Your Excellency,

I understand that, at its meeting of 20 December 2024, COREPER decided to accept the outcome of the interinstitutional negotiations regarding the abovementioned Regulation.

I would like to inform you that should the Council transmit formally to the Parliament its position in the form as it stands in the annex, I will, in my capacity as Chair of the Committee on Economic and Monetary Affairs, recommend to the Plenary that the Council's position be accepted without amendment, subject to legal-linguistic verification, at Parliament's second reading.

PROVISIONAL AGREEMENT RESULTING FROM INTERINSTITUTIONAL NEGOTIATIONS

Subject: Proposal for a regulation of the European Parliament and of the Council amending Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 as regards the scope of the rules for benchmarks, the use in the Union of benchmarks provided by an administrator located in a third country, and certain reporting requirements (COM(2023)0660 – C9-0389/2023 – 2023/0379(COD))

The interinstitutional negotiations on the aforementioned proposal for a regulation have led to a compromise. In accordance with Rule 75(4) of the Rules of Procedure, the provisional agreement, reproduced below, is submitted as a whole to the Committee on Economic and Monetary Affairs for decision by way of a single vote.

2023/0379 (COD)

Proposal for a

REGULATION OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL

amending Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 as regards the scope of the rules for benchmarks, the use in the Union of benchmarks provided by an administrator located in a third country, and certain reporting requirements

(Text with EEA relevance)

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Article 114 thereof,
Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,
After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national parliaments,
After consulting the European Central Bank ▌,
Having regard to the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee[2],
Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure[3],

Whereas:

(1) Reporting requirements play a key role in ensuring proper monitoring and correct enforcement of legislation. However, it is important to streamline those requirements in order to ensure that they fulfil the purpose for which they were intended and to limit the administrative burden.

(2) Under Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 of the European Parliament and of the Council[4], all administrators of benchmarks, regardless of the systemic relevance of those benchmarks or of the amount of financial instruments or contracts that use those benchmarks as reference rates or as performance benchmarks, are to comply with several very detailed requirements, including requirements on their organisation, on the governance and conflicts of interest, on oversight functions, on input data, on codes of conduct, on reporting of infringements, and on disclosures related to the methodology and the benchmark statement ▌. Those very detailed requirements have put a disproportionate regulatory burden on administrators of smaller benchmarks in the Union considering the aims of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011, that is to safeguard financial stability and to avoid negative economic consequences that result from the unreliability of benchmarks. It is therefore necessary to reduce that regulatory burden by focusing on those benchmarks with the greatest economic relevance for the Union market, i.e. significant and critical benchmarks, and on those benchmarks that contribute to the promotion of key Union policies, i.e. EU Climate Transition and EU Paris-aligned Benchmarks. For that reason, the scope of application of Titles II, III, IV and VI of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 should be reduced to those specific benchmarks.

4 [1] Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 8 June 2016 on indices used as benchmarks in financial instruments and financial contracts or to measure the performance of investment funds and amending Directives 2008/48/EC and 2014/17/EU and Regulation (EU) No 596/2014 (OJ L 171, 29.6.2016, p. 1).

(2a) Administrators wishing to opt into the regime should be allowed to make a reasoned request to their competent authority to designate one or more benchmarks they offer. That request should provide the competent authority with sufficient information to assess whether the benchmark or benchmarks meet the requirements for designation. Administrators of benchmarks which have been authorised to opt in should comply with all the requirements applicable to administrators of benchmarks set out in Regulation (EU) 2016/1011. Where the information provided in the request is inaccurate or misleading, the authority should refuse to designate the benchmark concerned.

(3) Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 empowers the Commission to exempt, under specific conditions, spot foreign exchange benchmarks. To ensure that EU benchmark users have access to hedging instruments based on spot foreign exchange benchmarks where currency controls apply, it is necessary to specify that the Commission should designate foreign exchange benchmarks where they reference spot exchange rates of a third-country currency to which such currency controls apply. Currency controls typically include rules of legal or regulatory nature that prohibit, limit or restrict the free conversion of a given currency into any other currency. They vary as to the specific restrictions they impose and also continuously evolve over time. Therefore, it is necessary to take into account the diversity and evolution of currency controls when demonstrating the fulfilment of the relevant criterion to ensure that it can be applied in practice. 'To ensure the uniform application of the conditions under which a spot foreign exchange benchmark should be exempted (from Regulation (EU) 2016/1011), the Commission should be empowered to adopt implementing acts to establish and maintain a list of exempted benchmarks.

