Temporary controls at the Norwegian internal borders

On the 7th of April 2020, the Norwegian government decided to temporarily reintroduce border control at the internal borders for six months from 12th of May 2020, pursuant to the Schengen Borders Code articles 25 and 27. This measure was taken with the reference to an assessment of the terrorist threat to Norway by the Norwegian Police Security Service, and in the light of the overall terrorist threat to the security of the EU. Reference was also made to the potential for significant secondary movements into Norway of migrants with an undocumented identity, posing a risk to the internal security. These controls have been limited to ports with ferry connections to the Schengen area.

The Norwegian government is of the view that these threats remain. This view is reinforced by the threat assessment from the Norwegian Police Security Service for 2022 where the security service underlines that "There are several active extreme Islamist networks in Europe. The networks include returned foreign fighters, convicted terrorists who have been released from prison, and convicted terrorists who are still imprisoned. The fact that Norwegian extremists have contact with people through these networks has an adverse impact on the threat picture in Norway."

Norway strongly supports restoring the functioning of the Schengen area as an area without internal border controls. However, in the light of the above, the Norwegian government has decided, in accordance with articles 25 and 27 of the Schengen Borders Code, to temporarily reintroduce border control at the internal borders for six months from 11th of May 2022. The border controls will be limited in scope, both operationally and geographically to what is strictly necessary to prevent the possible threats to the internal security and public policy. The controls will be targeted and based on risk assessment, and carried out in accordance with the Commission guidelines for border management issues. Furthermore, the controls will be limited to ports with ferry connections to the Schengen Area.

In accordance with the Commission recommendation on proportionate police checks and police cooperation in the Schengen area of 12th of May 2017, Norway has been carrying out intensified police checks in the areas of Viken region bordering on Sweden. The Norwegian and Swedish police authorities have a very good bilateral cooperation. However, such measures cannot fully substitute internal border controls in the Norwegian ports.

Yours sincerely
