Revised¹ Presidency compromise proposal for a

COUNCIL REGULATION

on a European private company

(Text with EEA relevance)

THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Article 308 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission,²

Having regard to the opinion of the European Parliament,³

Whereas:

- (1) The legal framework in which business is carried out in the Community remains largely national. This exposes companies to a wide diversity of national laws, company forms and company law regimes. The approximation of national laws by means of directives based on Article 44 of the Treaty can overcome some of these difficulties. Such approximation, however, does not release persons seeking to create companies from the obligation to adopt in each Member State a company form governed by the national law of that Member State.
- (2) Existing Community forms of company, notably the European company (SE), whose legal form was established by Council Regulation (EC) No 2157/2001 of 8 October 2001 on the Statute for a European company⁴ are designed for large companies. The minimum capital requirement for an SE and the restrictions on its formation make that form of company unsuitable for many businesses, in particular of a smaller size. In view of the problems faced by such businesses as a result of the diversity of company law regimes and the unsuitability of the SE for small businesses, it is appropriate to provide for a European company form specifically designed for small businesses, which it is possible to create throughout the Community.

- (3) Since a private company (hereinafter "SPE") which may be created throughout the Community is intended for small businesses, a legal form should be provided which is as uniform as possible throughout the Community and as many matters as possible should be left to the contractual freedom of the members of the company, while a high level of legal certainty is ensured for members, creditors, employees and third parties in general. Given that a high degree of flexibility and freedom is to be left to the members to organise the internal affairs of the SPE, the private nature of the company should also be reflected by the fact that its units may not be offered to the public or traded either on a regulated market or on a multilateral trading facility. In the interest of legal clarity, employee share schemes should be explicitly allowed.
- (4) In order to enable businesses to reap the full benefits of the internal market, the SPE should be able to transfer its registered office from one Member State to another. Other issues relating to the seat of an SPE should be governed by national law, in accordance with Community law.
- (5) To enable businesses to gain efficiencies and save costs, the SPE should be available in every Member State, with as few variations as possible as regards the company form.
- (6) First and foremost, the SPE should be governed by the substantive rules set out in this Regulation. Nonetheless, in order to ensure a high degree of contractual freedom it is appropriate to provide for a list of matters, to be set out in an Annex, in respect of which the members of the SPE may lay down rules in the articles of association. Furthermore, in matters where it is explicitly allowed by this Regulation, members should also be able to adopt rules in the articles of association that are different from the substantive default rules set out in this Regulation. In relation to those matters only Community law should apply, and consequently members should be able to set out rules to regulate those matters, which are different from the rules prescribed by the law of the Member State where the SPE is registered, in relation to national forms of private limited-liability companies listed in Annex II of the Regulation. However, if members do not or only partly use the contractual freedom in matters listed in Annex I provided for by this Regulation, in those matters national law shall supplement any omission. National law should also apply to further provisions in the articles of association that are not covered by this Regulation or its Annex I. National law should also apply, provided it is not incompatible with Community law, to matters that are not regulated by the Regulation, such as insolvency, employment and taxation, or to matters that are only partly regulated by it.
- (6a) Member States should aim to ensure that the provisions they adopt in relation to this Regulation in order to ensure its effective application do not result in disproportionate restrictions in the rules applicable to SPEs or in discriminatory treatment of SPEs as compared with private limited-liability companies governed by national law.

- (7) In order to make the SPE an accessible company form for individuals and small businesses. Member States should allow the SPE to be created ex nihilo or as a result of the transformation of existing national legal bodies. In order to facilitate the creation of an SPE by way of transformation, the Regulation should provide for the rules of the transformation procedure. Any explicit or implicit prohibition or restriction applicable to the transformation of legal bodies into a national private company with limited liability should also apply when forming an SPE. However, all Member States should allow the formation of an SPE by the transformation of the private limited-liability companies listed in Annex II.
- (7a) So that Member States may protect the pre-existing rights of members, creditors, employees and third parties in general, the transfer of registered office to another Member State may not be carried out at the same time as the formation of an SPE by transformation takes place. However, SPEs may subsequently transfer their registered office to another Member State.
- (7b) To ensure the compliance of the SPE with the rules generally applicable to company names, national provisions on the protection and control of company names should apply. Existing companies, firms or other legal bodies the names of which either contain the letters “SPE” or are followed by the abbreviation “SPE” should not be required to change their name or that abbreviation.
- (8) In order to reduce the costs and administrative burdens associated with company registration, the formalities for the registration of the SPE should be limited to those requirements which are necessary to ensure legal certainty and the validity of the documents filed upon the creation of a SPE should be subject to a single verification, which may take place either before or after registration. For the purposes of registration, it is appropriate to use the registries designated by First Council Directive 68/151/EEC of 9 March 1968 on the co-ordination of safeguards which, for the protection of the interests of members and others, are required by Member States of companies within the meaning of the second paragraph of Article 58 of the Treaty, with a view to making such safeguards equivalent throughout the Community.⁵
- (8a) To facilitate the formation of an SPE, Member States may draw up model articles of association that entrepreneurs may use as an example when they set up their company. However, the application of the model articles of association shall not be made mandatory.

