Subject: Proposal for a DIRECTIVE OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL on multiple-vote share structures in companies that seek the admission to trading of their shares on an SME growth market [2022/0406(COD)]

Dear Ms Tinagli,

Following the informal meeting held on 29 January 2024 between the representatives of the three institutions, a draft overall compromise package was agreed today by the Permanent Representatives' Committee.

I am therefore now in a position to confirm that, should the European Parliament adopt its position at first reading, in accordance with Article 294, paragraph 3 of the Treaty, in the form set out in the compromise package contained in the Annex to this letter (subject to revision by the legal linguists of both institutions), the Council would, in accordance with Article 294, paragraph 4 of the Treaty, approve the European Parliament's position and the act shall be adopted in the wording which corresponds to the European Parliament's position.

On behalf of the Council, I also wish to thank you for your close cooperation which should enable us to reach agreement on this file at the first reading.

Yours faithfully,

Pierre CARTUYVELS
Chairman of the Permanent Representatives Committee (Part 1)

Proposal for a

DIRECTIVE OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL

on multiple-vote share structures in companies that seek the admission to trading of their shares on a multilateral trading facility

(Text with EEA relevance)

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Article 50(1) and Article 50(2), point (g) and Article 114 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,

After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national Parliaments, having regard to the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee *of 23 March 2023*¹,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure,

Whereas:

- (1) To reinforce the attractiveness of listing on trading venues primarily targeted by small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), such as SME growth markets and other multilateral trading facilities, hence increasing their ability to raise funds on such markets, and to reduce inequalities for companies seeking admission to trading in the single market, it is necessary to address obstacles to the access to such markets that stem from regulatory barriers. Companies should be able, subject to safeguards established under Union and national law, to choose capital and governance structures that suit best their development stage, including by enabling controlling shareholders ■ to retain control of the business after accessing MTFs, which include SME growth markets, while enjoying the benefits associated to trading on those markets, as long as the rights of ■ shareholders holding shares with lower voting rights are safeguarded.
- (2) Fear of losing control over the company constitutes an important deterrent for controlling shareholders to access a public market, such as an MTF. Admission to trading usually entails dilution of ownership for controlling shareholders, thus reducing their influence over important investment and operating decisions in the company. Maintaining control of the company may in particular be important for start-ups and companies with long-term projects that require significant upfront costs, because they may wish to pursue their vision without becoming too exposed to market fluctuations.
- (3) Multiple-vote share structures are a form of control enhancing mechanism, which can enable controlling shareholders to retain decision-making power in a company, while raising funds from the public. They involve at least two distinct classes of shares, each with a different number of votes per share. Under such structure, at least one of the classes of shares has a lower number of votes per share than another class (or classes) of shares with voting rights. A share carrying a higher number of votes is a multiple-vote share. A multiple-vote share structure in this Directive is not a structure where differences in voting rights are solely determined by different nominal values of shares.

- (4) Any control enhancing mechanisms ■ leveraging voting rights, other than multiple-vote share structures, such as non-voting ■ shares and shares with a veto right on certain decisions, should fall outside the scope of this Directive.
- (5) Loyalty shares ■ confer an additional number of votes on a shareholder ■ holding the share for a designated time and complying with certain conditions. Loyalty shares are thereby a control-enhancing mechanism designed to foster a ■ long-term oriented ownership among shareholders rather than to increase the attractiveness of raising funds from the public. It is therefore not appropriate to include loyalty shares in the scope of this Directive.
- (6) There are substantial differences between national provisions on multiple-vote shares structures across Member States. Some Member States allow multiple-vote share structures, while others ban them. In some Member States, the ban on multiple-vote shares is limited to public companies, while in others it applies to all companies. The differences in national regimes create barriers to the free movement of capital within the internal market and an uneven playing field for companies in different Member States. Companies in a Member State that bans multiple-vote share structures have to move to another Member State or even outside the Union, facing higher costs, if they want to adopt a multiple-vote share structure with a view to seeking admission to trading of their shares on the market. In some cases, because of those higher costs, companies may decide against raising funds from the public, which may limit their funding opportunities. Such considerations are particularly relevant for SMEs and start-ups that lack financial resources to cover those costs.
- (7) In order to allow companies to seek admission to trading on an MTF without their controlling shareholders having to relinquish control, Member States should provide companies with the possibility to adopt multiple-vote share structures or to modify them in view of seeking admission to trading on an MTF. Such possibility should not be conditional upon the provision of enhanced economic rights for non multiple-vote ■ shares ■ .

