Subject:	Proposal for a REGULATION OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL on enhancing police cooperation in relation to the prevention, detection and investigation of migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, and on enhancing Europol's support to preventing and combating such crimes and amending Regulation (EU) 2016/794 - Confirmation of the final compromise text with a view to agreement
----------	---

I. INTRODUCTION

1. On 28 November 2023, the Commission submitted to the Council and the European Parliament a legislative package to fight migrant smuggling. This package included a proposal for a Directive¹ laying down rules to prevent and counter the facilitation of unauthorised entry, transit and stay in the Union and a proposal for a Regulation² to enhance police cooperation, as well as Europol's support for the fight against migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings.

2. The legal basis of the Commission proposal for a Regulation is Articles 85, 87 and 88 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU).
3. In accordance with Article 3 of the Protocol (No 21) on the position of the United Kingdom and Ireland in respect of the area of freedom, security and justice, annexed to the Treaty on European Union and the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, Ireland has announced its desire to take part in the adoption and application of this Regulation.
4. In accordance with Articles 1 and 2 of Protocol No 22 on the position of Denmark, annexed to the Treaty on European Union and to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, Denmark is not participating in the adoption of this Regulation and is not bound by it or subject to its application.

II. WORK IN OTHER INSTITUTIONS

5. In the European Parliament (EP), the Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs (LIBE) has the lead responsibility. Mr Jeroen LENAERS (EPP/NL) was appointed rapporteur. The EP requested the preparation of an impact assessment of its own. The LIBE draft report was adopted on 20 May 2025. The Committee decision to enter interinstitutional negotiations was then confirmed by the EP plenary on 18 June 2025.³
6. The European Data Protection Supervisor delivered its opinion on 23 January 2024⁴.

III. WORK IN THE COUNCIL'S PREPARATORY BODIES

7. The proposal was discussed at the Law Enforcement Working Party – Police (LEWP-P) meetings held on 1 December 2023, 19 January, 16 February, 30 April, 8 May, 3 June and 14 June 2024.
8. The Permanent Representatives Committee confirmed agreement on the text of the mandate for negotiations with the EP on 19 June 2024.⁵

IV. INTERINSTITUTIONAL NEGOTIATIONS

9. The opening trilogue took place on 26 June 2025 and a mandate was given to negotiate at the technical level.
10. Four interinstitutional technical meetings took place, on 2 and 16 July and on 5 and 22 September. The outcome of these meetings was presented to the Justice and Home Affairs Counsellors meetings on 14 June and 17 September.
11. At the final trilogue on 25 September, the co-legislators reached a provisional political agreement on the overall compromise text annexed to this note.

V. MAIN ELEMENTS OF THE COMPROMISE TEXT

12. The following key elements are included in the compromise provisionally agreed with the EP:

- Operational task forces (OTFs)

The co-legislators agreed on strengthened obligations to share relevant information, exchanged within the OTFs, with Europol and other involved Member States. The flexibility for this operational instrument is preserved.

- Europol's deployments for operational support

The compromise text ensures information sharing between Europol's deployed staff and the Member States. This will enhance the capacities of law enforcement agencies with analytical, operational, technical and forensic support in the context of complex, large-scale and high-profile investigations.

- Involvement of Member States' Immigration Liaison Officers

To close the intelligence gap, Europol will receive information from the Member States Immigration Liaison Officers deployed in third countries. This information can be shared either directly – using Europol's Secure Information Exchange Network Application (SIENA) – or indirectly via the competent national authorities.

- Enhancement of Europol's support for the European Multidisciplinary Platform Against Criminal Threats (EMPACT).

The compromise text strengthens the support provided by Europol to EMPACT operational and strategic activities led by Member States, including the related information exchange.

- Establishment of European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling (ECMS).

The co-legislators agreed to establish the ECMS as a permanent structure in Europol, including the participation of Eurojust and Frontex, in line with their respective mandates. The description of tasks and composition of the Centre remain general, to allow the Management Board to implement more detailed provisions.

