Culture Corner

In this edition of our Presidency Flash, we are pleased to feature Cuimhne agus Séadchomhartha (Memory and Monument), the installation in the atrium of Justus Lipsius by Irish artist Richard Malone.

Created in collaboration with artists from across the island of Ireland, the work celebrates a shared creative practice shaped by dialogue and exchange. Inspired by places where people gather, such as markets, squares, theatres, tents, and homes, it explores how communities are formed and how culture takes shape over time. Using textiles, stitch, and pattern, the installation reflects on histories of identity, work, and craft. It highlights Irish textile traditions while showing their connections with wider cultural histories. At its core, Cuimhne agus Séadchomhartha presents memory as an ongoing, collective act, continually shaped through materials, places, and people.

The installation forms part of Cultúr 2026, the Cultural Programme under Ireland's Presidency of the Council of the EU. Featuring exhibitions, concerts, talks, performances and other events spanning various artforms, Cultúr 2026 will unfold throughout Ireland, across all 27 EU Member States, and beyond for the duration of the Presidency. Further information is available on the Cultúr 2026 website: Cultúr 2026 - Sharing Ireland's Culture