(4) Pursuant to Article 19d of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011, administrators of significant benchmarks are required to endeavour to provide an EU Climate Transition Benchmark or an EU Paris-aligned Benchmark ▌. As this provision has proven difficult to enforce, it is appropriate to delete it. However, its deletion should not be understood as reduced commitment of the EU to the objectives of the climate transition and of the Paris agreement. Therefore, in order to promote the use of common standards for climate-related benchmarks and to ensure their appropriate supply in the Union, benchmark administrators should be encouraged to provide such benchmarks in the EU.

(5) The criteria for assessing whether a benchmark is a significant benchmark are currently laid down in Article 24 of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011. Benchmarks will be considered to be significant, inter alia where they meet the threshold laid down in Article 24(1), point (a), of that Regulation.

(6) Benchmark administrators should monitor the use in the Union of the benchmarks they provide and notify the competent authority concerned or the European Securities and Markets Authority (ESMA), depending on where that administrator is located, that the aggregate use of one of their benchmarks has exceeded the threshold laid down in Article 24(1), point (a), of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011. ▌Benchmark administrators frequently offer different variants of the benchmark to cater for the specific needs of benchmark users, including maturities or tenors, currencies and return calculation variants. Where such variants exist, their usage should be aggregated. The Commission should be empowered to adopt, after consulting ESMA, a delegated act to further specify the calculation method, the use of the threshold referred to in Article 24(1), point (a), of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011, the information provided to ESMA in case of designation, and the criteria to assess the impact of the cessation of the benchmark. Considering future price and regulatory developments, the Commission should assess the adequacy of the threshold by three years from the date of application. In case ESMA becomes aware of any issues regarding the threshold before the date of the report, or at any moment after that report, it should inform the Commission accordingly.

(6-a) In order to enhance transparency around the use of benchmarks in the Union, administrators of benchmarks are encouraged, but not required, to obtain a legal entity identifier (LEI), as well as an International Securities Identification Number (ISIN) for the benchmarks they provide. When administrators have obtained such LEI or ISIN, they should be communicated to the relevant competent authorities and included in the ESMA register. Where identifiers have been communicated by benchmark administrators to competent authorities or to ESMA, ESMA should include them in their register. To promote the access and use of ISIN and LEI, the entities in charge of issuing those LEIs and ISINs are expected to do so on a fair and non-discriminatory basis.

(6a) To ensure that benchmark administrators have sufficient time to adapt to the requirements that apply to significant benchmarks, they should only be subject to those requirements as from 60 working days from the day they submitted such a notification. In addition, benchmark administrators should provide the competent authorities concerned or ESMA, upon request, with all information necessary to assess that benchmark's aggregate use in the Union.

(6b) Where a benchmark administrator fails to notify the competent authorities that the use of one of its benchmarks has exceeded the threshold laid down in Article 24(1), point (a), of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011, and where the competent authorities have clear and demonstrable grounds to consider that the threshold has been exceeded, the competent authorities concerned or ESMA, as appropriate, should be able to declare that the threshold has been exceeded, having first given the administrator the opportunity to be heard. Such declaration should trigger the same obligations for the benchmark administrator as a notification by the benchmark administrator. This should be without prejudice to the ability of competent authorities or ESMA to impose administrative sanctions on administrators that fail to notify that one of their benchmarks has exceeded the applicable threshold.

(7) Markets, prices and the regulatory environment evolve over time. To take those evolutions into account, the Commission should be empowered to further specify the methodology to be used by administrators and competent authorities to calculate the total value of financial instruments, financial contracts or investment funds referencing a benchmark.

(8) However, in exceptional cases, there may be benchmarks with an aggregate use below the threshold laid down in Article 24(1), point (a), of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 which, due to the specific situation in the market of a Member State, are nevertheless of such importance to that Member State that any lack of reliability would be of comparable impact as that of a benchmark the usage of which exceeds that threshold. For that reason, the competent authority of that Member State should be able to designate such a benchmark, where that benchmark is provided by an EU administrator, as significant on the basis of a set of qualitative criteria. For benchmarks provided by a non-EU administrator, it should be ESMA that, on the request of one or more competent authorities, designates such a benchmark as a significant benchmark.

