Directive 2014/104/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 26 November 2014 on certain rules governing actions for damages under national law for infringements of the competition law provisions of the Member States and of the European Union (Text with EEA relevance) OJ L 349, 5.12.2014, p. 1–19	80/14	Qualified majority	All Member States in favour, except: Abstained: DE, PL, SI

Statement by the Polish, Slovenian and German delegations

The Directive on certain rules governing actions for damages under national law for infringements of the competition law provisions should i.a. minimise discrepancies between rules applicable to antitrust damages actions in Member States and ensure that victims of infringements of EU competition law can obtain full compensation for the harm they have suffered. Our delegations fully support this.

The final compromise is far from those objectives. The civil law principle of joint and several liability, to which controversial exceptions were introduced already in the text of general approach adopted by the Council in December 2013, has been even more restricted due to the inclusion of new para. 2 in Article 11. It will reduce the injured parties' - frequently small and medium enterprises - opportunity to seek full compensation. It will also lead to legal uncertainty and unequal treatment due to differences in the definition of small and medium enterprises among the Member States.

The Polish, Slovenian and German delegations are of the opinion that such compromise does not merit the support and shall abstain from supporting the text as it stands.

Council Regulation (EU) No 1221/2014 of 10 November 2014 fixing for 2015 the fishing opportunities for certain fish stocks and groups of fish stocks applicable in the Baltic Sea and amending Regulations (EU) No 43/2014 and (EU) No 1180/2013 OJ L 330, 15.11.2014, p. 16–26	14539/14

Statement by the Council on additional protective measures on cod 25-32

The Council is of the firm opinion that management measures should be introduced, as soon as it is legally possible to further develop management and protection of vulnerable fish stocks in the Baltic Sea. In particular, the implementation of additional technical measures is needed to address the imbalance in the eastern cod stock. The adjustment of closing periods to protect spawner, changes in gear characteristics such as: the introduction of grid for trawl fisheries; the adjustment of mesh sizes, should be considered and if deemed effective introduced.

To address the most imminent needs and to retrieve further data on cod a haul by haul registration in logbooks should be required for fisheries in the Baltic Sea, during 2015. In addition, the impact of environmental factors on the cod stocks has to be further reviewed and considered. Finally, the Council urges ICES to take measures as soon as possible to further progress on the issue of age reading of cod and pave the way for an analytical assessment of the stock.

Statements by Denmark, Germany, Finland, Lithuania, Poland, Latvia, Estonia and Sweden- on reaching MSY by 2016 for cod 22-24

Member States concerned agree that maximum sustainable yield (MSY) shall be reached by 2016 for the Western Baltic cod stock by applying a stepwise approach to obtain the MSY level when setting the TAC for cod in 2015. Member States commit to reach the MSY target corresponding to the current F_{msy} of 0.26 in 2016.

To protect the spawning stock biomass in subdivision 22, the Member States concerned will reflect further on the need and – if deemed appropriate – implement changes in the closing periods and other measures in the context of the new management plan.

- on a request for scientific advice on weak salmon stocks (salmon 22-31)

Denmark, Germany, Finland, Lithuania, Poland, Latvia, Estonia and Sweden invite the Commission to consider requesting scientific advice from ICES as follows:

- What effect would a change of the period for salmon fishing with longlines have on the recovery of weak salmon stocks and on the catch of undersized salmon? With what changes of the fishing period would a recovery best be achieved?
- What effect would a reduction to 50 cm of the MCRS for salmon in the sea have on the recovery of weak salmon stocks and the catch of undersized salmon?

- on a request for scientific advice on weak salmon stocks (salmon 22-31)

Denmark, Germany, Finland, Lithuania, Poland, Latvia, Estonia and Sweden invite the Commission to consider requesting scientific advice from ICES as follows:

- What effect would a change of the period for salmon fishing with longlines have on the recovery of weak salmon stocks and on the catch of undersized salmon? With what changes of the fishing period would a recovery best be achieved?
- What effect would a reduction to 50 cm of the MCRS for salmon in the sea have on the recovery of weak salmon stocks and the catch of undersized salmon?
- What effect would an increase of the minimum distance between the point and the shaft of the hooks (from the 19 mm IBSFC requirement to substantially larger hooks) on drifting and anchored lines have on the recovery of weak salmon stocks and on the catch of undersized salmon?
- What is the estimated magnitude and effects of the increasing salmon troll fishing on the recovery of weak salmon stocks and on the catch of undersized salmon?
- Would it be advantageous to manage the salmon fishery with different fishing opportunities/management in different areas, e.g. national management for coastal and inland salmon fishing (based on MSY in the local rivers) and one off-shore TAC; or one TAC for the northern Baltic Sea and one for the southern Baltic Sea?

Statement by the Commission on the increased banking for certain specific stocks affected by the Russian ban

The Commission takes note of the Council's wish to have the possibility of increased "banking" for certain specific stocks and for certain Member States which are most affected by the Russian import ban, on the basis of scientific advice.

Although such increase raises legal doubts, given the limit set by the applicable legislation (Article 4 of Regulation 847/96), in the present exceptional case, given the severe effects of the Russian import ban, and because the measure is strictly limited in time and applies only to the "banking" of quotas (excluding the possibility to increase the limit for "borrowing" quotas), and because of the favourable scientific advice given in this instance, the Commission will not stand in the way of the adoption of this compromise.

This is without prejudice to the Commission's interpretation of the scope of Article 43(3) TFEU, which the Court of Justice will have occasion to clarify in pending cases C-103 and 165/12 and C-124 and 125/13.

2014/826/EU: Council Decision of 10 November 2014 on the position to be adopted on behalf of the European Union within the International Maritime Organization during the 94th session of the Maritime Safety Committee on the adoption of amendments to the 2011 Enhanced Survey Programme Code OJ L 335, 22.11.2014, p. 17–18	14555/14

Statement by the Commission The Commission takes note that an agreement was reached by unanimity on Article 2 of the proposal for a Council decision on signature and provisional application of the Agreement. The Commission recalls its views that the signature of an international agreement is an act of external representation of the Union, which the Commission is entrusted to do in line with Article 17(1) TEU. The Commission recalls that the Council should decide by qualified majority under Article 218 TFEU for international agreements falling under EU research policy.

Statement by Germany

Germany does not consent to the decision on the conclusion of the Agreement.

Article 38 of the Agreement provides that the Contracting Parties shall notify each other of the completion of the procedures required to express their consent to be bound by this Agreement. When giving their notification the Contracting Parties shall make any of the notifications or declarations provided for in different articles of the Agreement. Some of those declarations cannot be made after this date.

The Decision of the Council aims at giving to a designated person the legal power to give the notification. Neither the Agreement itself nor other legislation of the European Union do provide for time limits to give the notification.

Germany as three other member states did not yet finalize its internal proceedings and therefore is not yet in a position to determine which notifications will be necessary to guarantee an effective use of the Agreement.