- Addition of 'violation of Union restrictive measures' to the list of crimes for which Europol is responsible (Annex I).

The violation of Union restrictive measures is added to Europol's list of crimes, in order to effectively support Member States that are increasingly confronted with this form of crime.

- Additional resources for Europol

The co-legislators agreed to provide Europol with additional human and financial resources (50 full-time equivalents and EUR 50 million) to boost the joint efforts against migrant smuggling.

VI. CONCLUSION

13. The Permanent Representatives Committee is therefore invited to:

- (a) confirm agreement on the final compromise text in the Annex to this note, with a view to reaching an agreement at first reading with the European Parliament;
 - (b) authorise the Chair of the Permanent Representatives Committee to send a letter to inform the Chair of the European Parliament's Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs (LIBE) that, should the European Parliament adopt its position at first reading on the text of the proposal in the exact form set out in the Annex to this note, and subject to revision of that text by the lawyer-linguists of both institutions, the Council will approve the European Parliament's position and the act will be adopted in the wording which corresponds to the European Parliament's position.

Proposal for a

REGULATION OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL

~~on amending Regulation (EU) 2016/794 as regards the strengthening of Europol's support and enhancing police cooperation in relation to the prevention, detection and investigation of, for preventing and combating migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, and on enhancing Europol's support to preventing and combating such crimes and amending Regulation (EU) 2016/794~~

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular ~~Article 85(1), Article 87(2), and Article 88(2)~~ thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,

After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national parliaments,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure,

Whereas:

- (1) The European Union Agency for Law Enforcement Cooperation (Europol) was established by Regulation (EU) 2016/794 of the European Parliament and of the Council.⁶ ~~to support and strengthen action by the competent authorities of the Member States and their mutual cooperation~~

⁶ Regulation (EU) 2016/794 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 11 May 2016 on the European Union Agency for Law Enforcement Cooperation (Europol) and replacing and repealing Council Decisions 2009/371/JHA, 2009/934/JHA, 2009/935/JHA, 2009/936/JHA and 2009/968/JHA (OJ L 135 24.5.2016, p. 53, ELI: <http://data.europa.eu/eli/reg/2016/794/oj>).

~~in preventing and combating serious crime affecting two or more Member States, terrorism and forms of crime which affect a common interest covered by a Union policy.~~

- (1a) Europol's mission is to support and strengthen actions by the competent authorities of the Member States and their mutual cooperation in preventing and combating serious crime affecting two or more Member States, terrorism and forms of crime which affect a common interest covered by a Union policy, to act as the Union criminal information hub, to deliver agile operational support by being at the forefront of law enforcement innovation and research and providing European policing solutions. Europol through its core tasks of information sharing, analysis, operational and technical support provides genuine added value for the security of the European Union.
- (2) Migrant smuggling is a criminal activity that disrespects human life and dignity of people in the pursuit of profit, undermining the fundamental rights of the people concerned as well as the migration management objectives of the Union. The European Council, in its conclusions of 9 February 2023, reaffirmed the importance of the fight against smugglers and affirmed the willingness to step up its action to prevent irregular departures and loss of life, also by intensifying cooperation with countries of origin and transit. Trafficking in human beings is a serious crime, often committed within the framework of organised crime, is a gross violation of fundamental rights, and is explicitly prohibited by the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union (the 'Charter'). Preventing and combating trafficking in human beings, and supporting the victims of trafficking, regardless of their country of origin, remains a priority for the Union and the Member States. To this effect, it is also important to strengthen the response of law enforcement to migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings by reinforcing the overall capabilities of Europol, and in particular its Union centre of specialised expertise for combating migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings.

