therefore invited to:
- a) confirm agreement on the text of the general approach, as set out in the Annex¹ to this note, and
 - b) recommend that the Council reach a general approach on the text as set out in the Annex to this note, to enable the Presidency to conduct those negotiations.

Proposal for a

DIRECTIVE OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL on combating corruption, replacing Council Framework Decision 2003/568/JHA and the Convention on the fight against corruption involving officials of the European Communities or officials of Member States of the European Union and amending Directive (EU) 2017/1371 of the European Parliament and of the Council

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Article 82(1) point (d), and Article 83(1) and (2) thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,

After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national parliaments,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure,

Whereas:

- (1) Corruption remains a significant problem at the Union level, threatening the stability and security of societies, including by enabling organised and other serious crime. Corruption undermines democratic institutions and universal values on which the Union is founded, particularly the rule of law, democracy, equality and the protection of fundamental rights. It jeopardises development, prosperity and the sustainability and inclusiveness of our economies. In order to effectively prevent and combat corruption, a comprehensive and multidisciplinary approach is required. The purpose of this Directive is to tackle corruption by means of criminal law, allowing for better cross-border cooperation between competent authorities.

- (2) Council Framework Decision 2003/568/JHA² lays down requirements on the criminalisation of corruption concerning the private sector. The Convention drawn up on the basis of Article K.3(2)(c) of the Treaty on European Union on the fight against corruption involving officials of the European Communities or officials of Member States of the European Union³ addresses certain acts of corruption involving officials of the European Communities or officials of the Member States in general. These instruments are, however, not sufficiently comprehensive, and the current criminalisation of corruption varies across Member States hampering a coherent and effective response across the Union. Enforcement gaps and obstacles in cooperation between the competent authorities of different Member States have also emerged. This Directive aims to amend and expand the provisions of those instruments. Since the amendments to be made are of substantial number and nature, both instruments should, in the interests of clarity, be replaced in their entirety in relation to the Member States bound by this Directive.
- (3) The existing legal framework should be updated and strengthened to facilitate an effective fight against corruption across the Union. This Directive aims to criminalise corruption offences when committed intentionally. Intention and knowledge may be inferred from objective and factual circumstances. As this Directive provides for minimum rules, Member States remain free to adopt or maintain more stringent criminal law rules for corruption offences.
- (4) Corruption is a transnational phenomenon that affects all societies and economies. Measures adopted at national or Union level, should recognise this international dimension. Union action should therefore take into account the work of the Group of States against Corruption of the Council of Europe (GRECO), the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) and the United Nations Office against Drugs and Crime (UNODC).

² Council Framework Decision 2003/568/JHA of 22 July 2003 on combating corruption in the private sector (OJ L 192/54, 31.7.2003).

- (5) To effectively tackle ~~root out~~ corruption, both preventive and repressive mechanisms are needed. Member States are encouraged to take a wide range of preventive, legislative and cooperative measures as part of the fight against corruption. Whereas corruption is first and foremost a crime and specific ~~aets of~~ corruption offences and corruption related offences are defined in national and international law, failings in integrity, undisclosed conflicts of interests or serious breaches of ~~ethical~~ integrity rules can ~~become~~ result in corruption activities offences if left unaddressed. Prevention of corruption refers to the identification assessment, and mitigation of corruption risks, through development and implementation of a system of appropriate measures. The prevention of corruption mitigates the need for criminal repression and has wider benefits in promoting public trust and managing the conduct of public officials. Effective anti-corruption approaches often build on measures to enhance transparency, ~~ethics~~ and integrity, as well as by regulating in areas such as conflict of interest, lobbying and revolving doors. Public bodies should seek the highest standards of integrity, transparency and ~~independence~~ freedom from undue influence as an important part of tackling corruption more broadly. As the private sector also plays a key role in preventing and detecting corruption, Member States can encourage the elaboration and implementation of robust and effective compliance mechanisms within private companies. In order to ensure a common approach regarding the effectiveness of such compliance programs, which can include notably a risk map, a code of conduct, third-party evaluation as well as internal control and audit, Member States can cooperate in elaborating common guidelines.