- (7a) While admission to trading on regulated markets is more suitable for larger and more mature companies, MTFs are generally more appropriate for SMEs. Furthermore, SME growth markets, a sub-category of MTFs, were specifically designed as SME-dedicated trading venues with a regulatory treatment that takes the particularities of SMEs into account. Not all companies with securities listed on MTFs are, however, SMEs. Directive 2014/65/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council² requires that SMEs constitute at least 50 % of the issuers of financial instruments admitted to trading on SME growth markets. Companies other than SMEs generally have more liquid securities and hence their admission to MTFs enables those markets to generate higher trading fees to maintain profitability of their business model. Nevertheless, to ensure clarity for investors, all issuers on SME growth markets, irrespective of their size, are currently subject to the same rules. The same is true of all issuers on other MTFs. It is therefore appropriate that the introduction of the right to adopt or modify multiple-vote share structures in view of seeking admission to trading applies to all types of companies listed in Annex II to Directive (EU) 2017/1132 of the European Parliament and of the Council³ to the extent that they can, under national law, issue shares and seek admission to trading of the shares on an MTF.
- (8) Member States should be able to introduce, or maintain in force, national provisions that allow companies to adopt or modify multiple-vote share structures for purposes other than admission to trading of shares on an MTF. That includes inter alia allowing companies to adopt or modify a multiple-vote share structure when seeking admission to trading on a regulated market, or ensuring that private companies can adopt or modify multiple-vote share structures without intending to request admission to trading of their shares. This also includes cases whereby companies transfer from an MTF to a regulated market, while retaining multiple-vote shares. Member States should also be able to prohibit or restrict multiple-vote share structures for purposes other than admission to trading of shares on an MTF.

³ Directive (EU) 2017/1132 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 14 June 2017 relating to certain aspects of company law (codification) (OJ L 169, 30.6.2017, p. 46).

- (9) Adopting or modifying a multiple-vote share structure, with a view to seeking admission to trading, normally requires an amendment of the articles of association. To provide for fair treatment of the shareholders, Member States should require that a decision to adopt or modify such structure with a view to seeking admission to trading, as well as a decision later on to modify such a structure in a way that affects the voting rights, should be subject to a decision by the general meeting by at least a qualified majority as specified under national law. Where there are several classes of shares, such decisions should also be subject to a separate vote in each class of shares the rights of which are affected.
- (9a) Companies should have flexibility as to the timing of the adoption or modification of multiple-vote share structures, provided they do so to seek admission to trading on an MTF. Member States should not prevent companies from adopting or modifying multiple-vote share structures before the moment of the admission of the shares to trading. Member States should, however, be able to lay down that the exercise of the enhanced voting rights, which represent additional votes attached to multiple-vote shares compared to votes of shares of other classes, is conditional upon shares of the company being admitted to trading on an MTF. In that case and until the admission to trading, multiple-vote shares should have the same voting rights as other classes of shares in the company. That would ensure that multiple-vote shares specifically promote an admission to trading on an MTF.

- (11) A multiple-vote share structure might increase the risk that controlling shareholders extract private benefits from the company. Member States that already allow multiple-vote shares provide for safeguards to protect the shareholders holding shares with lower voting rights. Existing safeguards vary between Member States due to national specificities and diverging company law systems. Notwithstanding this variation and having regard to the objectives of the internal market as set out in particular in Article 50(2), point (g) of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, the approaches in national laws on multiple-vote share structures with respect to the protection of the interests of ■ shareholders holding shares with a lower voting right should be coordinated for companies relying on the right created by this Directive to adopt or modify a multiple-vote share structure for seeking admission to trading on an MTF.
- (11a) Under that coordinated approach, Member States should provide for fair treatment of the shareholders by introducing a restriction on the design of the multiple-vote share structure which sets a maximum ratio of the number of votes attached to multiple-vote shares to the votes attached to shares with the least voting rights. Alternatively, without prejudice to Directive (EU) 2017/1132 of the European Parliament and of the Council, Member States should introduce a restriction for decisions by the general meeting subject to qualified majority of the votes cast, excluding appointment and dismissal of members of the administrative, management and supervisory bodies of the company as well as operational decisions to be taken by such bodies and that are submitted to the general meeting for approval, by requiring that the majority is calculated on the basis of the total number of votes cast and on either the share capital represented at the general meeting or the number of shares represented at the general meeting, or on the basis of the total number of votes cast and on votes cast in each class of shares affected by the decision. For the purposes of this Directive, a class of shares should be considered to be affected by the decision if the decision has a negative impact on the rights of shareholders in that specific class of shares.