- (2a) To prevent, detect and investigate cross-border serious organised crime and terrorism, coordination and concerted action is necessary. The role of Europol in supporting Member States' criminal intelligence exchange activities and investigations has evolved significantly through the development of innovative concepts targeting criminal actors constituting a high risk for security. This support and cooperation has become more and more complex and requires specific expertise and resources that both Member States and Europol need to invest in. The use of operational task forces enables Member States, with the support of Europol, to conduct joint, coordinated and prioritised criminal intelligence exchange activities - which entails exchanging criminal intelligence, the discovery of links, the conducting of analysis - and investigations notably on criminal networks and groups as well as individual criminal actors who constitute a high risk for security. The operational task forces should be embedded as far as possible with EMPACT. When supporting this flexible, operational and temporary cooperation Europol should be able to make available its analytical, operational, technical, forensic and financial support to the participating Member States.*
- (2b) Criminal intelligence exchange activities carried out in that regard can be accompanied by the opening of criminal investigations in one or more Member States that may as a complementary approach benefit from setting up a joint investigation team in order to produce criminal evidence. In accordance with Regulation (EU) 2016/794, Europol may propose to the Member States concerned to set up a joint investigation team.*

- (3) A “European Migrant Smuggling Centre” was created in 2016 by the Management Board of Europol in accordance with Article 11(1), point (s), of Regulation (EU) 2016/794 as such a Union centre of specialised expertise. ~~It has continuously evolved since its inception and has expanded its range of~~ The increase in the criminal activities in order to provide the best support to the Member States as a dynamic platform for operational cooperation, the exchange of information, and coordination between the Member States and partners engaged in the fight against ~~of~~ migrant smuggling and the trafficking in smugglers and human beings. ~~The increases in~~ traffickers, involved in the facilitation of irregular arrivals in the Union and ~~into and~~ unauthorised movements within the Union, the rapid adaptability of criminal organised groups, and the development of new modi operandi and sophisticated methods urgently require a significant reinforcement of the role of Europol’s Union ~~that~~ centre of specialised expertise for combating migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings by establishing it as a permanent structure within Europol and by strengthening the level of its engagement in supporting the Member States in the prevention and combating of migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings. Its name should be “European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling”.
- (4) The European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling should provide strategic, operational and technical support to Member States to prevent and combat migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings. ~~As part of its strategic tasks, it should provide a framework for the implementation of strategic and operational priorities of the Union by monitoring trends in migrant smuggling and~~ Due to its work in preventing and combating trafficking in human beings. ~~To that end it, the~~ Centre should provide annual reports, strategic analyses, threat assessments and situational updates on migratory routes and modi operandi, including indications that private parties may be used for migrant smuggling and also support the identification of victims of trafficking in human beings. In the context of fulfilling its strategic and operational tasks, the European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling should cooperate ~~or other vulnerable individuals, ensuring the necessary~~ cooperation with the European External Action Service and Common Security and Defense Policy missions and operations, where appropriate and relevant, in line with their respective mandates and competences, as well as in accordance with Europol’s mandate. ~~EU anti-trafficking coordinator referred to in Directive 2024/1712/EU.~~

- (4a) In order to maximise the effectiveness of the European Centre against Migrant Smuggling and ensure the timely and systematic coordination and exchange of information on countering migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings at Union level, the Centre should include representatives of European Union Agency for Criminal Justice Cooperation and the European Border and Coast Guard Agency, in accordance with their respective mandates. The Centre also should be able to invite the Commission and the main actors of the European Multidisciplinary Platform Against Criminal Threats (EMPACT), as well as other relevant Union bodies or Agencies, such as the European Union Agency for Asylum, to assist in the activities carried out by the Centre, where the actions required fall within their mandates. Furthermore, the Centre should also be able to cooperate with Immigration Liaison Officers deployed in third countries and, where strictly necessary and proportionate, with the European External Action Service and the Common Security and Defence Policy missions, in accordance with their and Europol's respective mandates.*
- (4b) In order to ensure effective and efficient functioning of the European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling the Management Board should decide on how the European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling operates, including regarding its tasks and composition, in accordance with this Regulation.*
- (4c) The creation of the European Centre against Migrant Smuggling is without prejudice to the role and functions of the Management Board, in particular when deciding, taking into consideration both business and financial requirements, upon the establishment of Europol's internal structures, including other Union centres of specialised expertise upon a proposal of the Executive Director.*
- ~~(5) In order to strengthen inter-agency cooperation on migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, the European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling should provide a means to enhance cooperation and coordination between Europol and other Union agencies, notably with Eurojust and the European Border and Coast Guard Agency, in line with their respective legal frameworks, including through working arrangements between the Union agencies.~~

