No. Cion doc.:	COM(2015) 750 final
Subject:	Draft DIRECTIVE OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL amending Council Directive 91/477/EEC on control of the acquisition and possession of weapons = Revised text

1. Subsequent to the completion of the first round of discussion on the proposal in January 2016, the Presidency submitted to GENVAL a revised text of the proposal, taking into account as much as possible the various concerns raised by delegations.
2. GENVAL discussed the revised text at its meeting of 8 February 2016. In the light of interventions during the meeting and comments in writing submitted by delegations by 12 February 2016, the Presidency further amended the text as set out in the Annex.
3. Furthermore, in order to seek political guidance on certain aspects of the proposal, the Presidency had invited Ministers to discuss five key issues at the Council meeting of 10 March 2016. The debate focussed on the following five issues:

- (A) Allowing the acquisition and possession of firearms by minors, in which respect Ministers favoured to maintain the current rule and rejected the Commission proposal to only authorise minors to use firearms under certain conditions.
- (B) Medical tests as a precondition for the authorisation of firearms, where the Presidency concluded that a majority around the table rejected that the Directive should contain a mandatory requirement of a medical test. The Presidency therefore proposes to amend the text of Article 5(2) of the Directive in such a way that the medical test is optional for Member States.
- (C) Prohibition of semi-automatic firearms, where a majority of Member States appeared to be in favour of the option that acquiring and possessing firearms should continued to be authorised but under stricter conditions still to be defined, but many Member States argued for technical specifications to describe the most dangerous semi-automatic firearms and other Member States pleaded for combining both. The Presidency therefore has drafted a proposal consisting of the following elements:
- clear technical specifications allowing to define a group of semi-automatic firearms, which would be moved to category A and hence be prohibited (Annex I, Cat A.7);
 - continuing to allow the authorisation of all other semi-automatic firearms in category B, but subjecting their use to certain conditions set out in Article 7(2) and in Article 10aa; and
 - providing in Article 7(4a) for a transition regime in which owners of currently authorised B.7 firearms can continue to own and use them and have their use authorisation prolonged, but it would be impossible to transfer ownership of those weapons (regardless of the mode of transfer of ownership: sale, gift, inheritance).
- (D) Exceptional possession of prohibited firearms for cultural and historical reasons: in which respect a strong majority of Member States favoured to maintain the national legislative leeway as in the current Directive and Article 6(2) has been kept.

- (E) Online sales of firearms, where delegations were divided and further work was deemed to be done at technical level. The Presidency suggests a proposal consisting of the following elements:
- amending Article 6 so as to stipulate that in case of online sale the identity and, where applicable, the authorisation of the buyer, needs to be checked at the moment of the delivery of the firearm, either by a dealer or by a public authority; and
 - amending Article 11, so as to clarify that the requirements contained therein apply not only mail order but also for online sale.
4. The current revised text set out in the Annex takes into account the discussions of the draft Directive both at Working Party and at Council level. Changes are underlined compared to the initial Commission proposal, changes to the previous version of the revised text are marked in bold and underlined. Member States are invited to consider the current version of the text in view of the next meeting of the Genval Working Party.
5. Following the terrorist attacks in Brussels on 22 March 2016, the Ministers for Justice and Home Affairs at their meeting on 24 March 2016, expressed the need to pursue in a resolute manner the swift completion of legislation on control of the acquisition and possession of firearms.
6. With a view to achieving progress and on crucial articles of the Directive, the Presidency invites Member States to negotiate in a constructive manner by agreeing to the text proposals set out in the Annex or by proposing their own amendments.

Proposal^{1 2} for a

DIRECTIVE OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL
amending Council Directive 91/477/EEC on control of the acquisition and possession of weapons³

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Article 114⁴ thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,

After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national parliaments,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure,

Whereas:

- (1) Council Directive 91/477/EEC⁵ established an accompanying measure for the internal market. It created a balance between, on the one hand, the undertaking to ensure a certain freedom of movement for some firearms within the Union, and, on the other hand, the need to control this freedom using security guarantees suited to this type of product.
- (2) As a response to recent terrorist acts which demonstrated gaps in the implementation of Directive 91/477/EEC especially with regard to deactivation of weapons, convertibility and marking rules, the "European Agenda on Security" adopted in April 2015 and the Declaration of the Home Affairs Ministers Council of 29 August 2015 called for the revision of that Directive and for a common approach on the deactivation of firearms to prevent reactivation and use by criminals.
- (3) Certain issues in Directive 91/477/EEC need further improvement.

⁴ AT: check whether legal basis covers sufficiently internal security concerns.

⁵ Council Directive 91/477/EEC of 18 June 1991 on control of the acquisition and possession of weapons (OJ L 256, 13.9.1991, p. 51).