(6) Without prejudice to their institutional and administrative autonomy, Member States should have in place bodies or organisational units ~~specialised in~~ tasked with the repression and ~~specialised in~~ the prevention of corruption. Member States ~~may are not~~ obliged to create new bodies or organisational units, including the creation of specialised courts or tribunals, under this Directive, and can decide to entrust ~~a the~~ the same body or organisational unit with ~~both a combination of~~ preventive and repressive ~~law enforcement~~ functions as well as with tasks related to other criminal offences, such as organised crime. In accordance with the principle of Member States' autonomy, such bodies or units do not necessarily need to be central bodies or organisation units. In full respect of Member States' institutional and administrative autonomy, when such anti-corruption bodies have a power to take decisions on cases brought to their attention or identified by them, or make any recommendations as they consider necessary, they should operate without undue interference. In order to ensure that these bodies or units operate effectively, ~~they should meet a number of conditions, including having the independence,~~ Member States should ensure that resources and powers allocated to those bodies and organisational units ~~that are commensurate necessary to~~ ensure the proper administration of their tasks.

- (7) The EU is a party to the United Nations Convention Against Corruption (UNCAC), which is the most comprehensive international legal instrument to combat corruption, combining measures to prevent and fight corruption. It requires that parties to the Convention take legislative and other measures to establish criminal offences for bribery, misappropriation and money laundering and consider taking legislative or other measures to criminalise other acts (such as abuse of functions, trading in influence and illicit enrichment). In line with the commitments contained in the Political Declaration adopted at the 2021 UN General Assembly Special Session against Corruption, the European Union should, to the extent possible and in line with the ultima ratio principle, go beyond the minimum requirements of UNCAC and lay down additional measures for preventing and combating corruption. This Directive draws on the observations and best practices emanating from the Mechanism for the Review of Implementation of the UNCAC.
- (8) Taking account of the evolution of corruption threats and the legal obligations on the Union and Member States under international law, as well as the development of national legal frameworks, the definition of corruption offences should be further approximated in all Member States so that it covers corrupt conduct more comprehensively.

- (9) To avoid impunity for corruption offences in the public sector, the scope of application needs to be well defined. First of all, the concept of public official should also cover relevant persons working in international organisations, including the institutions, agencies and bodies of the European Union and international courts. ~~This should, amongst other things, encompass persons acting as members of collegial bodies responsible for deciding on the guilt of an accused person in the framework of a trial, as well as persons who by virtue of an arbitration agreement are called upon to render a legally binding decision in disputes submitted by the parties to the arbitration agreement.~~ Secondly, many entities or persons nowadays exercise public functions without holding a formal office. Therefore, the concept of public official is defined to cover all relevant officials, whether appointed, elected or employed on the basis of a contract, holding a formal administrative or judicial office, as well as all persons providing a public service, which have been vested with public authority or who are subject to the control or supervision of public authorities in relation to the carrying out of such a public service function, even if they do not hold formal office. For the purposes of this Directive, the definition should cover persons ~~working~~ performing public service functions in state-owned and state-controlled enterprises, as well as in asset management foundations and privately-owned companies performing public service functions and in the legal persons established or maintained by them. Any person holding a legislative office at national, regional or local level should be ~~treated~~ assimilated to a national as a public official for the purposes of this Directive in accordance with national law.

- (9a) High level officials should be understood as persons who exercise key executive, administrative, legislative or judicial functions. These tasks can include actively participating in the development and/or the execution of governmental functions, determining and implementing policies, enforcing laws, proposing and/or implementing legislation, adopting and implementing by-laws/normative decrees, taking decisions on government expenditure and taking decisions on appointment of individuals to key executive, administrative, legislative or judicial functions, as well as deciding on court cases. High level officials can include national officials such as heads of central and regional government, members of central and regional government, deputy ministers, state secretaries, key political advisers, heads and members of a minister's private office or cabinet when such have been established, as well as members of parliamentary chambers, members of Constitutional and Supreme Courts, the Prosecutor General, and members of Supreme Audit Institutions.
- (10) It is necessary to strengthen the legal framework to combat bribery and to provide law enforcement and prosecution with the ~~necessary~~ effective and proportionate tools. In bribery of public officials, there are two sides to distinguish. Active bribery exists when a person promises, offers or gives an undue advantage of any kind to influence a public official. Passive bribery exists when the public official requests or receives such undue advantages, or accepts the offer or the promise thereof in order to act or to refrain from acting in a certain way. This Directive should also set minimum rules on bribery and other forms of corruption in the private sector, where the immediate victims include companies that are impacted unfairly and where free competition is can be diminished by ~~each~~ payments offered or accepted.