(9) To ensure the consistency and coordination of national designations of benchmarks as significant benchmarks, competent authorities intending to designate a benchmark as significant should consult ESMA. For the same reason, a competent authority of a Member State that intends to designate as significant a benchmark that is provided by an administrator that is located in another Member State should also consult the competent authority of that other Member State. Where competent authorities disagree which among them should designate and supervise a benchmark, ESMA should settle that disagreement in accordance with Article 19 of Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council[5]. The competent authority of the administrator's home Member State may always reach cooperation agreements on delegation of tasks under this Regulation either with the designating competent authority or with ESMA as laid down in Article 37 of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011.

[5] Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 24 November 2010 establishing a European Supervisory Authority (European Securities and Markets Authority), amending Decision No 716/2009/EC and repealing Commission Decision 2009/77/EC (OJ L 331, 15.12.2010, p. 84).

(10) To respect the right to be heard, a competent authority or ESMA should, before designating a benchmark as significant, allow the administrator of that benchmark to provide any useful information relevant to its designation.

(11) For the designation as a significant benchmark to be as transparent as possible, competent authorities or ESMA should issue a designation decision containing the reasons why that benchmark is considered significant. Competent authorities should publish the designation decision on their website and should notify that decision to ESMA. For the same reasons, where ESMA designates a benchmark as significant upon a request of a competent authority, ESMA should publish the designation decision on its website and should notify the requesting competent authority thereof.

(12) EU Climate Transition Benchmarks and EU Paris-aligned Benchmarks are specific categories of benchmarks, defined by their compliance with rules governing their methodology and related disclosures ▌. For that reason, and to prevent claims that could lead users to think that such benchmarks are compliant with the standards attached to those labels, it is necessary to subject those benchmarks and their administrators, as appropriate, to mandatory registration, authorisation, recognition or endorsement, and to supervision.

(12a) The regulatory treatment of commodity benchmarks should be tailored to their specific characteristics. Commodity benchmarks that are subject to the general rules for financial benchmarks should be treated identically to other financial benchmarks and should be covered by Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 only if they are significant or critical benchmarks and have not been exempted from the scope of this Regulation. Commodity benchmarks that are based on readily available data do not share the specificities of commodity benchmarks based in majority on contributions from non-regulated entities, and should therefore be subject to the general rules for financial benchmarks. Commodity benchmarks based on input data contributed in majority by non-supervised entities should be in scope of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 whenever their reference value exceeds a de minimis threshold in order to ensure the robustness and reliability of their assessments.

(13) To ensure the timely start of the supervision of significant benchmarks, administrators of benchmarks that have become significant either by reaching the applicable quantitative threshold or by designation, should be required to seek, within 60 working days, authorisation or registration or, in the case of benchmarks provided by an administrator located in a third-country, endorsement or recognition.

(14) To mitigate the risks linked to the use of benchmarks that are potentially not safe for use in the Union, and to warn potential users, competent authorities and ESMA should be able to issue a warning under the form of a public notice that the administrator of a significant benchmark does not comply with the applicable requirements, in particular as regards the compliance with the obligation for the benchmark administrator to be authorised, registered, endorsed or recognised, as applicable. Once such a warning has been issued, supervised entities should no longer be able to add new references to such benchmarks or combination of benchmarks. Where a benchmark subject to a warning is used in existing financial instruments, financial contracts or to measure the performance of an investment fund, benchmark users should replace that benchmark with an alternative within a limited amount of time. Similarly, to prevent the risks entailed by the use of benchmarks that claim compliance with the EU Climate Transition and EU Paris-aligned labels without being subject to adequate supervision, supervised entities should neither be able to add new references to an EU Climate Transition Benchmark or an EU Paris-aligned Benchmark or combination of such benchmarks in the Union where the administrator of those benchmarks is not included in ESMA's register of administrators and benchmarks.

(15) To avoid potentially excessive market disruptions following the prohibition of the use of a benchmark, competent authorities or ESMA should be able to allow the temporary continued use of such a benchmark. To cater for a varying impact of the cessation of the use of such a benchmark, as well as differing degrees of complexity in finding a suitable alternative for it, competent authorities or ESMA should modulate the time period during which continued use is allowed, taking into account the specific circumstances, including the degree and type of usage of the benchmark concerned. To ensure a sufficient level of transparency and protection vis-à-vis end-investors, users of those benchmarks that are subject to a warning under the form of a public notice should identify a suitable alternative for those benchmarks within 6 months following the publication of that public notice, or otherwise ensure that clients are appropriately informed of the lack of an alternative benchmark.