- ~~(6) In order to support its strategic analysis in the prevention and combating of migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, the European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling should, for strategic tasks, be supported by a cooperation framework composed of Europol staff and involve representatives of the Commission, Member States' specialised services, the European Union Agency for Criminal Justice Cooperation (Eurojust) and the European Border and Coast Guard Agency. The European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling should hold a meeting of the entities represented in the centre at least twice a year to ensure effective steer and coordination at Union level. To enable that centre to fulfil its tasks, other relevant internal structures of Europol should provide it with all necessary support. In order to maximise the effectiveness of the European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling, Europol should be able to invite, in particular, the main actors of the European Multidisciplinary Platform Against Criminal Threats ('EMPACT') as well as other relevant Union bodies or agencies when needed.~~
- ~~(7) As part of the operational and technical support to Member States, the European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling should ensure coordination of investigative and operational actions of the Member States, including through supporting Member States' cross-border information exchange, operations and investigations, in particular in the framework of EMPACT, including by providing operational, technical, forensic and financial support. Furthermore, Europol should provide support to Member States in identifying cases of migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings where investigations would need to be initiated, where needed in liaison with Eurojust, in cases that require setting up of operational task forces or Europol deployments for operational support, and cases that may require cooperation with third countries, including by exchanging personal data.~~

- (7a) The European Multidisciplinary Platform Against Criminal Threats ('EMPACT') brings together a wide range of competent authorities in a partnership approach and constitutes both the framework for a coordinated response against organised and serious international crime and a catalyst to operationalise the Union security policies and strategies. To increase the Union response to prevent and combat serious and organised crime, including migrant smuggling and the trafficking in human beings, Europol and all relevant competent authorities under this Regulation should increase their connection within EMPACT and the operational support to the activities developed by that platform. To that end, Europol should be able to reinforce its strategic, operational and financial support to operational activities implemented within EMPACT, including by involving the core actors of EMPACT whenever relevant. Member States' competent authorities involved in the implementation of operational activities within EMPACT should provide Europol with all relevant information.*
- (7b) Europol should provide Member States' competent authorities with non-personal data (such as relevant crime area, modus operandi, Member States' competent authorities involved) regarding Operational Task Forces and facilitate the communication flow between Member States leading Operational Task Forces and those leading EMPACT operational actions.*
- (7c) The collection and further processing of personal data, in the context of the prevention, detection and investigation of migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, should be carried out by Europol in accordance with the rules laid down in Regulations 2016/794 and 2018/1725 and in compliance with the applicable Union data protection standards, including the purpose limitation principle and the principles of necessity and proportionality.*
- (8) In duly justified cases, the transfer of personal data by Europol to third countries may, in the absence of an adequacy decision or of adequate or appropriate data protection safeguards, be carried out in accordance with Article 25(5) of Regulation (EU) 2016/794. In particular, cases of migrant smuggling identified by the European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling that require cooperation with third countries could require transfers of personal data in individual cases for the purpose of prevention, investigation, detection or prosecution of criminal offences, or execution of criminal sanctions.*