- (10a) Conduct in breach of professional duties by directors or workers of private-sector entities in the course of economic, financial or business activities can be detrimental to the interests of the private-sector company, and can also distort competition in relation to the purchase of goods or commercial services to the detriment of both would-be competitors and the general public. The offence of bribery in the private sector aims to deter both kinds of harm. It does so by preventing third parties from interfering in the fair conduct of business by promising, offering or giving any undue advantage to directors or workers of private-sector entities for them to act or to refrain from acting, in breach of their duties (active bribery). The offence also forbids directors and workers of private-sector entities to request or receive any undue advantage, or to accept the offer or the promise thereof, to act or to refrain from acting, in breach of that person’s duties (passive bribery). The concept of “breach of duty” shall be understood in accordance with national constitutions, law or other applicable rules and should cover as a minimum the breach of statutory duties and professional regulations or instructions, which apply within that business.
- (11) In order to ensure that public officials do not intentionally damage the financial interests of the public or private entity concerned by using funds for purposes other than they were intended, it is necessary to lay down rules on the offence of misappropriation by public officials of property whose management is entrusted to them. In order for misappropriation to be criminal, it should lead to an advantage for the public official or a third party. In order to take a comprehensive approach to the fight against corruption, ~~this Directive should~~ Member States are also encouraged to cover criminalise misappropriation in the private sector. ~~In order for misappropriation to be criminal, it should lead to an advantage for the public official or a third party.~~

- (12) ~~Trading in influence, arising from the corrupt behaviour of those persons who are or claim to be in the proximity of power and try to exchange promises of exerting influence over decision-making processes in return for undue advantages should also be defined as a criminal offence. The constituent elements of the criminal offence should be that the instigator provides, or promises to provide the influence peddler with an undue advantage for exerting unlawful influence over an outcome or a process that is subject to decision-making. When carried out intentionally, this behaviour should be considered~~ The exertion of influence over public decision-makers with a view to obtaining an undue advantage can seriously hamper the proper functioning of public administrations. To adequately tackle it, the constituent elements of the offence of trading in influence must cover two different situations, when carried out intentionally. First, the offence must cover the promising, offering or giving of any undue advantage aimed at the exertion of illicit influence with a view to obtaining an undue advantage from a public official. Secondly, it must also cover the request, receipt of any undue advantage, or the acceptance of an offer or a promise thereof, with a view to obtaining an undue advantage from a public official. Such conduct must constitute a criminal offence irrespective of whether the influence was exerted and whether or not the ~~claimed~~ influence ~~leads~~ led to the outcome intended. This offence should not cover the legitimate exercise of acknowledged forms of interest representation which may seek to legitimately influence public decision-making but do not entail an undue exchange of advantages. Such forms of interest representation, such as advocacy ~~for example~~, are often carried out in a regulated environment precisely for avoiding that a lack of transparency may allow them to become gateways to corruption. Having in place well-functioning additional rules on disclosing conflicts of interest, on ‘revolving-doors’ or on the financing of political parties, can also help to avoid grey areas and prevent undue influence.

- (13) Moreover, ~~it is necessary to define~~ the offence of abuse of functions in the public sector ~~as a~~ is the failure to perform an act by a public official, in violation of laws, to obtain an undue advantage. Member States should consider criminalising such conducts at national level. ~~In order to comprehensively fight corruption, this Directive should also cover abuse of functions in the private sector.~~
- (14) Members States' criminal law acknowledges Obstruction of justice ~~is as~~ a criminal offence committed in support of, amongst other offences, corruption. It is therefore necessary to ~~lay down a criminal offence for~~ incriminate the obstruction of justice, which entails the exercise of physical force, threats or intimidation, or the inducement of false testimony or evidence. Actions to interfere in the giving of testimony or production of evidence, or with the exercise of official duties by judicial or law enforcement officials should also be covered. In line with the UNCAC, this Directive only applies to the obstruction of justice concerning proceedings relating to a corruption offence. When transposing this Directive, Member States should not be obliged to lay down a specific offence of obstruction of justice relating to corruption offences as established in chapter 2 of this Directive, where their national law includes a general provision incriminating the obstruction of justice, applicable to all offences, including, but not limited to, corruption. Member States are also free to criminalise such conducts through several criminal offences at national level.

- (15) Corruption feeds off the motivation for undue economic and other advantages. In order to reduce the incentive for individuals and criminal organisations to commit new criminal acts and deter individuals from consenting to becoming fake property owners, enrichment by corruption offences should be criminalised. This should, in turn, complicate the concealment of illicitly acquired property and reduce the spread of corruption as well as the damage done to society. Transparency helps competent authorities to detect possible illicit enrichment. For example, in jurisdictions where public officials are required to declare their assets at regular intervals, including when taking up and completing duties, authorities can assess whether the declared assets correspond to declared incomes.