(16) Under Article 32 of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011, recognition of benchmark administrators located in a third country serves as a temporary means of access to the Union market pending the adoption of an equivalence decision by the Commission. However, given the very limited number of third-country benchmarks covered by equivalence decisions, such recognition should become a permanent means of access to the Union market for such benchmark administrators.

(16a) Benchmark administrators located in third countries that access the EU under the recognition regime are currently centrally supervised by ESMA. The alignment of supervision under ESMA's competence in both endorsement and recognition regimes would put all administrators from third countries on an equal footing. Furthermore, this would allow to establish ESMA as the single relevant counterpart in the Union for benchmark administrators located in third countries, making cross-border cooperation more efficient and effective.

(17) Benchmarks covered by an equivalence decision are considered to be equivalently regulated and supervised to Union benchmarks. The obligation to seek endorsement or recognition should therefore not apply to administrators of significant benchmarks located in a third country that benefit from an equivalence decision.

(18) In the interest of transparency and to ensure legal certainty, competent authorities that designate a benchmark as significant should specify the potential use restrictions that arise where the administrator of such a benchmark fails to be authorised or registered or fails to comply with the endorsement or recognition requirements, as applicable.

(19) To mitigate the risks linked to the use of inadequately supervised significant benchmarks, where the administrator of a benchmark that becomes significant does not seek authorisation, registration, recognition or endorsement within the prescribed time limit, or where the authorisation, registration, recognition or endorsement for such benchmark administrator fails, or where an administrator is withdrawn its authorisation, registration, endorsement or recognition, the competent authority or ESMA, as applicable, should issue a public notice stating that the significant benchmarks provided by that administrator are not suitable for use in the Union.

(20) Benchmark users rely on transparency regarding the regulatory status of benchmarks they use or intend to use. For that reason, ESMA should list in the register of administrators and benchmarks those benchmarks that are subject to the most detailed requirements laid down in Regulation (EU) 2016/1011, either because their use in the Union is above the set threshold for significant benchmarks, because they are designated as significant by a national supervisor or by ESMA, or because they are critical benchmarks. For the same reason, ESMA should also list in that register EU Climate Transition Benchmarks and EU Paris-aligned Benchmarks provided by administrators that are authorised or registered. Finally, ESMA should also list in the register the benchmarks for which a competent authority or ESMA has issued a public notice prohibiting the further use of that benchmark. To further reduce the burden on users, all such information should also be made readily available on the European Single Access Point (ESAP).

(20-a) To ensure a seamless transition to supervision by ESMA, measures should be taken to allow both the transfer of supervision of administrators endorsing non-EU benchmarks that are currently under the supervision of a national competent authority, and the transfer of any applications for endorsement received after such time as would allow for the national competent authority to take a decision before the date of the transfer.

(20a) To make sure that ESMA can effectively exercise its supervisory powers, it is necessary for it to be able to take supervisory measures also in the case of failure to cooperate or comply in an investigation or with an inspection, including by adopting a decision imposing a fine.

(20b) Regulation (EU) 2019/2089 has subjected all benchmarks other than interest rate and foreign exchange benchmarks to transparency rules as regards whether and how benchmarks take environmental, social or governance (ESG) factors into consideration and has introduced two categories of ESG-related benchmarks that are subject to compliance with further minimum standards set out by Union law, namely EU Climate Transition Benchmarks and EU Paris-aligned Benchmarks. In order to maintain a high level of transparency surrounding ESG-related claims and an adequate level of protection for users, it is appropriate that administrators of benchmarks that are in scope of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011, for each benchmark or family of benchmarks they administer that makes ESG-related claims in legal or marketing documentation, continue to disclose the necessary information. In order to avoid the circumvention of the obligation on ESG disclosures for benchmark administrators that are within the scope of Regulation (EU) 2016/1011, all entities providing benchmarks within the same group should be subject to those disclosure requirements.

By 30 June 2029, the Commission, after consulting ESMA, should prepare a report to assess whether the current scope of benchmarks with ESG-related claims, that are subject to disclosure requirements under the Regulation, is appropriate and allows the users of those benchmarks to adequately comply with their own sustainability-related disclosure requirements.

To ensure consistency in sustainability-related disclosures, this report should also assess whether the ESG disclosures under the Regulation are consistent with sustainability-related disclosures under Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 and with relevant ESMA guidelines. That report should, where appropriate, be accompanied by a legislative proposal.