- ~~(9) For the purpose of strengthening operational and technical support to preventing and combating migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, the European Centre Against Migrant Smuggling should, for operational tasks, involve liaison officers from the Member States, Eurojust and the European Border and Coast Guard Agency to ensure an effective, timely and systematic coordination and exchange of information on countering migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings at Union level, ensuring a stronger inter-agency cooperation within their respective competences and with Member States. Other relevant internal structures of Europol should also provide all necessary support. Liaison officers from Eurojust and the European Border and Coast Guard Agency liaison officers should be posted as permanent representatives to Europol for this purpose. Europol should be able to involve other relevant Union bodies or agencies to draw on the expertise falling within their competencies where relevant.~~
- ~~(10) EMPACT brings together a wide range of competent authorities in a partnership approach and constitutes both the framework for a coordinated response against organised and serious international crime and a catalyst to operationalise the Union security policies and strategies. To increase a multidisciplinary, holistic, and consistent response to prevent and combat migrant smuggling and the trafficking in human beings, as well as related crimes and enabling factors, Europol and all key stakeholders should increase their connections within EMPACT and the operational support to the activities developed by that platform.~~
- ~~(11) To ensure the appropriate involvement of judicial authorities in criminal investigations for offences relating to migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, the need to strengthen the mandate of Eurojust in relation to migrant smuggling and in relation to the amendments in the Europol mandate should be evaluated as part of the evaluation in accordance with Article 69 (1) Regulation (EU) 2018/1727.~~
- (12) Europol should be the Union criminal information hub and act as a service provider, in particular by providing a secure network for the exchange of data, such as the secure information exchange network application (SIENA), aimed at facilitating the exchange of information between Member States, Europol, other Union bodies, third countries and international organisations. SIENA should enable swift, secure and user-friendly communication and exchange of operational and strategic crime-related information and intelligence and have a strong focus on interoperability

~~with other systems at Europol and other cooperating states and organisations.,~~ in accordance with this Regulation and Directive (EU) 2023/977.

(12a) Effective law enforcement information sharing includes biometric data (e.g., fingerprints, facial images) as defined in Article 3 (13) of Directive (EU) 2016/680. The effective use of biometric data is key to closing the gaps and blind spots that terrorists and other criminals seek to exploit by hiding behind false or multiple identities. Europol's legal framework already allows the Agency to process biometric data for operational purposes and for preventing or combating crime that falls within its objectives as mentioned under Article 30 (2) of Regulation (EU) 2016/794. However, as highlighted by the European Court of Auditors' special report in 2021 on Europol's support to fight migrant smuggling, there is a need to enable Europol to use biometric data effectively. Europol should therefore be enabled to effectively and efficiently process biometric data in order to better support Member States, including in combatting migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings.

(12b) Any processing of biometric data should be in line with the existing safeguards set out in Regulation 2016/794 and Regulation 2018/1725 and should be strictly necessary and proportionate to the objective pursued. Particular attention should be given to the establishment of appropriate quality standards applicable to the processing and storage of biometric data. These quality standards should be consistent with the relevant minimum quality standards set out under Union law in respect of comparable biometric data processing to ensure an equivalent quality level, including notably the minimum quality standards established by the Commission pursuant to Articles 8, 13 and 22 of Regulation (EU) 2024/982^{1a7}.

(13) ~~The active engagement~~ involvement of the Member States and ~~the~~ sharing of all relevant information with Europol is key to ensuring ~~are essential to provide~~ a comprehensive and coordinated Union ~~EU~~ approach to countering ~~the fight against~~ migrant smuggling. With a view to strengthening Member States' capacities and trafficking in human beings. To this end, Member States ~~should designate~~ are encouraged to set up central services specialised services for countering ~~in the fight against~~ migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, ensuring synergies with the national anti-trafficking coordinators or equivalent mechanisms designated under Article 19 of Directive (EU) 2024/1712 on preventing and combating trafficking in human beings and protecting its victims, and providing that these services have sufficient resources that they are adequately resourced to prevent and combat migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings and can share information on criminal investigations with Europol efficiently and effectively. In order to harmonise the sharing of ~~using the Secure~~ Information between the Member States and Europol on migrant smuggling, Member States should ensure that their designated services for countering migrant smuggling are directly connected to SIENA to facilitate the sharing of information. This is in line with Directive (EU) 2023/977 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 10 May 2023 on the Exchange of information between the law enforcement authorities of Member States and repealing Council Framework Decision 2006/960/JHA. Member States' immigration liaison officers posted in third countries should also share information with Europol; for this purpose, they should also be connected to Network Application (SIENA in order to ensure that they can carry out the sharing of information referred to in paragraph 1 in an efficient and effective manner.).