⁵ OJ L 65, 14.3.1968, p. 8 Directive as last amended by Directive 2006/99/EC (OJ L 363, 20.12.2006, p. 137).

- (8b) Since Member States follow different traditions with respect to the nature of the participation of members in a company's capital, the unit of the SPE's capital should be either a share or a part, depending on the provisions of national law. A member should be either a shareholder or an associate, depending on the provisions of national law.
- (9) Since small businesses often require long term financial and personal commitment, they should be able to adapt the structure of their capital and the rights attached to the units of capital to their specific circumstances. The members of the SPE should therefore be free to determine the rights and obligations attached to their units, the procedure for the variation of those rights and any restriction on the transferability of the units.
- (10) [Deleted]
- (11) The SPE should not be subject to a high mandatory capital requirement since this would be a barrier to the creation of SPEs. Nonetheless, Member States should have the possibility to determine the minimum capital for SPEs registered in their territory subject to the limits set by this Regulation. Creditors should be also protected from excessive distributions to members which could affect the ability of the SPE to pay its debts. To this end, distributions that leave the SPE with liabilities exceeding the value of the assets of the SPE should be prohibited. In addition, Member States should have the possibility to require the management body of the SPE to sign a solvency certificate. Those Member States should be allowed to lay down provisions on the liability of directors of the SPE with respect to the statement.
- (12) Since creditors should be granted protection in the event of a reduction of the capital of the SPE, certain rules should be laid down concerning when such reductions are to take effect.
- (13) Since small businesses need legal structures that can be adapted to their needs and size and are able to evolve as activity develops, members of the SPE should be free to determine in the articles of association the internal organisation which is best suited to their needs. The general assembly of members should be the main decision-making body of the SPE. An SPE may opt for a sole director, two or more individual directors, a unitary or a dual board structure. However, mandatory rules ensuring the protection of minority members should be introduced in order to avoid any unfair treatment of members, in particular certain key resolutions should be adopted by a majority of no less than two-thirds of the total voting rights attached to the units of the SPE. The general principle of equal treatment of members in the same position should apply.
- (14) [Deleted]
- (14a) Due to the differences in the national regimes as regards financial assistance to third parties, the expulsion and withdrawal of members and the general duties and liabilities of directors, these matters should be governed by the law of the Member States.
- (15) Competent national authorities should monitor the completion and legality of the transfer of the registered office of an SPE to another Member State. The timely access of members, creditors and employees to the transfer proposal and to the report of the management body should be ensured.

- (16) Employees' rights of participation should be governed by the legislation of the Member State in which the SPE has its registered office. The SPE should not be used for the purpose of circumventing such rights. To that end, where certain conditions are fulfilled, SPEs should start negotiations with the representatives of employees on arrangements for employee participation in the SPE.
- (16a) A trans-national employee participation system established in accordance with Articles 35-35d includes both an agreement on arrangements for employee participation and an employee participation system based on the standard rules.
- (16b) Participation rights should be deemed to be reduced when the proportion of the directors of the supervisory board or the administrative board elected, appointed, recommended or opposed by the employees is lower than the highest proportion existing in the Member States concerned.
- (17) Employees' rights other than rights of participation should remain subject to Council Directive 2009/38/EC of 6 May 2009 on the establishment of a European Works Council or a procedure in Community-scale undertakings and Community-scale groups of undertakings for the purposes of informing and consulting employees⁶, Council Directive 98/59/EC of 20 July 1998 on the approximation of the laws of the Member States relating to collective redundancies,⁷ Council Directive 2001/23/EC of 12 March 2001 on the approximation of the law of the Member States relating to the safeguarding of employees' rights in the event of transfers of undertakings, businesses or parts of undertakings or businesses⁸ and Directive 2002/14/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 11 March 2002 establishing a general framework for informing and consulting employees in the European Community.⁹
- (18) The Member States should lay down rules on sanctions applicable to infringements of the provisions of this Regulation, including infringements of the obligation to regulate in the articles of association of the SPE the matters prescribed by this Regulation, and should ensure that they are implemented. Those sanctions must be effective, proportionate and dissuasive.
- (18a) To ensure that the documents and particulars of SPEs are accessible through the registers of all Member States, Community initiatives – such as the European e-Justice portal or the Internal Market Information System – or other initiatives – such as the European Business Register - aimed at facilitating the Community-wide access to business registers of all Member States should be promoted and used.
- (19) The Treaty does not provide, for the adoption of this Regulation, powers other than those under Article 308.

⁶ OJ L 122, 16.5.2009, p. 28.

⁸ OJ L 82, 22.3.2001, p. 16.

⁹ OJ L 80, 23.3.2002, p. 29.

