15. EMPHASISING the importance of protecting intellectual property rights, which are fundamental to promoting culture and diversity, and for drawing full benefit from the research, innovation and creative activity of European undertakings, especially SMEs, in order to support growth and jobs in the European Union and make Europe more competitive in the world;
16. STRESSING that the European Union has been called upon, in this respect, to continue its efforts to make the system for protecting intellectual property rights more efficient in order to more effectively combat infringements of intellectual property rights;
17. REITERATING its ambition to establish a consistent, high level of enforcement across the Internal Market, avoiding the creation of barriers to legitimate trade, and providing legal certainty while safeguarding consumers' and users' interests;
18. EMPHASISING that in the field of copyright and related rights, piracy in cultural and creative goods is , damaging the legal marketing of the media, especially through the Internet, hampering the arrival of competitive business models of legal supply of cultural and creative content, calling into question the adequate remuneration of rightholders and holding back the dynamism of the European cultural industry that provides access to legal, diverse and high quality cultural supply;
19. Deleted;

20. RECOGNISES the shared responsibility of the Commission and the Member States to make the internal market work more effectively, particularly in the field of the protection of intellectual property;
- 20a. RECOGNISES that developing the legal offer of cultural and creative content, while at the same time preventing and combating piracy, is necessary for the economic growth, employment and cultural diversity;
21. ACKNOWLEDGES the importance to develop multi-agency administrative cooperation in the field of intellectual property rights enforcement and INVITES the Commission, in close collaboration and coordination with the competent authorities or institutions of Member States, to further analyse existing national administrative arrangements;
22. RECOGNISES the need for evidence-based and outcome-oriented policy making and in this context welcomes the recent creation and work of the European Observatory on Counterfeiting and Piracy;
23. INVITES the Commission to further define and fulfill the scope of competences, tasks and role of the Observatory, supporting its activity through existing institutional structures. The Observatory will act through the plenary or through working groups on “ad hoc” basis and will make full use of available national expertise, such as the national correspondents designated by Member States pursuant to Article 19 of Directive 2004/48/EC;

24. AGREES with the principal lines of action put forward by the Commission and encourages national authorities, right holders, consumer organizations, and other stake holders from all sectors, , to actively participate in, and contribute to the work of the Observatory;
25. CALLS UPON Member States to develop national anti-counterfeiting and anti-piracy strategies and to establish transparent coordination structures in this field;
26. Deleted;
27. RECOGNISES the importance of reliable and comparable data on counterfeiting and piracy and INVITES the Commission, the Member States and industry to provide the Observatory with available information and to jointly develop and agree, in the context of the Observatory, plans to collect further information. and to jointly develop a common methodology for collecting data;
28. NOTES the importance of public awareness in relation to the impact of counterfeiting and piracy on society and on the economy, in particular the potential danger of counterfeits and pirated products for health and safety as well as for European competitiveness, creation, innovation and jobs, and encourages the Commission, the Member States and stakeholders, including consumers, to analyse and implement effective awareness campaigns, including a European Day against Counterfeiting and Piracy on 11 June. The financial implications will be assessed by the Observatory in cooperation with the Commission in order to define appropriate funding resources. The campaigns will focus on specific audience targets like consumers and young people;

29. STRESSES, in the context of the establishment and functioning of the internal market, the importance of using all appropriate means with a view to ensuring efficient enforcement of intellectual property rights throughout the Union;
30. INVITES the Commission, in accordance with Article 18 of Directive 2004/48/EC and in close collaboration with the Member States, to analyse the application of that Directive, including an assessment of the effectiveness, of the measures taken and, if necessary, propose appropriate amendments to ensure a better protection of intellectual property rights, taking into account the rapidly developing digital environment;
- 30a. NOTES the importance of simplifying the cross-border enforcement of judicial decisions in order to ensure an effective intellectual property rights protection. [;] OR [In this respect, calls for the Commission's and Member States' support for reviewing Brussels I Regulation and continuing the process of abolishing, with appropriate safeguards, the exequatur requirement] ;
- 30b. INVITES the Commission to analyse the opportunity of submitting an amended proposal for a Directive on criminal measures aimed at combatting counterfeiting and piracy. This analysis must include an assessment of the extent to which action is essential to ensure the effective implementation of a Union policy, as well as an examination of the impact, costs and benefits of any new measures;

31. REQUESTS the Observatory to facilitate regular experts' meetings, involving representatives from public authorities, private sector bodies and consumer organisations, to promote successful and proportional solutions against counterfeiting and piracy. The Observatory will pay special attention to the compilation of best practices in public and private sectors and conduct codes in private sectors. In its Annual Report, the Observatory should take into account the conclusions of the experts' meetings and relevant round tables;
32. PROMOTES the use, within the limits of data protection law, of the European network for administrative cooperation referred to in Council Resolution 25 September 2008 with a view to ensuring rapid exchanges of information and mutual assistance among the authorities engaged in the field of the enforcement of intellectual property rights;
33. INVITES the Observatory to publish each year a comprehensive Annual Report covering scope, scale and principal characteristics of counterfeiting and piracy as well as its impact on the internal market. This report will be prepared with the relevant information provided by the authorities of the Member States, the Commission and the private sector, within the limits of data protection law;
34. INVITES the Observatory to extend the study of causes, consequences and the effects of violations of intellectual property rights on innovation, competitiveness, the labour market, healthcare, security, creativity and cultural diversity in the internal market and to explore the need for the implementation of EU level training programmes for those involved in combating counterfeiting and piracy;
35. INVITES the Commission to assess, in close cooperation with Member States , how best to enhance coordination, cooperation, information exchange and mutual assistance between all national and European authorities involved in combating counterfeiting and piracy with the cooperation of the economic operators;

36. URGES Member States and the Commission to explore how to make best use of the experience and knowledge readily available in the EU and in national intellectual property offices to examine the possibilities for providing information to right holders, in particular small and medium-sized enterprises, through the strengthening of existing and the possible creation of new portals or helpdesks, in order to enable them to effectively and efficiently protect their intellectual property ;
37. WELCOMES the Commission's new and innovative approach to facilitate dialogues amongst stakeholders, aimed at jointly agreed voluntary measures to reduce counterfeiting and piracy in compliance with the legal framework;
38. ENCOURAGES the Commission, the Member States and the relevant stakeholders to pursue ongoing dialogues and to resolutely seek agreements on voluntary practical measures aimed at reducing counterfeiting and piracy in the internal market, both online and offline;
- 38a. INVITES the Member States to communicate to the Commission existing agreements and ENCOURAGES the Commission to analyse, in cooperation with Member States and economic operators, the efficacy of these agreements in the fight against counterfeiting in the internal market in order to state the existing best practices;
39. INVITES the Commission, within the limits of EU competence, in cases where stakeholders' dialogues are unable to reach agreed solutions, to review the situation in cooperation with Member States and to come forward, with proposals for an appropriate follow-up, including proposals for legislation, if necessary and appropriate;

39a. INVITES the Member States and the Commission to act towards promoting appropriate and effective levels of protection of intellectual property in both bilateral and multilateral international agreements with due regard to the Union acquis.