- (4) (...)⁶.
- (5) Since collectors have been identified as a possible source of traffic of firearms, they should be covered by this Directive.
- (6) Since brokers provide services similar to those of dealers, they should also be covered by this Directive.
- (7) Taking into consideration the high risk of reactivating badly deactivated weapons and in order to enhance security across the Union, deactivated firearms should be covered by this Directive.
- (7a) Additionally, for the most dangerous firearms stricter rules should be introduced in order to ensure that those firearms are, with some limited exceptions to the rule, not allowed to be owned or traded. (...) Where those rules are not respected, Member States should take appropriate measures including the destruction of those firearms.
- (8) In order to ensure the traceability of deactivated firearms, they should be registered in national registries.
- (9) Some semi-automatic firearms can be easily converted to automatic firearms, thus posing a threat to security. Even in the absence of conversion to category "A", certain semi-automatic firearms may be very dangerous when their capacity regarding the number of rounds is high. Such semi-automatic weapons should therefore be banned for civilian use.
- (10) To avoid that markings are easily erased and to clarify on which components the marking should be affixed, common Union rules on marking should be introduced.
- (11) Firearms may be used for far more than 20 years. In order to ensure their traceability, records of them should be kept for an indeterminate period of time until destruction is certified.
- (12) Selling arrangements of firearms and their components by means of distance communication may pose a serious threat to security as they are more difficult to control than the conventional selling methods, especially as regards the on line verification of the legality of authorisations. It is therefore appropriate to enhance the specific provisions for the selling of firearms and their components by means of distance communication, notably internet (...).
- (13) Furthermore, the risk of acoustic weapons and other types of blank firing weapons being converted to real firearms is high, and in some of the terrorist acts converted arms were used. It is therefore essential to address the problem of converted firearms being used in criminal offences, notably by including them in the scope of the Directive. Technical specifications for alarm and signal weapons as well as for salute and acoustic weapons should be adopted in order to ensure that they cannot be converted into firearms.

(13a) Objects, that have the physical appearance of a firearm ("replica"), but are manufactured in such a way that they cannot be converted to firing a shot or expelling a bullet or projectile by the action of a combustible propellant, are not covered by this Directive.

- (14) In order to improve the functioning of the information exchange between Member States, the Commission should assess the necessary elements of a system to support such exchange of information contained in the computerised data-filing systems in place in Member States. The Commission's assessment may be accompanied, if appropriate, by a legislative proposal taking into account existing instruments regarding exchange of information.
- (15) In order to ensure appropriate exchange of information between the Member States on authorisations granted and on refusals, the power to adopt acts in accordance with Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union should be delegated to the Commission in respect of adopting an act to enable the Member States to create such a system of exchange of information on authorisations granted and on refusals. It is of particular importance that the Commission carry out appropriate consultations during its preparatory work, including at expert level. The Commission, when preparing and drawing up delegated acts, should ensure a simultaneous, timely and appropriate transmission of relevant documents to the European Parliament and to the Council.
- (16) In order to ensure uniform conditions for the implementation of this Directive, implementing powers should be conferred on the Commission. Those powers should be exercised in accordance with Regulation (EU) No 182/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁷.
- (17) This Directive respects the fundamental rights and observes the principles recognised in particular by the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union.
- (18) Since the objectives of this Directive cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States, but can rather, by reason of the scale and effects of the action, be better achieved at Union level, the Union may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty on European Union. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Directive does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve those objectives.
- (19) Directive 91/477/EEC should therefore be amended accordingly.

⁷ Regulation (EU) No 182/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16 February 2011 laying down the rules and general principles concerning mechanisms for control by Member States of the Commission's exercise of implementing powers (OJ L 55, 28.2.2011, p. 13).

(b) Paragraph 1e¹⁷ is replaced by the following:

"1e. For the purposes of this Directive, "broker¹⁸" means: any natural or legal person, or partnership resident in a Member State other than the dealer or the buyer, whose activity, in exchange for a payment or any advantage (...) consists wholly or in part in facilitating the negotiation or organisation of transactions for the purpose of (...) buying, selling, or arranging the transfer of firearms, essential components or ammunition within a Member State, from one Member State to another Member State, from a Member State¹⁹ to a third country or from a third country to a Member State²⁰²¹ (...).."

⁸ The Presidency is still reflecting on introducing definitions for collectors and bodies concerned as well as for antique weapons.

¹⁹ Suggested by DE.

²⁰ Suggested by DE; opposed by UK since third country aspects should be covered by Regulation 258/2012.

²¹ Addition suggested by FI: "or, when the broker is established in the EU, between third countries,..."

⁵³ FR suggested a merge with 4b.

⁵⁴ FR rewording see 5342/3/16 REV 3.

⁵⁶ Specification of period needed : CH.

⁵⁷ AT, DE, LU, ES, IT, FR (keep data including of the export). PT, HR underlined the need to keep each entry, changing only the status of the firearm. FI suggests adding: , or in case of an exported firearm, 20 years after the export;"

⁶⁰ ES specified that measures should be cumulative.

⁶¹ UK: concerns about requirements to be placed on brokers: no need for brokers to be on a pre-approved register.

⁶³ IE: clarify that it only refers to Cat B and not to Cat C, D firearms.