(16) The criminal offence of enrichment ~~builds upon the rules on the criminal offence of money laundering laid down in Directive (EU) 2018/1673 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁴. It is meant to~~ incriminate the deed of a public official who acquires, possesses or uses property which the public official knows to be derived from corruption offences committed by a different public official ~~address those cases where the judiciary considers that the corruption offence or offences cannot be proven. Like the predicate offence in money laundering, the burden of proof is of a different nature. This means that in criminal proceedings regarding the criminal offence of enrichment, The offence of illicit enrichment is without prejudice to the conduct provided for in Article 3 of the Directive (EU) 2018/1673 of the European Parliament and of the Council on combating money laundering by criminal law, and in particular paragraph 5 thereof, where applicable. W~~hen considering whether property is derived from any kind of criminal involvement in a corruption offence and whether the person had knowledge of that, the specific circumstances of each case should be taken into account, such as the fact that the value of the property is disproportionate to the lawful income of the accused person and that the criminal activity and acquisition of property occurred within the same time frame. It should not be necessary to establish knowledge of all the factual elements or all circumstances relating to the criminal involvement, including the identity of the perpetrator. ~~When a person is convicted of a criminal offence as defined in this Directive~~ In addition, the proceeds obtained from corruption offences can be confiscated ~~the competent authorities can recover the illicitly obtained property on the basis of Directive 2021/41260/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 3-24 April 2024 2024 on the freezing asset recovery and confiscation of instrumentalities and proceeds of crime in the European Union⁵.~~

⁵ Directive (EU) 2021/42/EU1260 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 324 April 2014 on the freezing asset recovery and confiscation of instrumentalities and proceeds of crime in the European Union (OJ L 127/39, 29.4.2014, p. 39).

- (17) In order to deter corruption throughout the Union, Member States should lay down minimum types and levels of ~~sanctions~~ criminal and non criminal penalties when the criminal offences defined in this Directive are committed. The maximum levels of imprisonment and other penalties should be sufficiently high to deter possible offenders and to reflect the harmfulness of corruption ~~and the priority that the competent authorities should give to combat such offences~~. At the same time, these levels should be proportionate to the seriousness of each corruption offence and be coherent with levels of criminal ~~sanctions~~ penalties set in Union and national law. Member States should ensure that ~~sanctions~~ penalties are enforced to the extent necessary in order to deter the commission of those offences. ~~Where the Member States consider~~ If national law establishes the eventuality of suspended or conditional sentences, early release, parole or pardoning of persons convicted of any of the offences referred to in this Directive, judicial authorities should be able to take into account the seriousness of the criminal offences concerned among other factors. This directive is without prejudice to the general rules and principles of national criminal law on the application and execution of sentences in accordance with the concrete circumstances in each individual case.
- (18) This Directive does not affect the proper and effective application of disciplinary measures or penalties other than those of a criminal nature, such as administrative ~~sanctions~~ penalties. ~~Sanctions~~ Penalties that cannot be equated to criminal ~~sanctions~~ penalties, which are imposed on the same person for the same conduct, can be taken into account when sentencing that person for a criminal offence defined by this Directive. ~~For sanctions of criminal nature,~~ The principle of prohibition of being tried or punished twice in criminal proceedings for the same criminal offence (ne bis in idem) should be fully respected.

- (19) The competent authorities should be able to impose, in addition or as an alternative to imprisonment, ~~sanctions~~ penalties or measures, that are not necessarily of a criminal nature, such as the ~~temporary or permanent disqualification from holding public office or the exclusion from public procurement~~ tender procedures. Such measures have a general dissuasive effect and may reduce the recidivism of convicted offenders. Member States should also consider establishing procedures for the suspension or temporary reassignment of a public official accused of a criminal offence as referred to in this Directive, bearing in mind the need to respect the principle of the presumption of innocence and the right to an effective remedy.
- (19a) In order to enhance the criminal justice response to offences concerning corruption and to deter the commission of those offences, the sanctions regime against legal persons and natural persons should be clarified and brought in line with other Union criminal law instruments. Under to Directive 2014/24/EU, Directive 2014/25/EU, Directive 2014/23/EU and Directive 2009/81/EC, a conviction, by way of final judgement, for corruption is grounds for an exclusion from participating in a procurement procedure or a concession award procedure. Nevertheless, Member States should also be able to decide to include, among the criminal or non-criminal sanctions or measures which can be imposed on legal persons and natural persons, the exclusion of such legal persons from tender procedures or concessions, in order to also cover procurements and concessions below the thresholds of the relevant directives.
- (20) Legal persons should not be able to avoid responsibility by using intermediaries, including related legal persons, to offer, promise or give a bribe to a public official on its behalf. Moreover, fines for legal persons should be calculated considering ~~their~~ worldwide turnover of all legal entities related to the offender, ~~including parent entities, subsidiary entities, linked trusts, or similar or comparable legal entities.~~ or based on fixed maximum amounts.