- (12) Member States should have discretion to introduce and maintain additional safeguards to ensure adequate protection of the interest of shareholders who do not hold multiple-vote shares, such as sunset clauses. Member States should assess the appropriateness of such safeguards in light of their effectiveness in protecting the interests of those shareholders █, while ensuring that the safeguards do not defeat the purpose of multiple-vote share structures, inter alia the possibility for holders of multiple-vote shares to influence the appointment and dismissal of members of the administrative, management and supervisory bodies of the company and thereby the operational decisions in the company. When communicating the main measures covered by this Directive, Member States should also inform the Commission of any additional safeguards, including when there are changes. The Commission is to inform ESMA of any additional safeguard.
- (13) The disclosure of accurate and comprehensive information about companies is the basis for investor confidence and is necessary for informed investment decision-making. Such informed investment decision-making is needed for both investor protection and market efficiency. Member States should therefore require companies relying on the right created by this Directive to adopt or modify a multiple-vote share structure to publish █ information concerning their share structure █ at the moment of the admission to trading on an MTF in a prospectus or an admission document, where the company publishes such a prospectus or document in accordance with relevant law. Member States should also require companies relying on the right created by this Directive to adopt or modify a multiple-vote share structure with a view to seeking admission to trading on an MTF to publish that information concerning their share structure in any annual financial report required by law once their shares are admitted to trading in case where the information has not previously been published or has changed since it was last published.

- (13a) The information included in these prospectuses, admission documents or annual financial reports should mention whether there are any limitations on the transferability of shares. It should also mention whether there are any restrictions on voting rights, including limitations of the voting rights of holders of a given percentage or number of votes, deadlines for exercising voting rights, or systems whereby the financial rights attached to shares are separated from the holding of shares. Furthermore, those companies should disclose, to the extent known to the company, the identity of larger holders of multiple-vote shares as well as of persons or legal entities entitled to exercise voting rights on their behalf. For natural persons, the information disclosed on larger holders of multiple-vote shares as well as on persons or legal entities entitled to exercise voting rights on their behalf should be limited to the name. This would allow investors, as members of the general public, to make informed decisions and thereby strengthen their confidence in well-functioning capital markets. When the companies' owners want to retain decision-making powers in the company while raising funds on a public market, information about, inter alia, the larger holders of the multiple-vote shares is necessary for sound investment decisions by potential investors.
- (13b) Additionally, in order to promote transparency, public understanding and informed investment decision-making, shares of companies with multiple-vote share structures should be clearly identified. This could be achieved by a marker, for instance, included in the stock name of such companies used by market operators or investment firms operating the MTF. In order to ensure consistent harmonisation, the European Securities and Markets Authority, established by Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council, should develop draft regulatory technical standards, taking into account established market standards and well-functioning practices. Those standards should only determine the identification of such shares and so should not interfere with national systems of share classification.
- (13c) It is also important that the enhanced voting rights attached to multiple-vote shares within the scope of this Directive are not used to prevent the company's compliance with any applicable EU environmental or fundamental rights law.

5. This Article shall also apply, mutatis mutandis, in respect of a company that does not have shares that are admitted to trading on a regulated market or an MTF, when that company decides to modify an existing multiple-vote share structure with a view to seeking admission to trading of its shares on an MTF.

Article 5

Safeguards

1. Member States shall ensure that companies with a multiple-vote share structure whose shares are to be traded or are traded on an MTF after relying on the right referred to in Article 4 have appropriate safeguards in place to provide for adequate protection of the interests of ■ shareholders who do not hold multiple-vote shares ■ . To that effect, Member States shall do ■ the following:
 - (a) ensure that a company's decision to modify a multiple-vote share structure in a way that affects the voting rights of shares, is taken by the general ■ meeting by at least a qualified majority as specified in national law.

