Subject:	Proposal for a Decision of the European Parliament and of the Council on a European Year of Youth 2022 - Outcome of the first technical meeting with the European Parliament

1. Based on the negotiating mandate approved by Coreper on 12 November 2021¹, the Presidency held on 16 November 2021 a first informal meeting at technical level with the European Parliament (EP).
2. On 15 November, the Culture and Education Committee of the Parliament had an exchange of views on its report on the European Year of Youth². The report is expected to be endorsed by the EP plenary on 22 November 2021.

² C9-0379/2021

3. During the first informal meeting at technical level, all the articles were examined while only some recitals were discussed. The European Parliament accepted the Council text for Article 8 and Recitals 8 and 12. The Presidency accepted the amendments of the European Parliament on Article 3.d. The text agreed during the informal meeting is in the annex to this note under the column "Presidency compromise".
 4. A compromise was reached on the need to merge recitals covering the same issues such as Recitals 6 a) and 7 - related to Article 2.4; Recitals 9 and 23 a), Recitals 9 a) and 16 and Recitals 11 a) and 11 b).
 5. For the co-legislators, the outstanding issue is the budget for which the EP has proposed new articles (Articles 5 a) and 5 b) related to Recital 23 put into brackets by the Council). At the meeting, the Commission informed the legislators that the information about the financing would be presented before the trilogue on 6 December 2021. It was therefore decided to postpone the discussion on the budget.
 6. During the meeting, it was also agreed to examine the Recitals 13 to 26 during the second informal meeting at technical meeting. This meeting will be held on 24 November 2021. The Presidency will debrief of its outcome at the informal videoconference of the members of the Youth Working Party on 25 November 2021.

4	(2) In the Bratislava Roadmap of 16 September 2016 ⁵ , the 27 Heads of State or Government committed to "provide better opportunities for youth", notably through "EU support for Member States in fighting youth unemployment and on enhanced EU programmes dedicated to youth".
5	(3) In the Rome Declaration of 25 March 2017 ⁶ , the leaders of the 27 Member States and of the European Council, the European Parliament and the European Commission pledged to work towards "a Union where young people receive the best education and training and can study and find jobs across the continent".

Previous European Years, such as the European Year of Rail 2021, the European Year of Cultural Heritage 2018, or the European Year of Citizens 2013-2014 offer valuable experience which should inform future efforts to engage youth in shaping their future and the future of Europe.	(4) The European Union Youth Strategy 2019-2027 recognises that young people are architects of their own lives, contribute to positive change in society and enrich the EU's ambitions, and that youth policy can contribute to create a space where young people can seize opportunities and relate to European Union values. 7	(5) NextGenerationEU ensures a fast-forwarding of the twin transitions and provides the possibility to collectively emerge stronger from the pandemic and re-opens perspectives full of opportunities for young people, including quality jobs and adapting to social change. The Union aims for youth to be fully on board in the rollout of NextGenerationEU, enhancing their role in the green and digital transition.
8	(6) On 15 September 2021, President von der Leyen announced in her State of the European Union ⁷ Address that the European Commission would propose to make 2022 the European Year of Youth. Highlighting the confidence that she draws for Europe's future from the inspiration provided by Europe's young people, President von der Leyen added that “if we are to shape our Union in their mould, young people must be able to shape Europe's future” . Europe needs the vision, engagement and participation of all young people to build a better future, and Europe needs to give young people opportunities for the future, a future that is greener, more digital and more inclusive. This is why the President proposed "a year dedicated to empowering those who have dedicated so much to others" .

9			(6a) The European Year of Youth should trigger a reflection process on the future of youth and their active participation in building the European project. In that sense, youth policies should become a horizontal priority mainstreamed through all Union policies.	A new drafting will be proposed linking Recital 6.a, Recital 7 and Article 2.4

