ITEMS DEBATED

Current affairs

High Representative Josep Borrell briefed ministers on Russia and the events around the detention of Alexei Navalny. The Council condemned the mass detentions and police brutality seen over the weekend and called on Russia to immediately release Navalny and all those detained. The High Representative informed the Council about his upcoming visit to Moscow.

Ministers were then informed about the EU strategy for sharing COVID-19 vaccines with the EU's partners.

The Council also touched on relations with the United States, and the EU's plans to work with the new US administration on a wide range of key global issues, including climate change, Iran and the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA), and cooperation in multilateral fora.

Ministers then discussed all aspects of the EU's relations with Turkey as identified in the December Council conclusions, including sanctions, and reaffirmed the importance of engaging with Turkey in order to move forward with the dialogue and further develop the basis for cooperation.

The case of Giulio Regeni was also raised. The High Representative stressed that this was a serious matter for the entire EU, and continued to call on Egypt to fully cooperate with the Italian authorities, in order to ensure accountability and that justice be served.

The Council briefly discussed the situation of migrants in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and the situation in the Horn of Africa and the Tigray region.

Climate and energy diplomacy

The Council exchanged views on climate and energy diplomacy, with a focus on promoting the external dimension of the European Green Deal.

During the discussion, ministers stressed the need to engage with Africa and highlighted the importance of 2021 for ensuring the success of COP26, the 2021 UN Climate Change Conference. The High Representative emphasised that accelerating climate action and managing the energy transition is and will remain at the core of the EU's foreign and security policy.

The Council adopted conclusions on this topic.

– Japan

The Council held a discussion with the Foreign Minister of Japan, Toshimitsu Motegi. They discussed their approaches to the Indo-Pacific, and agreed that increased EU engagement in the region, together with strengthened cooperation with Japan and other like-minded partners on issues of common interest and concern would be beneficial. In this context, Japan and the EU expressed their shared interest in developing cooperation in areas such as connectivity, maritime security, environment and climate change, trade and investment, digital issues, and promoting multilateralism and upholding the international rules-based order. High Representative Josep Borrell confirmed the EU's interest in developing its own approach to the Indo-Pacific region, and expressed appreciation for Japan's free and open Indo-Pacific strategy.

EU ministers and Minister Motegi discussed their serious concerns regarding the situation in Hong Kong and agreed to continue to closely coordinate their response to the imposition of the National Security Law by Beijing.

– UK

During an informal lunch, ministers discussed EU-UK cooperation on common foreign, security and defence policy. The High Representative stressed that the EU stands ready to engage with the UK on major global issues, such as climate change and the global response to the coronavirus pandemic.

The CMP mechanism aims to increase the EU's capacity as a reliable partner and maritime security provider, offering greater European operational engagement, ensuring a permanent maritime presence and outreach in Maritime Areas of Interest as established by the Council, and promoting international cooperation and partnership at sea.

For more details, see press release.

Venezuela

The Council approved conclusions (5582/21) regarding the outcome of the legislative elections held on 6 December 2020 and EU policy towards Venezuela going forward.

The Council selected Jean-Philippe Lecouffe as a deputy executive director of Europol.

Under the Europol regulation, before appointment, the candidate selected by the Council may be invited to appear before the competent committee of the European Parliament, which then gives a non-binding opinion. The General Secretariat of the Council will now inform the European Parliament that the competent committee can proceed to the hearing provided for in the regulation.

ECONOMIC AND MONETARY AFFAIRS

2021 alert mechanism report – Council conclusions

The Council approved conclusions on the 2021 alert mechanism report (5605/21).

The report marks the start of the annual macroeconomic imbalances procedure. It identifies 12 member states for which in-depth reviews need to be prepared to identify and assess the severity of possible macroeconomic imbalances: Croatia, Cyprus, France, Germany, Greece, Ireland, Italy, the Netherlands, Portugal, Romania, Spain and Sweden. These member states were already identified as having imbalances or excessive imbalances in February 2020. The new reviews will help to assess progress in correcting these imbalances.

Overall, the report concludes that the COVID-19 crisis has aggravated a number of existing macroeconomic imbalances in member states and is giving rise to new risks. As such, the current situation affirms the need to make the best use of available EU support measures.

Draft Council recommendation on the economic policy of the euro area – approval

The Council approved the draft Council recommendation on the economic policy of the euro area (14356/20).

In view of the current crisis, the 2021 euro-area recommendation focuses on short-term measures to support the recovery and ensure the proper functioning of the EMU. The recommendation places a strong emphasis on the use of the recovery and resilience facility, which provides policy guidance on priorities that member states should include in their recovery and resilience plans. It calls on member states to use policy tools including their recovery and resilience plans to:

- ensure a policy stance which supports the recovery
- further improve convergence, resilience, and sustainable and inclusive growth
- strengthen national institutional frameworks
- ensure macrofinancial stability
- complete the EMU and strengthen the international role of the euro

The recommendation will be submitted to the European Council in March for endorsement, prior to formal adoption by the Council.

The Council decided not to object to the following Commission regulations:
