List of Terrorism Related Incidents

Summary of Open Source Reporting- the Month in Review

The month of June and early July have been characterised by the continuation of terrorist attacks across Europe, most notably in London where three radicalised individuals claimed the lives of eight victims and injured 48 more in London Bridge and Borough Market.

At a time when Da'esh capabilities are being degraded in Iraq and Syria, lone actors inspired by the group continue to represent a sustained threat. Attacks in Paris, Brussels and Linz, Austria, predominantly using vehicles and knives as weapons, highlight the continuing trend of low sophistication modus operandi.

Further afield, there was the first Da'esh claimed attack in Iran, which took place in the capital, Tehran. Both the Iranian Parliament building and the Mausoleum of Ruhollah Khomeini were targeted by seven armed attackers. This represents a continuing shift from Da'esh territory control in Iraq and Syria to sustained attacks globally.

There have been continued attacks in the last remaining strongholds in Iraq as well as the capital Baghdad, with Da'esh militants targeting security troops, pro-government forces and civilians. This month also saw the notable destruction of the Great Mosque of al-Nuri in Mosul, where three years ago Abu Bakr al Baghdadi declared his caliphate to the world.

A final escalation of attacks in the city of Mosul took place before Iraqi forces and the Coalition claimed the military defeat of Da'esh on 9th July.

The month of June also coincided with the Islamic holy month of Ramadan, which saw multiple attacks throughout this period around the globe, particularly the lead up to Eid-ul Fitr including large-scale attacks in Pakistan (Quetta, Parachinar and Karachi).

June and early July also saw a notable spate of terrorist incidents across Afghanistan, particularly the capital Kabul, where the Taliban and Da'esh killed scores of civilians in multiple violent attacks.