- (21) Where the offence is committed by a criminal organisation within the meaning of Council Framework Decision 2008/841/JHA⁶ or where the perpetrator abused their position to enable corruption, it is important that courts are able to take this into account as Member States should provide for aggravating circumstances in accordance with the applicable rules established by their legal systems. Whilst subject to judicial discretion, these aggravating circumstances ~~should~~ allow the judiciary to take into account the broader societal damage caused, for example by corruption perpetrated by organised groups, political parties, or persons holding positions of public responsibility. Member States should not be obliged to provide for any of the aggravating circumstances in this Directive when those circumstances are punishable as separate criminal offences ~~with~~ and this can lead to more severe sanctions penalties under national law.
- ~~(22) Corruption for the benefit of a third country has a particularly detrimental impact on democratic institutions and political life of the Member States and the Union. Member States should thus provide for an aggravating circumstance to cover such situations. Such an aggravating circumstance should cover corruption offences, such as bribery or trading in influence, that are committed with a view to create an advantage for a third country, such as altering the public decision-making in order to come to a decision that is favourable to the third country.~~

(223) ~~It is important that courts Member States should ensure that~~ can take into account mitigating circumstances ~~are laid down in national legislation~~ in relation to the offences covered by this Directive, in accordance with the applicable rules established by their legal systems. Subject to judicial discretion, these circumstances should cover those cases in which offenders provide information or otherwise collaborate with authorities. Similarly, where legal persons have implemented genuine, effective and duly assessed internal controls, ethics, and compliance programmes, it should be possible to consider these actions as a mitigating circumstance when sanctioning such legal persons. Lower ~~sanctions~~ penalties should also be considered where, upon discovery of an offence, a legal person swiftly discloses information and takes remedial measures. In any case, it should remain within the discretion of the judge or the court to determine the actual amount of the sanction, taking into account all the circumstances of the individual case, including, where applicable, the fact that the legal person has compliance programmes only for cosmetic purposes, also called "window dressing".

(234) Members of Parliament and other public officials may have immunity or legal protection from investigation or prosecution, which helps strengthen their independence by protecting them against unfounded complaints, in particular with regard to opinions expressed or votes cast in the course of performing their functions. However, such immunities may hamper effective investigation and prosecution of corruption offences, including by affecting the detection and investigation or prosecution of other persons who do not enjoy immunity and may have participated in the offence. ~~Moreover, the application of immunity without appropriate procedures to lift immunity in cases where there are grounds to suspect participation in criminal acts undermines the credibility of public institutions.~~ There should therefore be an appropriate balance between, on the one hand, any immunities or jurisdictional privileges accorded to public officials for acts performed in the exercise of their functions, and on the other hand, the possibility of effectively investigating, prosecuting and adjudicating corruption offences. Member States should ensure that privileges or immunities from investigation and prosecution granted to national officials for the offences referred to in this Directive can be lifted. However, Member States should not be obliged to change their national constitutions and constitutional principles when transposing this Directive. In the transposition of this Directive into national law as well as in the application of national law transposing this Directive, those privileges and immunities, including the respect for the freedom of the Member's mandate, are fully taken into account. This directive should not affect the legitimate exercise of acknowledged forms of interest representation which may seek to legitimately influence public decision-making but do not entail an undue exchange of advantages. Interest representation is important for the creation of policy that is supported by civil society and can contribute legitimately to the public sector.

- ~~(25) In order to increase trust in prosecution services whilst reducing the perception of corruption in Member States, discretionary powers under domestic law not to prosecute persons for criminal offences referred to in this Directive on opportunity grounds should be exercised in accordance with clear rules and criteria and guarantee, with appropriate internal consultation, as well as the aim of deterring the commission of corruption offences and the effectiveness of the judicial process.~~
- (246) Given, in particular, the mobility of certain perpetrators and proceeds stemming from criminal activities, as well as the complex cross-border investigations required to combat corruption, all Member States should establish their jurisdiction in order to enable the competent authorities to investigate and prosecute this crime effectively ~~in a sufficient wide range of cases~~ including when the offence is committed in whole or in part in its territory. As part of that obligation, Member States should ensure that jurisdiction is also established in situations where an offence is committed by means of information system used on their territory, whether or not that technology is based in their territory.
- (257) In order to ensure that the competent authorities have sufficient time to conduct complex investigations and prosecutions, this Directive provides for a minimum limitation period that enables the detection, investigation, prosecution and judicial decision of corruption offences for a sufficient period of time after the commission of such offences, without affecting those Member States which do not set limitation periods for investigation, prosecution and enforcement.

