• The Communications from the Commission on “A New Industrial Strategy for Europe” of 10 March 2020, which introduced the industrial ecosystems approach, one which is the tourism ecosystem, as well as “A European strategy for data” of 19 February 2020;

• The Communication from the Commission on "Tourism and transport in 2020 and beyond" and the related Tourism and Transport package, of 13 May 2020; the European Parliament’s resolution on transport and tourism in 2020 and beyond of 19 June 2020 and the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee on tourism and transport in 2020 and beyond;

• The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development Goals adopted by the United Nations General Assembly and the UNFCCC 10 Paris Agreement within the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change;

TAKING INTO ACCOUNT that:

a) tourism is a cross-cutting economic activity with a wide-ranging impact on regions’ economic growth, employment and social and sustainable development;

b) tourism employs around 11.7 million people in the EU, accounting for 9% of total EU employment in the non-financial business economy, and that in 2019, the latest year before the severe impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on the economy, accounted for 9.5% of the EU's GDP, with a 6% value of overall EU exports. With the pandemic the worldwide sector reduced 80% of net value and around 11.5 million jobs in the EU have already been impacted in the travel and tourism sectors in 2020;

c) due to the COVID-19 crisis, tourism has the highest investment needs among the 14 industrial ecosystems and the lowest confidence indicator;

d) the value chains in the tourism ecosystem are complex and are made up of the four key vectors of transport, accommodation, experience and intermediaries, and the success of the tourism industry lies in the degree of influence between them;

e) the aftermath of the COVID-19 pandemic may provide an opportunity for the EU to exchange good practices and reinforce its cooperation and coordination in the framework of a European Agenda for Tourism;

f) essential and non-essential travel needs clear information and transparent criteria so that travellers can make informed choices, allowing the industry to adapt and implement compliant health measures;

g) the relevant players of the tourism ecosystem are committed to accelerating and implementing measures and actions that make the sector more sustainable and bring it closer to achieving objectives on ecological footprint reduction;

h) following the COVID-19 pandemic, consumers, as well as future generations, will have a different approach to travel and tourism experience and the supply side must adapt and change its offer,