- (20) Since the objectives of the proposed action cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States in so far as they involve the creation of a company form with common features throughout the Community and can therefore, by reason of the scale of the action, be better achieved at Community level, the Community may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity laid down in Article 5 of the Treaty. In accordance with the principle of proportionality as set out in that Article, this Regulation does not go beyond what is necessary to achieve those objectives,

HAS ADOPTED THIS REGULATION:

0. An SPE may be formed by the transformation of a legal body governed by the law of a Member State. Member States shall allow the transformation of private limited-liability companies listed in Annex II to an SPE. ¹⁹ ES, DE, AT would prefer leaving the formalities of registration to national law. DE suggested deleting entirely Articles 9-11, while ES suggested removing Article 9, with the exception of paragraph (4) which should be moved to Art. 8.

²⁰ SK would prefer to keep paragraphs (1) and (4) and delete the rest.

²¹ LT: delete (g), will soon become outdated anyway. ES: delete (g) to (j).

- 2a. Where directors provide the SPE and/or the register with a service address in addition to their personal address, only the service address shall be disclosed to third parties. - 3. The documents and particulars referred to in paragraph 2 shall be provided in the language required by the applicable national law.
- 4. The compliance of the documents and particulars of an SPE with this Regulation, the articles of association and national law shall be subject to a single control.²⁴ This control shall be carried out in accordance with the applicable national law; in particular by a notary, a judicial body, another competent authority and/or by self-certification, including by an authorised signatory. However, there shall be no duplication of substantive controls of the documents and particulars.
- 5. [Deleted]
- 6. The registration of an SPE shall be disclosed.

The management body or any person authorised to represent the SPE shall submit any change with respect to the documents or particulars referred to in paragraph 2 of Article 9 to the register within 14 calendar days²⁵ of the day on which the change takes place.²⁶ After every amendment to the articles of association, the SPE shall submit the complete text of the articles of association to the register as amended to date.²⁷

²⁵ UK prefers shortening the period.

²⁶ AT: date of entry into force of the changes should be explicitly indicated.

²⁷ BE, ES, IT, NL and UK prefer that the SPE submits only the amendments.

²⁸ NL has a scrutiny reservation on the Art. because of paragraph (2), i.e. acquisition of legal personality "on the date on which [the SPE] is entered in the register".

Article 11
Disclosure²⁹

1. The disclosure of the documents and particulars concerning an SPE which must be disclosed under this Regulation shall be effected in accordance with the applicable national law.

Requests for adequate safeguards shall be submitted within 30 calendar days of the disclosure of the resolution.

The SPE shall be required to provide safeguards if the creditor credibly demonstrates that due to the reduction of the capital the satisfaction of his claims is at stake, and the SPE has not provided him with adequate safeguards.

 - at least 1/3⁵⁶ of its employees habitually work in the Home Member State, and

⁵³ HU and AT: threshold of 650 employees is too high, AT maximum 250-300 PL: threshold of 650 employees is too low, should be around 800.

⁵⁴ AT: threshold of 3/4 is too high;

⁵⁵ HU, DE, FI and AT: thresholds are too high; EE: cannot accept employee participation when SPE is formed ex nihilo; NL: considers double-threshold too high, would prefer at least 250 employees, an annual turnover of at least 50 million, and/or an annual balance sheet total of at least 43 million; FR: prefers threshold as in previous compromise proposal, UK: OK with double-threshold, they could go a bit lower; IT, PT, PL: positive scrutiny on double (higher) threshold.

⁵⁶ EL: threshold should be higher: 1/2 of its employees; LV also considers threshold to be too low, DK: positive scrutiny on threshold, could not agree to EL suggestion.

⁵⁷ PL: thresholds are too low; EE suggestion: to introduce additional requirements: 500 employees in the entire SPE.

However, if a trans-national employee participation system, established in accordance with this Article, applies in the SPE at the time of the transfer, it shall continue to apply after the transfer if nothing else is agreed upon between the SPE and the special negotiating body.^{58, 59}

Article 35a

2. A special negotiation body representing the employees of the SPE shall be established.
 - (a) The members of the special negotiating body shall be elected or appointed. In electing or appointing the members of the special negotiating body, it must be ensured that the members are elected or appointed in proportion to the number of employees employed in each Member State, by allocating in respect of a Member State one seat per portion of employees employed in that Member State which equals 10 %, or a fraction thereof, of the number of employees employed in all the Member States concerned. - (ea) Employees from one or more Member States may refrain from taking part in the establishment of the special negotiating body.⁶² Member States shall determine the method to be used in their territory for decisions to refrain from taking part in the establishment of the special negotiating body. Failure to elect or appoint a member within the time limit prescribed in point (e) shall be considered as constituting a relinquishment of the right to employee participation in the SPE.⁶³ Those employees shall accordingly not be taken into account when the seats in the special negotiating body are allocated or when the special negotiating body takes decisions in accordance with paragraphs 2 and 3 of Article 35b.
- (eb) If a relinquishment in accordance with point (ea) has taken place the period in point (e) shall be extended by one month in order to allocate the remaining seat or seats in the special negotiating body to the other members.