(268) Corruption offences ~~are~~ can be a difficult ~~category of crime~~ to identify and investigate, as they mostly occur in hiding ~~as part of a conspiracy between two or more willing parties and lack an immediate and obvious victim who could complain~~. Thus, a significant proportion of corruption crime remains undetected, and the criminal parties are able to benefit from the proceeds of their corruption. The longer it takes to detect a corruption offence, the more difficult it is to uncover evidence. Therefore, it should be ensured that law enforcement and competent authorities ~~prosecutors~~ have appropriate investigative tools to gather relevant evidence of corruption offences which often affect more than one Member State. Furthermore, Member States should allocate sufficient training, in close coordination with the European Union Agency for Law Enforcement Training (CEPOL), also on the use of investigative tools to successfully carry out proceedings and the identification and quantification of proceeds of corruption in the context of ~~freezing~~ asset recovery and confiscation. In addition, this Directive facilitates the gathering of information and evidence by setting out mitigating circumstances for offenders that help the authorities. The training of law enforcement and the judicial authority should concern criminal investigation and criminal proceedings of offences falling within the scope of this Directive.

(279) Persons reporting information to competent authorities concerning past, ongoing or planned instances of corruption, which they have acquired in the context of their work-related activities, risk suffering retaliation in that context. Such whistleblowers' reports can strengthen enforcement by enabling the competent authorities to effectively prevent, detect and prosecute corruption. Given the public interest in shielding public and private institutions from such acts, and in enhancing transparency, good governance and accountability, it is necessary to ensure that effective arrangements are in place to enable whistleblowers to use confidential channels, to alert competent authorities and to protect them from retaliation. Directive (EU) 2019/1937 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁷ applies to reports of breaches affecting the financial interests of the Union as referred to in Article 325 of the Treaty and as further specified in relevant Union measures and thus applies to the reporting of all criminal offences falling within the scope of Directive (EU) 2017/1371 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁸. As regards the criminal offences referred to in this Directive, Directive (EU) 2019/1937 should be applicable to the reporting of such offences and to the protection of persons reporting such offences under the conditions established therein. ~~Beyond the obligations flowing from Directive (EU) 2019/1937,~~ Competent national authorities should furthermore ensure that persons providing evidence or otherwise cooperating with criminal investigations are given the necessary protection, support and assistance in the context of criminal proceedings, where appropriate. Such protection, support and assistance may include witness protection, being heard anonymously or providing legal aid.

⁷ Directive (EU) 2019/1937 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 23 October 2019 on the protection of persons who report breaches of Union law (OJ L 305 26.11.2019).

(2830) Independent civil society organisations are crucial for the well-functioning of our democracies, and play a key role in upholding the common values on which the EU is founded. They act as essential watchdogs, drawing attention to threats to the rule of law, contributing to making those in powers accountable, and ensuring respect for fundamental rights. Member States should promote the participation of civil society in anti-corruption activities, where appropriate.

(2931) Media pluralism and media freedom are key enablers for the rule of law, democratic accountability, equality and the fight against corruption. Independent and pluralistic media, in particular investigative journalism, play an important role in the scrutiny of public affairs, detecting possible corruption and integrity breaches, raising awareness and promoting integrity. Member States have an obligation to guarantee an enabling environment for journalists, protect their safety and pro-actively promote media freedom and media pluralism. The Commission's Recommendation on the protection, safety and empowerment of journalists⁹, as well as ~~the proposal for a~~ Directive (EU) 2024/1069¹⁰ and a Commission Recommendation¹¹ on protecting persons who engage in public participation from manifestly unfounded or abusive court proceedings ('Strategic lawsuits against public participation') include important safeguards and standards to ensure that journalists, human rights defenders and others can carry out their role unhindered.

- ~~(3032)~~ Member States should collect and publish data concerning the application of this Directive, which can be analysed and used by the Commission in the context of the monitoring, implementation and evaluation of the Directive, as well as the application of any of the Rule of Law tools, such as the annual Rule of Law report.
- (313) To combat corruption effectively, efficient exchange of information between competent authorities responsible for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of corruption offences is crucial. Member States should ensure that information is exchanged in an effective and timely manner in accordance with national and Union law. This Directive, which aims to lay down common definitions of corruption offences, should serve as a benchmark for information exchange and cooperation between the competent national authorities under Directives (EU) XX/2023¹², (EU) 2019/1153¹³, (EU) 2016/681¹⁴ of the European Parliament and of the Council, Regulations (EU) 2018/1240¹⁵, (EU) 2018/1862¹⁶ and (EU) 603/2013¹⁷ of the European Parliament and of the Council, Council Decision 2008/633/JHA¹⁸.