(13a) Member States should ensure that all relevant information for preventing and combating migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, including information from Immigration Liaison Officers deployed in third countries and assessed as falling within the scope of Europol's legal framework, is shared with Europol in a timely and effective manner, using the Secure Information Exchange Network Application (SIENA).

(13b) Immigration liaison officers designated and deployed to third countries by competent authorities within the meaning of Article 2 (a) of Regulation (EU) 2016/794 should be connected to and use SIENA in order to share relevant information on migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings with Europol directly or indirectly via the competent authorities. If a connection to SIENA is not possible due to legal, organisational or technical reasons, immigration liaison officers designated and deployed by competent authorities within the meaning of Article 2 (a) of Regulation (EU) 2016/794 should share relevant information with Europol through a national competent authority through other secure channels. Immigration liaison officers designated and deployed by national authorities other than those referred to by Article 2 (a) of Regulation (EU) 2016/794 should share relevant information with a national competent authority, with a view to providing this information to Europol.

~~(14) In order to ensure efficient sharing of information related to migrant smuggling among Member States and with Europol, especially in case of large criminal networks involving numerous suspects, Member States should employ the most appropriate supporting tools provided by Europol such as dedicated data loaders. Conversely, and so as to access and make the best use of all information and intelligence available at Union level on the corresponding cases, and in full respect of the appropriate data protection safeguards, Member States and Union agencies should systematically consult Europol information in the course of ongoing investigations related to migrant smuggling, including by using the hit/no hit tools provided by Europol such as the Querying Europol Systems (QUEST+) technical system interface.~~

(14a) Europol and the competent authorities of the Member States should be encouraged to cooperate on investigations on migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, including when these criminal offences are committed using the internet, such as through social media platforms.

- (15) To prevent, detect and investigate ~~cross-border serious organised crime and terrorism~~ migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, coordination and concerted action is necessary. ~~In addition to the possibility of the~~ For this purpose, Member State to ~~States may~~ set up a joint investigation team in accordance with Council Framework Decision of 13 June 2002, ~~Member States should be able to set up an operational task force to reinforce law enforcement cooperation~~ including with the support of Europol. ~~This coordination mechanism among Member States' police authorities and other law enforcement services should, with the support of Europol, enable them to conduct joint, coordinated and prioritised criminal intelligence activities and investigations notably on criminal networks and groups as well as individual criminal actors, including persons whose criminal activities fall within the forms of crime for which~~ Where Europol is competent and who constitute a high risk for security. ~~In order to ensure the well-functioning and the effectiveness of that mechanism, Member States~~ has reason to believe that setting up, participating in, or supporting an operational task force a Joint Investigation Team would add value to an investigation into migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, ~~it should be able to ensure a minimum set of requirements concerning their active and timely involvement~~ propose this to the Member States concerned and take measures to assist them in setting up the joint investigation team, in accordance with Article 5 of Regulation (EU) 2016/794. In such cases such as providing all relevant information to Europol, and Europol should be able to make available its advanced analytical, operational, technical, forensic and financial support to those Member States closely liaise with Eurojust. ~~Third countries should be able to participate in or support an operational task force.~~
- (16) ~~Where the criminal intelligence activities carried out in an operational task force result in the opening of criminal investigations in one or more Member States that may benefit from setting up a joint investigation team, or where the criminal investigations supported by an operational task force may benefit from setting up a joint investigation team, Europol should propose the setting up of a joint investigation team to the Member States concerned and take measures to assist them in accordance with Article 5 of Regulation (EU) 2016/794. In such cases, Europol should closely liaise with Eurojust, where appropriate.~~