10	(7) The active participation of young people in democratic processes is crucial for the future of Europe and its democratic societies. In line with the European Democracy Action Plan⁸, the European Year of Youth therefore aims to give a boost to the active involvement of young people in Europe's democratic life, including by supporting participation activities for young people from diverse backgrounds in processes such as the Conference on the Future of Europe, promoting civic engagement and volunteering initiatives, thereby raising awareness of European common values and fundamental rights, as well as European history and culture, bringing together young people and decision-makers at local, national and Union levels and contributing to the process of European integration.	(7) The active participation of young people in democratic processes is crucial for the present and the future of Europe and its democratic societies. 12	(9) The European Year should contribute to strengthen youth participation in EU external action across all policies, create new opportunities for education and exchanges, partnerships and dialogue between youth from the EU and partner countries and to increase the role of youth engagement in strategic communication and public diplomacy action.	(9) The European Year should contribute to strengthen youth participation in EU external action across all policies, create new opportunities for education, learning and exchanges, partnerships and dialogue between youth from the EU and partner countries, including Eastern Partnership and Western Balkans , and to increase the role of youth engagement in strategic communication and public diplomacy action.		Consider drafting together Recital 9 and Recital 23.a) to cover the Southern partners.

13			(9a) In its conclusions of 5 June 2020 on Youth in external action, the Council stressed the contribution of young generations to building stronger, more legitimate, peaceful and democratic societies in which human rights and the rule of law are respected and no one is left behind. The Council also stressed that young people are important change makers and essential partners in the implementation of the European Consensus on Development, the 2030 Agenda and the Paris Agreement adopted under the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change¹⁶ (the ‘Paris Agreement’) and recognised their creative and innovative potential and abilities. The Council also highlighted the importance of investing in and working with, by and for youth in Europe and beyond.	Consider drafting together Recital 9a) and Recital 16

16	(11) The European Year of Youth should boost the successful implementation of first principle of the European Pillar of Social Rights¹⁷ which highlights that "everyone has the right to quality and inclusive education, training and life-long learning" and of the European Education Area, which aims to stimulate young people in their personal, social and professional fulfilment by creating a genuine European space of learning by 2025 in which inclusive and high quality education and training for all is not hampered by borders.	(11) The European Year of Youth should boost the successful implementation of principles 1 and 3 of the European Pillar of Social Rights¹⁸, which highlight, respectively, that "everyone has the right to quality and inclusive education, training and life-long learning" and that “everyone has the right to equal treatment and opportunities regarding employment, social protection, education, and access to goods and services available to the public”. In this respect, the European Year of Youth shall help to make noticeable progress towards achieving, by 2025, the European Education Area, which aims to stimulate young people in their personal, social and professional fulfilment and foster citizenship education by creating a genuine European space of learning by 2025 in which inclusive and high quality education and training for all is not hampered by borders.	Consider redrafting Recitals 11, 11 a) and 11 b) to cover respectively education and work

17			(11a) Policy initiatives adopted as part of the European Year of Youth should support young people to noticeably improve their social situation and well-being by reducing barriers to access to work, by establishing decent working conditions and by fostering the automatic mutual recognition of degrees, qualifications and periods of learning in the Union.	Consider redrafting Recitals 11, 11 a) and 11 b) to cover respectively education and work
18			(11b) Young people with disabilities have been hit particularly hard by the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic and are now at an even higher risk of socio-economic exclusion. It is therefore necessary to put in place-targeted measures to support their integration into the labour market and to ensure their access to quality services, while ensuring that they face no discrimination or barriers of any kind, including financial ones. 23			(13a) The European Year of Youth should contribute to reconstructing and strengthening youth work structures to make them sustainable and more resilient in all parts of the Union, with a focus on cross-border cooperation. It should also promote the validation of competences acquired through non-formal and informal education or through youth work, while recognising youth work as an educational area of equal value alongside education and training. In addition, activities should be organised within schools and classrooms, as part of the European Year of Youth, to genuinely reach out to young people and promote the direct participation of students in the activities of the European Year of Youth.

24	(14) The European Parliament resolution on the impact of COVID-19 on youth and on sport (2020/2864(RSP))²⁶ underlines the particularly acute impact the current pandemic has had on young people not in education, employment, or training (NEETs) and highlights the need to tackle the problems faced by young people from vulnerable groups; notes that youth unemployment and poverty have risen steadily since the outbreak of the pandemic and urges the Commission and the Member States to take all the necessary measures to counter the disastrous effects on youth employment. The Resolution recalls the role of volunteering in developing life and work skills for young people and considers that the European Solidarity Corps can help young Europeans to broaden their opportunities beyond their local realities.