(21) To ensure a seamless transition to the application of the rules introduced under this Regulation, administrators currently supervised under Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 should keep existing registrations, authorisations, recognitions or endorsements for nine months from the date of application of this amending Regulation. That period is intended to give competent authorities or ESMA sufficient time to decide whether any of the currently supervised administrators should be designated in accordance with this amending Regulation. If designated, administrators previously authorised, registered, endorsed or recognised or administrators who are designated upon request, should be allowed to retain their previous status without the need to reapply. Administrators of significant benchmarks should, in any case, be allowed to retain their status as authorised, registered, endorsing or recognised benchmark administrators. If not designated, existing authorisation, registration, recognition or endorsement holders should have the legal certainty that the designation period has lapsed and that their names can safely be removed from the ESMA register , while supervised entities will be able to continue to use these indices. Non-designation within this six months designation period also implies that a competent national authority is no longer obliged to maintain an existing authorisation, registration, recognition or endorsement.

(21a) In order to allow for the continuous use of spot foreign exchange benchmarks until such time as the Commission has conducted the required public consultation and has adopted an implementing act to exempt certain benchmarks where necessary, the application of any usage restrictions should be deferred for spot foreign exchange benchmarks provided by administrators located outside the Union.

(22) In order to give competent authorities and ESMA the necessary time to gather information on potential significant benchmarks and to adapt existing infrastructure to the new framework proposed under this amending Regulation, the date of application of this Regulation should be deferred.

(23) Regulation (EU) 2016/1011 should therefore be amended accordingly,

HAVE ADOPTED THIS REGULATION:

Significant benchmarks

1. A benchmark which is not a critical benchmark shall be significant where either of the following conditions is met:

(a) the benchmark is used directly or indirectly within a combination of benchmarks within the Union as a reference for financial instruments or financial contracts or for measuring the performance of investments funds, that have a total average value of at least EUR 50 billion on the basis of the following characteristics of the benchmark*:*

(i) the range of maturities or tenors of the benchmark, where applicable, over a period of six months;

(ii) all the currencies or other units of measurement of the benchmark, where applicable, over a period of six months; and

(iii) all the return calculation methodologies, where applicable, over a period of six months;

(b) the benchmark has been designated as significant in accordance with the procedure laid down in paragraphs 3, 4 and 5, the procedure laid down in paragraph 6, or the procedure laid down in paragraph 6a.

2. An administrator shall immediately notify the competent authority of the Member State where it is located or, if located in a third country, ESMA, where one or several of that administrator's benchmarks exceed the threshold referred to in paragraph 1, point (a). Following receipt of that notification, the competent authority or ESMA, as appropriate, shall publish a statement on its website stating that that benchmark is significant.

An administrator shall, upon request, provide the competent authority of the Member State where it is located or, if located in a third country, ESMA, with information as regards whether the threshold referred to in paragraph 1, point (a) has been effectively exceeded.

Where a competent authority or, in the case of a third-country administrator, ESMA, has clear and demonstrable grounds to consider that a benchmark exceeds the threshold referred to in paragraph 1, point (a), the competent authority or ESMA may issue a notice stating that fact. Such a notice shall trigger the same obligations for the benchmark administrator as a notification as referred to in the first subparagraph of this paragraph ▌. At least 10 working days before issuing such notice, the competent authority or ESMA shall inform the administrator of the benchmark concerned of its findings, and invite that administrator to submit any observation.

3. A competent authority may, having consulted ESMA in accordance with paragraph 4 and taking into account its advice, designate a benchmark provided by an administrator located in the Union that does not meet the condition laid down in paragraph 1, point (a), as significant where that benchmark fulfils all of the following conditions:

(a) the benchmark has no, or very few, appropriate market-led substitutes;

(b) in the event that the benchmark ceases to be provided, or is provided on the basis of input data no longer fully representative of the underlying market or economic reality or on the basis of unreliable input data, there would be significant and adverse impacts on market integrity, financial stability, consumers, the real economy, or the financing of households and businesses in that competent authority's Member State;

(c) the benchmark has not been designated by a competent authority of another Member State.

Where a competent authority concludes that a benchmark fulfils the criteria set out in the first subparagraph, the competent authority shall prepare a draft decision to designate the benchmark as significant and notify that draft decision to the administrator concerned and to the competent authority of the administrator's home Member State where relevant. The competent authority concerned shall also consult ESMA on the draft decision.