(324) Corruption is a cross-cutting issue, while vulnerabilities differ from sector to sector, as well as the most adequate way to tackle them. Member States should therefore, regularly when necessary, perform an assessment to identify the sectors or occupations most at risk of corruption and develop ~~risk management plans~~ measures, such as national plans, to address the main risks in the sectors identified, including by organising, ~~at least once a year~~ as appropriate, awareness-raising actions adapted to the specificities of the sectors or occupations identified. Member States that have broad national anti-corruption strategies in place, may also choose to address their ~~risk assessments and risk management plans~~ measures therein, as long as the risks are assessed and the measures are reviewed ~~regularly~~ when necessary. For instance, investor residence schemes are among the sectors that bear high risks for corruption¹⁹, and should therefore be included in the assessments of the sectors most at risk of corruption and the trainings to be conducted by Member States as provided for by this Directive.

- ~~(35) To provide for an equivalent level of protection between the Union's and the national financial interests, the provisions of Directive (EU) 2017/1371²⁰ should be aligned with those of this Directive. To this end, the rules applicable to criminal offences affecting the Union's financial interests as regards sanctions, aggravating and mitigating circumstances and limitation periods should be equivalent to those laid down by this Directive.~~
- (336) The implementation of this Directive should ensure a level of protection of the national ~~Union's~~ financial interests which is equivalent to the protection of the Union's national financial interests.
- (347) Since the objective of this Directive, namely to subject corruption in all Member States to effective, proportionate and dissuasive criminal penalties, cannot be sufficiently achieved by Member States but can rather, by reason of the scale and effects of this Directive, be better achieved at Union level, the Union may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty on European Union. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Directive does not go beyond what is necessary to achieve that objective.
- (358) The intended dissuasive effect of the application of criminal law ~~sanctions~~ penalties requires particular caution with regard to fundamental rights. This Directive respects fundamental rights and observes the principles recognised in particular by the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union (the 'Charter') and in particular the right to liberty and security, the protection of personal data, the freedom to choose an occupation and right to engage in work, the freedom to conduct a business, the right to property, the right to an effective remedy and to a fair trial, the presumption of innocence and the right of defence, the principles of the legality and proportionality of criminal offences and ~~sanctions~~ penalties, as well as the principle of ne bis in idem.

AND/OR

~~(40) In accordance with Articles 1 and 2 of Protocol (No 21) on the position of the United Kingdom and Ireland in respect of the area of freedom, security and justice, annexed to the Treaty on European Union and to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and without prejudice to Article 4 of that Protocol, Ireland is not taking part in the adoption and application of this Directive and are not bound by it or subject to its application.]~~

(374) In accordance with Articles 1 and 2 of Protocol (No 22) on the position of Denmark annexed to the Treaty on the European Union and to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, Denmark is not taking part in the adoption of this Directive and is not bound by it or subject to its application. Council Framework Decision 2003/568/JHA shall continue to be binding upon and applicable to Denmark.

HAVE ADOPTED THIS DIRECTIVE:

CHAPTER 1 – GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1

Subject matter and scope

This Directive establishes minimum rules concerning the definition of criminal offences and criminal and non criminal sanctions-penalties in the area of corruption, as well as measures to better prevent and fight corruption.

Article 2

Definitions

For the purposes of this Directive, the following definitions apply:

- ~~1. ‘prevention of corruption’ refers to the detection and elimination of the causes of and conditions for corruption, through development and implementation of a system of appropriate measures, as well as deterrence against corruption-related acts.~~
12. ‘property’ means funds or assets of any kind, whether corporeal or incorporeal, movable or immovable, tangible or intangible, and legal documents or instruments in any form, including electronic or digital, evidencing title to, or an interest in, such assets.

23. 'public official' means:

(a) a Union official or a national official of a Member State or of a third country,

i. 4.—'Union official' means a person who is:

~~a. a member of an institution, body, office or agency of the Union and the staff of such bodies shall be assimilated to Union officials.~~

~~b.~~ a. an official or other servant engaged under contract by the Union within the meaning of the Staff Regulations of Officials and the Conditions of Employment of Other Servants of the European Union laid down in Council Regulation (EEC, Euratom, ECSC) No 259/68 (the 'Staff Regulations');

~~e.~~ b. seconded to the Union by a Member State or by any public or private body, who carries out functions equivalent to those performed by Union officials or other servants.

