

Brussels, 26 November 2018
(OR. en)

14545/1/18
REV 1

CLIMA 231
ENV 792
ENER 395
SUSTDEV 14
EMPL 543
SOC 724

'I/A' ITEM NOTE

From:	General Secretariat of the Council
To:	Permanent Representatives Committee/Council
No. prev. doc.:	14298/18
Subject:	Silesia Declaration on Solidarity and Just Transition – Authorisation to support the adoption on behalf of the European Union

1. The Ministerial Declaration “Solidarity and Just Transition Silesia Declaration” in annex is scheduled to be adopted by acclamation at the Leaders’ Summit during the 24th Conference of the Parties (COP24) to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC), on 3 December 2018 in Katowice, Poland.
2. The Working Party on International Environmental Issues was informed of the Commission's intention to enter into this Ministerial Declaration at its meeting of 4 July 2018. Accordingly, the Commission adopted on 15 November 2018 a Commission Decision on the Solidarity and Just Transition Silesia Declaration¹. The Working Party on Environment was informed on 23 November 2018 of this Declaration as set out in annex².

¹ Doc. 14298/18

² This is an amended version of the text annexed to doc. 14298/18.

3. Solidarity and just transition is a key theme of COP24 and is strongly supported by the Polish COP-Presidency. The Declaration underlines that Just Transition of the workforce and safeguarding and creating sustainable employment and decent work are crucial to ensure public support for long-term emission reductions, as well as to enable countries to reach the long-term goals of the Paris Agreement.
4. The support of the EU, alongside its Member States, for this Declaration would be an important signal to the international community, showing our commitment to the implementation of the Paris Agreement. The declaration is also pertinent in the context of the Future of Europe debate and in the Long Term EU strategy for the reduction of greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, scheduled for adoption on 28 November 2018.
5. Against this background, the Permanent Representatives Committee is invited to suggest to the Council that it authorises the Commission to support at the COP on 3 December 2018, the adoption, on behalf of the European Union, of the “Solidarity and Just Transition Silesia Declaration” as laid down in annex.

Solidarity and Just Transition Silesia Declaration

We, the Heads of State and Government,

Emphasizing that climate change is one of the greatest challenges of our time and a common concern of humankind and that Parties to the Paris Agreement recognized the need for an effective and progressive response to the urgent threat of climate change on the basis of the best available scientific knowledge;

Stressing that addressing climate change requires a paradigm shift towards building a low greenhouse gas emission and climate resilient economies and societies for all that offers substantial opportunities and ensures continued high growth and sustainable development, while ensuring a just transition of the workforce that creates decent work and quality jobs;

Reaffirming that Parties to the Paris Agreement on climate change are taking into account the imperatives of a just transition of the workforce and the creation of decent work and quality jobs, in accordance with nationally defined development priorities, and also reaffirming that the Paris Agreement emphasizes the intrinsic relationship that climate change actions, responses and impacts have with equitable access to sustainable development and eradication of poverty;

Recognizing the specific needs and special circumstances of developing countries, especially those that are particularly vulnerable to the to the adverse effects of climate change and that natural disasters and other exogenous shocks, exacerbated by climate change, bring devastating effects to vulnerable workers and people living in poverty with limited savings and no social safety net, increasing the challenges of and the obstacles to just transition, especially for countries characterized by fragile environmental conditions and least developed countries;

Also recognizing that circumstances of economic sectors, cities and regions that are most likely to be affected by the transition vary from country to country depending on their level of development;

Taking note of the importance of the International Labour Organization’s “Guidelines for a just transition towards environmentally sustainable economies and societies for all”, and its considerations, as appropriate, by Parties while fulfilling their commitments under the Paris Agreement on climate change;

Highlighting that the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, as well as its Sustainable Development Goals confirm the need to tackle environmental, social and economic problems in a coherent and integrated manner:

6. Stress that just transition of the workforce and the creation of decent work and quality jobs are crucial to ensure an effective and inclusive transition to low greenhouse gas emission and climate resilient development, and to enhance the public support for achieving the-long term goals of the Paris Agreement;
7. Emphasize that development measures to make infrastructure climate-resilient and enhance institutional capacity in this respect have the potential to be a source of decent jobs creation for both women and men while improving resilience, especially in vulnerable countries;
8. Underline employment opportunities that the transition to low-greenhouse gas emission and climate resilient economies have already created and the potential for the creation of a number of additional jobs as a result of increased global ambition;
9. Recognize the challenges faced by sectors, cities and regions in transition from fossil fuels and high emitting industries, and the importance to ensure a decent future for workers impacted by the transition, while working to ensure sustainable development and community renewal;
10. Note the importance of a participatory and representative process of social dialogue involving all social partners to promote high employment rates, adequate social protection, labour standards and wellbeing of workers and their communities, when developing nationally determined contributions, long-term low greenhouse gas emission development strategies and adaptation planning processes;

11. Highlight the importance of further work on the just transition of the workforce and the creation of decent work and quality jobs, including:
 - i) Sharing experiences from Parties, relevant international organizations, observer organizations, as well as other stakeholders, in supporting workers, cities and regions in the transition towards low-greenhouse gas emission and climate resilient development;
 - ii) Encouraging taking into consideration the issue of just transition of the workforce and the creation of decent work and quality jobs, while preparing and implementing nationally determined contributions, national adaptation plans and national long-term low greenhouse gas emission development strategies;
 - iii) Encouraging support for developing countries to promote low greenhouse gas emission and sustainable economic activities that will create quality jobs in regions, cities and non-urban areas;
 - iv) Encouraging that the transition to low greenhouse gas emission and climate resilient development is in line with the UN Sustainable Development Goals;
12. Invite all relevant United Nations agencies, including the International Labour Organization, and international and regional organizations, observer organizations including social partners as well as other stakeholders and interested Parties to implement this Declaration.