(17) To support and strengthen actions by the competent authorities of the Member States, Europol should be able to temporarily deploy staff including seconded national experts in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2016/794 in the territory of a Member State upon request of that Member State, to provide analytical, operational, technical and forensic support in liaison and in agreement with the competent authorities of that Member State. These deployments should notably take place in the context of complex, large-scale and high-profile investigations, including in the context of joint investigation teams, in liaison with Eurojust where appropriate, or operational task forces and criminal intelligence exchange activities requiring Europol's support. These deployments should also support further security checks against Europol or national databases in order to facilitate rapid information exchange to strengthen controls at the Union's external borders (secondary security checks), or migration management support teams in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2019/1896 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁸. Europol should also make use of these deployments to support Member States in relation to major international events. ~~Europol should also be able to deploy staff and seconded national experts in third countries with which it cooperates on the basis of an adequacy decision, an international agreement concluded between the Union and that third country pursuant to Article 218 TFEU, or a cooperation agreement between Europol and that third country concluded before 1 May 2017.~~

(17a) For Europol deployments in the territory of a Member State it is important that all relevant information is shared by Member States without delay with Europol, as the Union criminal information hub, in order to support and strengthen action by the Member States. Such deployments should take place upon the request of and in liaison and agreement with the competent authorities of the Member State concerned.

⁸ Regulation (EU) 2019/1896 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 13 November 2019 on the European Border and Coast Guard and repealing Regulations (EU) No 1052/2013 and (EU) 2016/1624 (OJ L 295, 14.11.2019, p. 1, ELI: <http://data.europa.eu/eli/reg/2019/1896/oj>).

- ~~(18) In order to ensure that Europol can provide effective support by way of deployment, the host Member State should be able to ensure a minimum set of requirements such as providing all relevant information to Europol. Europol should be able to deploy staff and seconded national experts rapidly, even in exceptional cases of urgency. The deployed Europol staff and seconded national experts should be able to carry out investigative non-coercive measures that relate to data processing in liaison and in agreement with the competent authorities of the Member State concerned, and in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2016/794 and that Member State's national law.~~
- ~~(19) Furthermore, in the context of Europol deployments for operational support, Europol should set up a reserve pool of Member States' highly qualified law enforcement experts with specialised profiles that can be placed at the immediate disposal of Europol for operational deployment to provide specialised support. The experts' reserve pool should include specialists in criminal analysis, forensics, investigation, languages and coordination. The Member States should ensure that their experts are available to take part, as seconded national experts, in Europol deployments for operational support, at the request of Europol. That obligation should not apply to third countries where Europol deploys staff and seconded national experts for operational support.~~

- (20) The reinforcement of Europol's legal framework provides an opportunity to clarify that Europol's objectives should also expressly cover violations of Union restrictive measures in accordance with Directive (EU) 2024/1226. Union restrictive measures are an essential tool for safeguarding the Union's values, security, independence and integrity, consolidating and supporting democracy, the rule of law, human rights and the principles of international law and maintaining international peace, preventing conflicts and strengthening international security in line with the aims and principles of the United Nations Charter. Where such a violation also constituted another form of crime contained in Annex I to the Europol Regulation, Europol supported Member States' investigations in targeting criminal assets owned by individuals and legal entities subject to EU sanctions or criminal investigations linked the circumvention of EU-imposed trade and economic sanctions. Since violations of Union restrictive measures ~~therefore constitute a form of crime which affects a common interest covered by Union policy, and in relation to which~~ and constitute a form of crime Member States are increasingly confronted against, Europol should therefore have competence to act in order to support and strengthen action conducted by the Member States. That competence supports Member States in cooperating with each other through and with Europol, Eurojust and the European Public Prosecutor's Office, within their respective competences and in accordance with the applicable legal framework to ensure the effective investigation and prosecution of violations of Union restrictive measures.