The administrators concerned and the competent authority of the administrator's home Member State shall have 15 working days from the date of notification of the draft decision of the designating competent authority concerned to provide observations and comments in writing. The designating competent authority concerned shall inform ESMA of the observations and comments received and shall duly consider those observations and comments before adopting a final decision.

4. When consulted by a competent authority on the intended designation of a benchmark as significant in accordance with paragraph 3, first subparagraph, ESMA shall, within 3 months, issue an advice that takes into account the following factors, in light of the specific characteristics of the benchmark concerned:

(a) whether the consulting competent authority has sufficiently substantiated its assessment that the conditions referred to in paragraph 3, first subparagraph are met;

(b) whether, in the event that the benchmark ceases to be provided, or is provided on the basis of input data that are no longer fully representative of the underlying market or economic reality or that are unreliable, there would be significant and adverse impacts on market integrity, financial stability, consumers, the real economy, or the financing of households and businesses in in Member States other than the Member State of the consulting competent authority.

For the purposes of point (b), ESMA shall take due account, where relevant, of the information provided by the consulting authority pursuant to the third subparagraph of paragraph 3.

5. Where competent authorities disagree on the matter referred to in the first subparagraph, they shall refer the matter to ESMA, and ESMA shall settle that disagreement in accordance with Article 19 of Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010.

6. ESMA may, upon the request of a competent authority, or on its own initiative, designate a benchmark provided by an administrator located in a third country that does not meet the threshold laid down in paragraph 1, point (a), as significant where that benchmark fulfils all of the following conditions:

(a) the benchmark has no, or very few, appropriate market-led substitutes;

(b) in the event that the benchmark would cease to be provided, or would be provided on the basis of input data that are no longer fully representative of the underlying market or economic reality or that are unreliable, there would be significant and adverse impacts on market integrity, financial stability, consumers, the real economy, or the financing of households and businesses in one or more Member States.

ESMA shall, prior to the designation decision and as soon as possible, inform the administrator of the benchmark of its intention, and invite that administrator to provide ESMA within 15 working days with a reasoned statement containing any relevant information for the purposes of the assessment related to the designation of the benchmark as significant.

Where applicable, ESMA shall invite, as soon as possible, the competent authority of the jurisdiction where the administrator is located to provide any relevant information for the purposes of the assessment related to the designation of the benchmark.

ESMA shall motivate any designation decision, taking into account whether there is sufficient evidence that the conditions referred to in the first subparagraph of this paragraph are met, in light of the specific characteristics of the benchmark concerned.

ESMA shall publish its reasoned decision on its website and shall notify the requesting competent authority or authorities without undue delay.

6a. A competent authority may designate a benchmark provided by an administrator located in the Union that does not meet the condition laid down in paragraph 1, point (a), as significant where that benchmark fulfils all of the following conditions:

(a) Its administrator has submitted a written request to that competent authority for that benchmark to be designated in accordance with paragraph 6a where it clearly sets out the reasons for such request;

(b) The benchmark is used directly or indirectly within a combination of benchmarks within the Union as a reference for financial instruments or financial contracts or for measuring the performance of investment funds, that have a total average value of at least EUR 20 billion.

A competent authority shall refuse to designate a benchmark where it has grounds to consider that the request to designate was inaccurate or misleading. The designating competent authority shall notify ESMA of its decision to designate a benchmark, and publish the decision, including the reasons for which it was made and the consequences of this designation, on its website without undue delay.

6b. Where the administrator of a benchmark designated in accordance with paragraph 6a wishes to have that designation lifted, it should address a written request to that effect to its competent authority at the earliest four years after that benchmark has been designated.
Where the competent authority determines that neither the condition laid down in paragraph 1, point (a), nor the conditions laid down in paragraph 3 are met, it shall revoke its designation.
The decision to revoke shall be taken at the latest 3 months following the date of the request.
The competent authority shall publish the decision revoking the designation on its website with the effective date of no later than 12 months after publication.

(iii) the information that competent authorities shall provide when consulting ESMA as required pursuant to Article 24, paragraph 3;

7a. By 31 December 2028, the Commission shall, in cooperation with ESMA, present a report to the European Parliament and the Council on the adequacy of the threshold referred to in point (a) of paragraph 1 of this Article in the light of market, price and regulatory developments.