■ For the purposes of this point, such a decision shall also be subject to a separate vote in each class of shares the rights of which are affected;
 - (b) limit the impact of the multiple-vote shares on the decision-making process at the general meeting by introducing at least one of the following:
 - (i) a maximum ■ ratio of the number of votes attached to multiple-vote shares to the votes attached to shares with the least voting rights;
 - (ii) a requirement that decisions by the general meeting subject to qualified majority of the votes cast as specified in national law, excluding the appointment and dismissal of members of the administrative, management and supervisory bodies of the company, and also excluding operational decisions to be taken by such bodies which are submitted to the general meeting for approval, are to be adopted by:

- (1) a qualified majority, as specified in national law, both of the votes cast and either of the share capital represented at the meeting or of the number of shares represented at the meeting; or
- (2) a qualified majority, as specified in national law, of the votes cast, and are subject to a separate vote in each class of shares the rights of which are affected.

2. Member States may provide for further safeguards to ensure adequate protection of the interest of shareholders who do not hold multiple-vote shares. Those safeguards may include in particular:

- (a) a provision to avoid that the enhanced voting rights attached to multiple-vote shares are transferred to third parties or continue to exist upon the death, incapacitation or retirement of the original holder of multiple-vote shares (transfer-based sunset clause);
- (b) a provision to avoid that the enhanced voting rights attached to multiple-vote shares continue to exist after a designated period of time (time-based sunset clause);
- (c) a provision to avoid that the enhanced voting rights attached to multiple-vote shares continue to exist upon the occurrence of a specified event (event-based sunset clause).

Transparency

1. Member States shall ensure that companies with a multiple-vote share structure whose shares are to be traded or are ■ traded on an SME growth market after relying on the right referred to in Article 4 include the information listed in paragraph 1b of this Article in the following documents:

- 1a. Member States shall ensure that companies with multiple-vote share structures whose shares are to be traded or are traded on an MTF not registered as an SME growth market, after relying on the right referred to in Article 4, include the information listed in paragraph 1b of this Article in the following documents:

(a) the prospectus as referred to in Article 6 of Regulation (EU) 2017/1129, the EU Growth issuance prospectus referred to in Article 15a of that Regulation, or any admission document required by national law or by the rules of the relevant MTF, in cases where the company publishes such a prospectus or document; and

(b) any annual financial report required by national law, in cases where the information referred to in paragraph 1b has not previously been published, or has changed since that information was last published, in a prospectus, EU Growth issuance prospectus or admission document referred to in point (a) or the previous annual financial report.

1b. The information referred to in paragraph 1 and 1a of this Article is detailed information on the following:

(a) the share structure of the company, with an indication of the different classes of shares, including shares which are not admitted to trading, and, for each class of shares, the rights and obligations attached to the shares and the percentage of total share capital or total number of shares and total number of votes that the shares represent;

(b) any restrictions on the transfer of shares, including ■ agreements between shareholders which are known to the company that could result in such restrictions;

(c) any restrictions on voting rights of shares, including ■ agreements between shareholders which are known to the company that could result in such restrictions;

(e) the identity, if known to the company, of shareholders holding multiple-vote shares representing more than 5 % of the voting rights of all shares in the company, and of natural persons or legal entities entitled to exercise voting rights on behalf of such shareholders, where applicable.

Where the shareholders or the persons entitled to exercise voting rights on their behalf are natural persons, the disclosure of their identity shall require only the disclosure of their names.

2. Member States shall require investment firms and market operators operating an MTF to ensure, by complying with the regulatory technical standards adopted in accordance with paragraph 2a, that the shares of companies with multiple-vote share structures admitted to trading on their MTF are clearly identified as such by those investment firms and market operators. Member States shall also require such companies to inform, in accordance with those regulatory technical standards, the relevant investment firms and market operators about the existence of such structures.

2a. ESMA shall develop draft regulatory technical standards to specify how such investment firms and market operators shall identify shares of companies with multiple-vote share structures. Those standards shall also specify how such companies shall inform the relevant investment firms and market operators about the structures' existence. In developing those regulatory technical standards, which shall pursue the purpose of ensuring clear identification referred to in paragraph 2, ESMA shall take into consideration established market standards and well-functioning practices for identifying companies with multiple-vote share structures.

ESMA shall submit those draft regulatory technical standards to the Commission by ...[12 months after the date of entry into force of this Directive].

Power is delegated to the Commission to supplement this Directive by adopting the regulatory technical standards referred to in this paragraph in accordance with Articles 10 to 14 of Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010.