Members of an institution, body, office or agency of the Union and the staff of such bodies shall be assimilated to Union officials, in as much as the Staff Regulations do not apply to them.

ii. 'national official' means any person holding an executive, administrative, or judicial office at national, regional or local level, whether appointed or elected, or employed on the basis of a contract, whether permanent or temporary, whether paid or unpaid, irrespective of that person's seniority. Any person holding a legislative office at national, regional or local level ~~is considered~~ shall be assimilated to a national official in accordance with national law for the purpose of this Directive.

- iii. ‘high level officials’ means public officials who are entrusted with key executive, administrative, legislative or judicial functions in accordance with national law. The provisions of this Directive concerning high level official shall be understood without prejudice to immunities and privileges established under national constitutions or laws.
- (b) any other person assigned and exercising a public service function including those mandated by or under the authority of a public authority in Member States or third countries, in accordance with national law.
- (c) a person assigned and exercising a public service function for an international organisation or for an international court in accordance with national law.
35. ‘Arbitrator’ means any person called upon to render a legally binding decision in disputes submitted by the parties to the arbitration agreement where their status is set out in national law.
45. ‘Juror’ means any person acting as a member of a body responsible for deciding on the guilt of an accused person in the framework of a trial, in accordance with national law.
56. ‘breach of duty’ covers as a minimum any ~~disloyal~~ behaviour constituting a breach of a statutory duty, or, as the case may be, a breach of professional regulations or instructions, which apply within the business of a person who in any capacity directs or works for a private sector entity.
67. ‘legal person’ means any entity having legal personality under the applicable national law, except for States or public bodies in the exercise of State authority and for public international organisations.

~~8. 'high level officials' are heads of state, heads of central and regional government, members of central and regional government, as well as other political appointees who hold a high level public office such as deputy ministers, state secretaries, heads and members of a minister's private office, and senior political officials, as well as members of parliamentary chambers, members of highest Courts, such as Constitutional and Supreme Courts, and members of Supreme Audit Institutions.~~

Prevention of corruption

- ~~1. Member States shall take appropriate action, such as information and awareness-raising campaigns and research and education programmes, to raise public awareness on the harmfulness of corruption and reduce the overall commission of corruption offences as well as the risk of corruption.~~
- ~~2. Member States shall take measures to ensure the highest degree of transparency and accountability in public administration and public decision-making with a view to prevent corruption.~~
- ~~3. Member States shall take measures to ensure that key preventive tools such as an open access to information of public interest, effective rules for the disclosure and management of conflicts of interests in the public sector, effective rules for the disclosure and verification of assets of public officials and effective rules regulating the interaction between the private and the public sector are in place.~~

- ~~4. Member States shall adopt comprehensive and up-to-date measures to prevent corruption in both the public and private sectors, adapted to the specific risks of an area of activity. Such measures shall at least include actions to strengthen integrity and to prevent opportunities for corruption among:~~
- ~~(a) high level officials;~~
 - ~~(b) members of law enforcement and the judiciary, including measures relating to their appointment and conduct, and by ensuring adequate remuneration and equitable pay scales.~~
- ~~5. Member States shall regularly perform an assessment to identify the sectors most at risk of corruption.~~
- ~~Following that assessment, Member States shall:~~
- ~~(a) organise, at least once a year, awareness-raising actions adapted to the specificities of the sectors identified, including on ethics; and~~
 - ~~(b) develop plans to address the main risks in the sectors identified.~~
- ~~6. Where appropriate, Member States shall take measures to promote the participation of civil society, non-governmental organizations and community-based organizations in anti-corruption activities.~~

Article 4

Specialised bodies

1. ~~Member States shall take the necessary measures to ensure that one or several bodies, or organisation units specialised in the prevention of corruption is or are in place.~~
2. ~~Member States shall take the necessary measures to ensure that one or several bodies, or organisational units specialised in the repression of corruption is or are in place.~~
3. ~~Member States shall take the necessary measures to ensure that the body or bodies, or an organisation unit or units as referred to in paragraph 1 and 2:~~
 - (a) ~~are functionally independent from the government and have a sufficient number of qualified staff and the financial, technical and technological resources, as well as the powers and tools necessary to ensure the proper administration of their tasks;~~
 - (b) ~~are known to the public;~~
 - (c) ~~provide public access to relevant information on the exercise of their activities, with due regard for the protection of personal data and the confidentiality of investigations;~~