25			(14a) The COVID-19 pandemic has led to an unprecedented increase in mental health distress, particularly among young people. The share of young people with mental health conditions more than doubled compared to pre-COVID-19 pandemic levels and compared to other age groups. The COVID-19 pandemic has also had a deep social and economic impact. Therefore, sustainable solutions, in particular, should be developed as part of the European Year of Youth in order to tackle the challenge of mental health issues among young people.
26	(15) The European Year of Youth should support giving effect to the Council Resolution of 1 December 2020 for establishing the European Youth Work Agenda ²⁷ and the Council Conclusions of 22 May 2019 on Young People and the Future of Work ²⁸ , of 10 December 2019 on digital youth work ²⁹ and of 7 December 2017 on smart youth work ³⁰ .

34	(21) By creating an environment for promoting those objectives simultaneously at Union, national, regional and local levels, a greater synergy and a better use of resources can be achieved. In that regard, the Commission should provide timely information to and closely cooperate with the European Parliament, the Council and the Member States, the Committee of the Regions, European Economic and Social Committee and the bodies and associations active in the field of youth at Union level. In order to ensure that activities developed for the European Year of Youth have a European dimension, Member States are also encouraged to collaborate with each other.
----	--	--	--	--

35	(22) The European Year of Youth should also focus on actions and activities which present a potential European added value. The notion of European added value is to be understood broadly and to be demonstrated in different ways, such as where actions or activities have a transnational character, particularly with regard to cooperation aimed at achieving a sustainable systemic impact or contribute to young people's European identity, awareness and ownership of European common values and fundamental rights, and ability to take part in the Union's representative and participative democracy.	(22) The European Year of Youth should also focus on actions and activities which present a potential European added value. Without prejudice to the powers of the budgetary authority, the aim should be to provide funding for the implementation of this Decision of at least EUR 10 million and to establish a dedicated budget line for that purpose. Subject to the availability of funding, it should be possible for co-financing to be provided from the Union budget [...] to support the European Year of Youth, [...]in accordance with the rules applicable to the relevant programmes[...].The European Year of Youth should mainly be financed by mobilising the margin and special instruments available under the 2021-2027 multiannual financial framework. Financing of the European Year of Youth should not be detrimental to the financing of projects in current Union programmes. Only a limited contribution from budget lines not related to projects under the Erasmus+ and the European Solidarity Corps programmes should be considered. In order to secure a long lasting legacy and building on the best practices learned during the 2018 European Year of Cultural Heritage, an additional EUR 2 million should be provided for activities carried out in 2023.	The budget will be examined once the Commission will have informed the co-legislators on the financing of the European Year of Youth.
----	--	---	--	--

⁴³ The provisions related to budgetary issues will be re-assessed on the basis of additional information to be provided by the Commission by 15 November 2021.

37			(23a) The European Year of Youth should contribute to developing partnerships with and between young people and youth organisations from candidate countries and the southern and eastern neighbourhoods, capitalising on existing platforms for youth dialogue and partnerships such as the AU-EU Youth Cooperation Hub, the EU's Youth Sounding Board and European Youth Together.	Consider drafting together Recital 9 and Recital 23.a) to cover the Southern partners.

38	(24) Since the objectives of this Decision cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States, but can rather by reason of the scale and effects of the proposed action be better achieved at Union level, the Union may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity, as set out in Article 5 TEU. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Decision does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve those objectives.
39	(25) In view of the impact of COVID 19 on the youth and consequently the pressing need for this Year's objective to honour, support and engage with young people in a post-pandemic perspective, it is appropriate to provide for an exception to the eight week period referred to in Article 4 of Protocol No 1 on the role of national Parliaments in the European Union, annexed to the Treaty on European Union, to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union and the Treaty establishing the European Atomic Energy Community.

40	(26) In order to ensure swift implementation of the European Year of Youth, this Decision should enter into force as a matter of urgency on the day following that of its publication in the Official Journal of the European Union.	(26) [...] Following the consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic, timely application of this Decision is needed for the purpose of ensuring swift implementation of the European year of Youth. This Decision should enter into force as a matter of urgency on the day following that of its publication in the Official Journal of the European Union and should apply, with retroactive effect, from 1 January 2022.
